[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—The accomplishments of the army air forces in the war against Germany and Japan in 1944 will stand for generations as a warning to dictators to "beware the fury of a patient man," Gen. Arnold, commanding general of the army air forces, declared today in his second war report to Secretary of War Stimson.

The 96 page report, illustrated with photographs and maps, gave an account of global air operations as dramatic and thrilling as any personal experience story of the war. It also gave a summary of research and new developments, a summary which offered a glimpse into the air war of the future.

Gen. Arnold said the army air forces could not have achieved the great accomplishments listed without the coöperation of the army ground forces, the army service forces, the navy, the marines, the royal air force, and other allied air forces, and emphasized that he was qualified only to speak of the work of the A. A. F.

Lists Axis Air Losses.

In unfolding the story, Gen. Arnold gave for the first time a box score of American and axis air losses from Pearl Harbor. It showed that American flyers have downed or damaged three enemy airplanes to every A. A. F. plane lost. In crossing enemy lines to carry the fight to the axis 6½ million times, the general's box score follows:

AAF AIRPLANE LOSSES.
[Dec. 7, 1941 thru Dec. 31, 1944.]

Lost in aerial combat vs. Germany	6,989
Lost in aerial combat vs. Japan	1,296
Lost by anti-aircraft vs. Germany	5,002
Lost by anti-aircraft vs. Japan	440
Destroyed on ground vs. Germany	92
Destroyed on ground vs. Japan	354
*Lost by other causes vs. Germany	2,663
*Lost by other causes vs. Japan	994
Total	17,830

ENEMY AIRPLANE LOSSES.
[Dec. 7, 1941 thru Dec. 31, 1944.]

Destroyed in aerial combat	24,393
Probably destroyed in aerial combat	6,294
Damaged in aerial combat	8,569
Destroyed on the ground	7,153
Probably destroyed on the ground	730
Damaged or destroyed	3,519
Total	50,658

Curfew Locks Up Bars at 12; Rules Puzzling

Uncle Sam's war curfew on taverns and places of entertainment took effect in Chicago at midnight when bartenders, for the first time in history, gave all their customers a polite, but none the less effective, "bum's rush."

All places were reported to have closed promptly. In no section was there any disorder. The traditionally light Monday trade was heavier in some quarters, but not especially so outside the loop.

The curfew scene at the Capital Bar, 167 N. State st., was typical. James Petitone, the owner, gave his customers warning at 11:55, and good humoredly drove them out at midnight.

"No, nothing doing, Petitone informed a sailor and his girl who came knocking at the closed door a few minutes later. He did not reopen.

Speakeasies Reported Open.

From Randolph st., center of loop night life, the curfew rolled thru the night clubs, honky tonks, and neighborhood taverns, north, south, and west. All Calumet City's 135 resorts obeyed the government request and their patrons jammed streets in a rush to go elsewhere.

At midnight, Jerome Jacobs, a sailor, telephoned from a 63d st. tavern that he had 14 invitations to visit second floor speakeasies which he said were opening immediately for seamen only.

The Chez Paree and other big night clubs closed with a last drink edict at 11:55 p. m. Several other clubs on the near north side, which regularly serve food, closed their bars, but remained open to accommodate diners.

Earlier yesterday considerable confusion had been caused by new interpretations of the coal saving curfew ordered by War Mobilization Director Byrnes and the total absence of arrangements for its enforcement. The new interpretations were given by David Cohen, regional attorney for the war man power commission, at an afternoon meeting of cafe owners.

Police Commissioner Allman last night said the police department had received no orders to report places violating the order and that police participation in its enforcement probably will await a conference between Mayor Kelly and the area WMC director within the next day or two.

WMC Opposes Loopholes.

William H. Spencer, regional WMC director, who was in Washington, D. C., over the week-end, said he expects full compliance with the spirit of the order and will consider any attempt to find a loophole a willful violation.

At a meeting of the Cafe Owners' association in Hotel Sherman yesterday afternoon, however, its members, including virtually all major night club owners in town, were told by Cohen that night clubs which have been in the practice of serving complete meals may continue to serve them after midnight, but must close their bars, stop the drinking of liquor, and halt entertainment.

Cohen defined a bona fide res-

SURVIVOR TELLS HOW 800 MEN, INCLUDING FIVE SULLIVANS, DIED

Boston, Mass., Feb. 26 (AP).—One of the 10 survivors of the sinking of the cruiser Juneau off Guadalcanal in 1942 disclosed today for the first time that approximately 800 men, including the five Sullivan brothers of Waterloo, Ia., were lost when the craft went down.

Gunner's Mate Allen Heyn, a native of Washington, D. C., told a press conference that George Sullivan, eldest of the brothers, clung wounded to a life raft for five days before he disappeared one night.

As each of the men reached the raft in a rough sea, Heyn said, the eldest Sullivan would ask if they had seen any of his brothers. None had.

"I think they must have died in the explosion," Heyn said.

Plan Family Food Subsidy Thru Stamps

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—The administration is planning a post-war program whereby all the nation's low income families would buy their food with government stamps, it was disclosed today.

The estimated cost of the program would be more than a billion dollars a year, according to plans drawn up by agriculture department economists for the approval of New Deal leaders.

The economists tentatively set $170 as the cost of the minimum yearly food requirements of each citizen, based upon 1942 prices. If 40 per cent of a family's income was insufficient to provide this amount for each member, the government would make up the difference.

A family of five, for example, would require the expenditure of $850 a year for what the government regards as an adequate diet. If such a family had an income of only $1,500, it would contribute $600 toward its food allotment and the government would issue it stamps worth $850 at any grocery store.

The government would then pay the stores the face value of the coupons.

The billion dollar cost estimate was based upon fairly prosperous conditions in the post-war period, it was noted. In a period of depression, with a large army of unemployed, millions of families would receive the benefits of the stamp program with a probable cost of several billions of dollars a year. Families of five with no income would be getting $850 in food stamps without contributing a penny.

Two Basic Purposes.

The suggested program is far broader than the food stamp plan in effect between 1939 and 1943. That program was employed as an emergency for helping persons on relief and for disposing of farm surpluses.

Proponents of the plan say it has two basic purposes:

1. To raise the nutritional level of the national diet, the need for which has been displayed by the fact that about 45 per cent of all draft rejections are traceable to malnutrition; and

2. To provide a stable and expanding market for food products.

Only one restriction was proposed on the use of the food stamps. A family could buy whatever food it chose with two-thirds of the stamps. The remaining one-third could be used only for foods designated by the government as necessary to round out nutritional requirements.

REVEAL BRIDGES GOT BID TO INAUGURAL AS AN 'HONORED GUEST'

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 26 [Special].—A secretary to Harry Bridges, CIO longshoreman leader under order for deportation as a Communist, today confirmed that Bridges had received an invitation to be an "honored guest" at the 4th term inaugural ceremonies in Washington, D. C., but that he was too busy to accept.

A facsimile of the invitation appeared in the current issue of The Dispatcher, official publication of Bridges' longshoremen's union, along with a picture of a ticket to the inauguration. The ticket was signed by Sen. Byrd [D., Va.]

Bridges is contesting the deportation order in the courts and his appeal will be argued soon in the United States Supreme court. The order, signed by Atty. Gen. Biddle, holds that Bridges has been a member of the Communist party, which has expressed itself in favor of the overthrow of the United States government by force.

KEEP U. S. FLAG OVER IWO, URGES INVASION CHIEF

San Francisco, Feb. 26 (AP).—Vice Adm. Richmond K. Turner, amphibious commander of the Iwo invasion, said today he hoped the United States flag would always fly over the tiny island "in permanent memory to the 28th marines," who raised the stars and stripes on Mt. Suribachi last Friday.

He and Lt. Gen. Holland Smith, commander of the marine expeditionary forces on Iwo, spoke on a combined network radio show from a warship off the island.

Gen. Smith, praising the 5th amphibious corps as "one of the greatest fighting teams in the world," said the invasion was "difficult in every way—as we knew it would be," but "we expect to take this island, and all the men are imbued with that spirit."

PHILIPPINE RULE GIVEN OSMENA BY MacARTHUR

Transfers Reins in Formal Ceremony.

MANILA, Feb. 27 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Gen. MacArthur, standing in battered Malacanan palace, today turned the civil government for liberated areas of the Philippines over to their president, Sergio Osmena, in a ceremony before wildly cheering Filipinos.

MacArthur, after bitterly denouncing the Japanese for wrecking Manila's churches, monuments, and cultural centers, lifted military rule from the freed sectors and said the commonwealth is "at liberty to pursue its destiny in the family of free nations."

Men who fought with him at Corregidor and Bataan clustered around him and Filipino soldiers formed a guard of honor.

"Pattern of Jap Doom."

Gen. MacArthur said more than three years had elapsed since he left Manila an open city before the invading Japanese.

"Much that I sought to preserve has been unnecessarily destroyed by his [the enemy's] desperate action at bay," he added. "The enemy's destruction of the great Philippine capital means that by these actions he wantonly fixed the future pattern of his own doom.

"Kept the Faith."

"My country has kept the faith. "American soldiers came here as an army of free men dedicated with your people to the cause of human liberty. They came to suppress forces bent on brutality.

"They came to reëstablish the sanctity and happiness of your homes without fear of intrusion.

"You are now a liberated people. "On behalf of my government, I now solemnly declare, Mr. President [Osmena], the full powers under the constitution are restored to the commonwealth."

Osmena in replying spoke of MacArthur's military operations as a "crusade," urged all Filipinos to submerge political differences in quickly reviving their commonwealth, and expressed the hope that the United States can accord full freedom to the archipelago this year. The ceremony, broadcast to the United States, concluded by the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Take Another Island.

In his regular bulletin Gen. MacArthur announced that 24th division troops, taking the Japanese completely by surprise, invaded small Verde Island between Luzon and Mindoro Sunday to secure the western end of the vital shipping route thru the Philippines from the United States to Manila.

The 8th army Yanks "went ashore with practically no loss," Gen. MacArthur said.

He termed Verde, which lies midway in the narrow Verde Island passage, "the key to the control of the main navigational route thru the central Philippines."

Jap Garrison Cornered.

Verde is the 15th Philippine island MacArthur has invaded.

MacArthur's bulletin today said mopping up is in progress on the east side of Corregidor, rocky fortress at the entrance of the bay. It added that countless Japanese "have been killed inside the tunnels or while attempting to escape by swimming."

Resistance Increases.

In the Marakina watershed area, 1st cavalry and 6th division troops driving southeast of Manila easily repulsed three Japanese counter-attacks as they encountered "increasing enemy resistance."

Northeast of Manila, Yanks of the 25th division, moving toward the Cagayan valley, captured Lumboy on the Balete pass road and Luna, within three miles of Carranglan.

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Guam, Feb. 27 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Iwo Island's captured southern air field was put to American use for the first time Monday while United States marines advancing up to 400 yards captured an important hill overlooking the remaining Japanese positions.

Adm. Nimitz reported today that marine observation planes were using Motoyama No. 1 while 3d marine division elements won most of the second air field, Motoyama No. 2, in the center of the bitterly contested island.

Use of Motoyama air field No. 1 indicated that fighters soon may be flying off that major airdrome, 750 miles from Tokyo.

Capture Vital Hill.

Third division marines captured Hill 382, east of the central air field, as great a prize as captured Mount Suribachi.

Opposition to the American push increased thruout the day. The enemy threw a heavy rain of artillery shells and rockets at the advancing Yanks. Artillery fire and blasts of the huge enemy rockets were heavy, but the high ground of the central plateau finally was won and held.

Count 5,668 Japs Dead.

By 6 p. m. yesterday 3,568 Japanese dead had been counted. Nine enemy prisoners were taken. This was the first mention of prisoners.

Supplies and equipment continued to pour ashore on Iwo's littered beaches. Road conditions were improved.

Liberators bombed Chichi in the Bonin Islands, immediately to the north, hitting oil storage areas and shipping. The Palaus, Yap, and Pagan were other targets.

Expect Iwo's Fall Soon.

ABOARD ADM. TURNER'S FLAGSHIP OFF IWO, Feb. 27 [Tuesday]—(AP).—"We expect to take this island in a few more days," Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith, commander of the marines on Iwo, said today.

He told correspondents very heavy fighting lies ahead of his leathernecks, but that already the Japanese are becoming jittery. He said the Japanese are suffering from a water shortage and are having difficulty caring for their wounded.

Iwo has no known natural water supply. The Japanese use tanks and cisterns to catch rainwater, but the supply undoubtedly is insufficient for thousands of troops.

Gen. Smith said the going would become tougher as the Yanks move to the north end of Iwo, but nonetheless "high echelon commanders inform me that the men are becoming more battle-wise and casualties are relatively smaller each day."

Hold Half of Island.

The general said the three marine divisions now hold about half of the island. He said he was "particularly impressed by the morale of the officers and men and their desire to get the capture of this island over with quickly."

Smith added it will be difficult to run down guerrillas, pointing out that the Americans are still finding Japanese on Peleliu, which was invaded last September.

Smith, who directed the conquest of Tarawa, the Marshalls and the Marianas, went ashore yesterday to visit Maj. Gen. Clifton B. Cates' 4th marine division headquarters and the captured southern air field.

NAZI DEFENSES COLLAPSING IN FACE OF SMASH

Patton Tanks Near Break-Thru.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. 1ST ARMY ON THE COLOGNE PLAIN, Feb. 26.—Field Marshal von Rundstedt's Roer river line is completely shattered. Tonight the armored columns of Lt. Gen. Hodges' 1st army are within two and a half miles of the next defense line, along the Erft rievr, and 10½ miles from the rich prize of Cologne.

Cologne was placed under artillery fire for the first time this afternoon. Self-propelled Long Toms of one 1st army field artillery battalion sent salvos of 95 pound shells into the murky sky, which obscured Cologne's towers.

4 Armies in Smash.

With the United States 9th and Canadian 1st armies to the north also smashing toward the Rhine, and Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army to the south scoring a near break-thru, four armies were advancing on a 200 mile front.

In the greatest advance since the Roer was crossed Feb. 23, the 1st army's armor and infantry, backed up by the usual well coördinated artillery battalions, captured 10 towns for a total of more than 26 since the Roer D-day.

The drive across soggy fields of rye stubble was made possible by the 104th division's fourth consecutive night attack, which shook large armored formations loose at 6 a. m., and by nightfall they had poured masses of tanks and tank destroyers six and a half miles from the jump-off line.

Capture Blatzheim.

The farthest advance toward Cologne carried infantry and armor thru Blatzheim, on the main road from Dueren, and one and a half miles beyond. Meanwhile, other American troops, clearing all but one section of the Hambach forest on the north side of the autobahn (superhighway), were fighting late today in the outskirts of Olsdorf.

In addition to Blatzheim, towns captured include Golzheim, Marschenich, Etzweiler, Eschweiler-over-Field, Buir, Soller, Boich, Rath, and Frauwullesheim.

The surprise attack on Golzheim was so rapid that Maj. Gen. Terry Allen's Timberwolves division bagged an entire panzer grenadier battalion, with its commanding major and staff, a total of 289 Germans.

Near Marschenich the Yanks captured two panzer grenadier regimental commanders, both lieutenant colonels. The bag for the 104th division and its armored spearhead alone was estimated unofficially at more than 4,000.

20 Pct. Levy on French Expected

BY ROBERT SAGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 26.—The imposition of a 20 per cent levy on French capital is expected by financial circles in Paris to be announced by Gen. de Gaulle when he makes his long awaited speech on domestic policy Thursday before the consultative assembly.

Complete Check on Capital.

The government's levy would apply to all real estate, art collections, and other property, as well as to investments and liquid capital held at home and abroad. It is not believed that holdings of Americans and other foreigners living in France will be subjected to the assessment.

De Gaulle has timed his speech to fall on March 1, just a few hours after the time limit expires for citizens and residents of France to declare their holdings abroad. Inasmuch as all foreign currency and other assets held inside France were ordered declared by Feb. 15, the government theoretically will have a complete check on French capital by the time De Gaulle rises to speak.

Liberation Loan Hinted.

It is reported in some circles that the method by which the capital levy will be carried out will be a new liberation loan, to which subscriptions equaling 20 per cent of individual capital will be compulsory. The loan certificates would be negotiable after an unspecified time, but those who held onto them would obtain a higher rate of interest for each succeeding year. There seems no question of devaluating the franc at this time.

The British chancellor of the exchequer has promised to supply the names of all Frenchmen having assets in England and the total amount of these assets, and Washington, D. C., is pledged to report on yearly revenues paid to French investors in America. Fiscal accords have been concluded with Monaco and Belgium, and France hopes eventually to sign others with Switzerland and Spain.

fenses, built around town and village strong points which were by-passed, was evident in many ways. Except for a few direct firing 88s, the German infantry was almost completely devoid of artillery support.

With his forces in front of the twin Erft rivers and their central canal routed by the 1st army's minor break-thru, Field Marshal Walther Model, commanding army group B, has only his defenses along the Erft waterways to hold the tanks from their attack on Cologne and the Rhine.

Armor in Open Country.

For the first time in many months, American armor now has broken out into open country, the Kansas-flat Cologne plain, which affords the chances of maneuver, wide flanking movements, and cross-country fighting which had been prevented previously by severely canalized roads and soft ground. Mushy farm lands today were still the biggest obstacle, but tanks were negotiating them on their approach to the Erft.

The Erft waterways consist of a canal paralleled by two small streams, ranging from 20 to 60 feet in width. Rising back of their eastern shore for 20 miles between Bergheim and Badorf is a line of hills pitted with great holes, left by strip mining.

The Germans have tall mine tipples to give them observation. They can use mine pits as strong points, and they have constructed several trench systems.

However, the main question is whether they have troops of good quality to man these defenses. At present, said one staff officer tonight, Model and Von Rundstedt appear to be using the old "wet hen" tactics of yanking divisions from other sectors of the western front to halt the 1st and 9th army drive for the Rhine.

Iowa Colonel Takes 88s.

Lt. Col. Matthew W. Kane of Des Moines, Ia., who jumped off with an armored column at 6 a. m., didn't run into opposition until 9 o'clock. Around the hamlet of Wolfskaulerhof, two 88s, well dug in, with brick gun pits surrounded by camouflaged trenches, opened up across a wide field of fire. But Kane got both guns and captured 4 panzer grenadiers without loss.

The entire man power economy of today's fighting was extraordinary. In taking Marschenich, as another example, Yanks enveloped the town and had it intact by 9 o'clock last night, including two German regimental commanders and more than 150 soldiers. Losses were seven wounded. Not one Yank was killed.

Know They're Beaten.

Officers taken today, including the son of a retired Austrian general, one American staff officer said, expressed the view that Germany was beaten and they could see no reason for the useless sacrifice of more men.

"The German military mind says the show is gone, kaput," explained an American colonel, "but the Nazi party mind says Germany must go on. The party says they must stay and die, but the German military mind knows otherwise. That's why I look for the Germans to begin giving up in even larger numbers soon. Their situation on our front is rapidly deteriorating."

9TH ARMY SWEEPS ON

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 9TH ARMY IN GERMANY, Feb. 26.—Lt. Gen. Simpson flung his 9th army forces forward today, building up gigantic and massive fire power to sustain the advance and despite drizzly and chilly weather the G. Is looked happy and enthusiastic as they commented: "It's another three miles nearer to the end of the war." The enemy was putting up a "disorganized defense."

Field Marshal von Rundstedt issued an order of the day that the "battle of the Cologne plain is a big allied push" and every inch of terrain must be defended otherwise all was lost.

As progress continues there is less mud and destruction and doughboys are finding better billets, many completely furnished, and the roads less chewed up, permitting faster circulation and less need of bulldozers and road making squads.

Capture Road Center.

The 84th and 102d divisions stabbed forward to capture the important and strategic road center of Erkelenz and American troops have practically cleared up the Hambach forest.

As the penetration deepens we are finding evidence of the enemy's hurried and unexpected retreat in the form of many old men, women, children, horses, cows, pigs, and chickens.

"We had to hold our fire when a bunch of women and kids ran across a field," said Lt. Col. Charles Hoy, son of Thomas Hoy, 4152 Washington blvd., Chicago, who is chief of staff of one unit.

Along the roads one encounters Yanks leading horses by halters to keep for utility work and another outfit hoisted two cows into their motor truck to have fresh milk, while a litter bearer crew grabbed a pig "to fatten for Easter dinner after Lent is over," as Pvt. Ora Ingram, 2695 Fayette st., Gary, Ind., explained.

3D ARMY 'BREAK-THRU'

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE 4TH ARMORED DIVISION IN RITTERSDORF, Germany, Feb. 26.—Armored vehicles and infantry of the famed 4th armored division of Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army are within easy gunshot of the important town of Bitburg tonight after a dashing attack reminiscent of the "break-thru" days in Brittany. They have advanced more than nine miles since yesterday morning and taken over 2,500 prisoners since Thursday midnight.

German prisoners said they had been told to make a stand along the Pruem river but the combination of the 4th armored thrust with other crossings of the Pruem by the 5th, 80th, and 76th infantry divisions yesterday disrupted that plan. German resistance was feeble and confused with an extremely noticeable lack of artillery in the Bitburg area. The 4th armored overran and captured a number of German guns in Rittersdorf, where more than 700 prisoners were taken by units whose total casualties for the day were seven killed or wounded.

En route to Rittersdorf five German self propelled guns and two tanks were knocked out. The total prisoners taken by the 4th armored yesterday alone was 1,005.

Artillery pieces captured at Rittersdorf included seven 88s, eight 75s, and five 50s. Bitburg was not expected to be too bitterly defended. It not only was threatened by the 4th armored but also by elements of the 5th infantry division approaching from the southwest.

80th "Blocks Out."

Some of the credit for the success of the 4th armored push should be given to the 80th division, whose smashing of the Siegfried line defense enabled the 4th to "shake loose" like a fleet half back after fine blocking by his linesmen.

A drive thru the countryside leading to Bitburg, except for the stolid faces of the civilians, was much like Normandy or Brittany. Roads were jammed with armor on the move after weeks of being hampered by bad weather and deep mud. Everywhere there were signs of the speed with which the Nazis had fled—abandoned field coats, gas masks, knapsacks, other equipment, everywhere wreckage of Nazi vehicles and tanks knocked out by artillery, the air force, and American armor.

From some houses pitiful white flags wave and civilians peer from windows as the victors pass. In one town a G. I. was experimenting with a German motorcycle, while an American sergeant and a German civilian were having an earnest conversation as our jeep passed a group of German men beginning the back breaking task of cleaning up the wreckage.

Morale of the 4th armored men is something to see. As one of their officers put it: "They're happy as little kids. They're finally rolling again and they love it."

CANADIANS OPEN DRIVE

PARIS, Feb. 26 (AP).—Gen. H. D. G. Crerar's Canadian 1st army kicked off early today in a renewed offensive behind a 45 minute artillery barrage, hurling masses of tanks into a three and one-half mile push that isolated the bitterly defended road center of Calcar.

Infantry seized an escarpment overlooking the Hochwald, the last natural barrier standing between them and the Ruhr, now about 12 miles ahead.

At the south end of the front, the United States 7th army beat off counter-attacks in the French city of Forbach, two miles from Saarguemines.

YANKEES BATTER BERLIN IN RECORD DAYTIME ATTACK

LONDON, Feb. 27 [Tuesday] (AP).—Refugee choked Berlin was the target yesterday for the greatest daylight raid ever made on any city, with nearly 2,000 American heavy bombers and fighters dropping 3,000 tons of explosives, and last night British mosquito bombers followed up with two ton block busters.

Three of Berlin's railway stations were the primary objectives in the great American raid, in which 16 bombers and seven fighters were lost.

150 Mile Procession.

More than 1,250 Flying Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by 700 fighters, streamed in a straight line, which German air raid warnings said stretched for 150 miles, across northern Germany and made a bee-line for the reich capital, whose population is believed to have swollen to 5,000,000 by refugees from the battle fronts.

The great mass of planes arrived over the city in three waves just before noon and dropped 5,000 high explosive bombs and 500,000 small fire bombs on the Schlesischer, Alexander Phatz, and Berlin north railway stations, all within two miles of the heart of the capital.

The huge armada exceeded by more than 200 planes the size of the assault on the German capital Feb. 3 by American bombers and fighters.

Preceding today's raid, the city had been hammered with two ton block busters for six successive nights by R. A. F. Mosquitos.

Rail Stations Vital Targets.

The three railway stations were not hit in the Feb. 3 raid by 1,000 Flying Fortresses, an 8th air force officer said, and are located within two miles of the German air ministry building, which received eight direct hits in the raid earlier this month.

Bad weather hampered aerial operations from bases in Italy, but medium bombers attacked bridges in northern Italy and hammered enemy communications in Italy and Yugoslavia. Thunderbolts strafed rolling stock in Yugoslavia.

Before the American planes returned to their British bases an R. A. F. Lancaster fleet guarded by Mustangs crashed into the Ruhr and bombed a synthetic oil refinery at Dortmund.

A steady drizzle along the western front restricted tactical air force support of allied armies for the first time in five days.

SYRIA DECLARES WAR ON JAPAN AND GERMANY

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—Syria today became the third middle east nation within four days to declare war on the axis.

The Beyrouth radio announced the Syrian president in a 20 minute speech to the chamber of deputies had asserted that since the beginning of hostilities Syria had placed all resources at allied disposal and now wished to take an active part in the struggle. The broadcast said the war declaration was in effect now and would be ratified tomorrow by the chamber.

[Egypt's declaration of war against Germany and Japan was approved today by parliament, which also gave the government a vote of confidence. Turkey declared war on the axis Feb. 23.]

Nazis Claim Midget Subs Send 4 Ships to Bottom

LONDON, Feb. 26 [Reuters].—The German Transocean news agency today claimed that German midget submarines working off the English coast had sunk a transport of 5,000 tons, a large destroyer and two escort vessels. "The ships were sailing in convoy from the Thames to the Scheldt estuary" the agency said.

CHICAGO FATHER AND SON FIGHT NAZIS TOGETHER

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. 79TH DIVISION IN GERMANY, Feb. 26.—Because of a war department order forbidding their separation, a Chicago father and son are members of a cannon company of the 313th regiment. The son sacrificed a private first class stripe acquired in a tank destroyer outfit to remain with his father in the infantry.

Pvt. Raymond Stotts, 39, of 6581 Lakewood av. worked for the Carborundum company until he entered the army in August, 1943. His son, Pvt. Gene Stotts, 20, was employed by the Western Surgical Instrument company until drafted in May, 1943. The Stotts trained at Camp Hood, Tex.

"Tell ma, who works with Montgomery Ward, we're doing fine," said the elder Stotts when I saw father and son today.

CHURCHILL O.K.'S FUND TO FIGHT LEFT WING DRIVE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Prime Minister Churchill, leader of the Conservative party, has approved creation of a big fund to finance a counter-blast to left wing propaganda preparations for the next general election, it was said here tonight.

The Conservative party special finance committee in a report to be submitted to the executive committee at a party conference next month said "every Conservative should regard it as an obligation of honor to contribute according to his means," pointing out many Conservatives now pay nothing and others a fraction of what they can afford. The report asserts the Conservatives' resources are restricted compared to the Labor party, which regularly collects large sums from trade unions and coöperative movements.

A bid to strengthen the Conservative youth organization by giving junior associations a bigger part in party politics also will be made at the meeting.

33D DIVISION, ONCE THE I. N. G., FIGHTING IN NORTHERN LUZON

MANILA, Feb. 26 (AP).—The 33d division, formerly the Illinois national guard, is fighting along the northern end of the Luzon battle-front, pressing the enemy in the Rosario sector.

The 33d has three infantry regiments, the 129th, 130th and 136th, and four artillery battalions. The newest regiment is the 136th, composed mostly of Illinois, Michigan and Texas men. It substituted for the 131st [Chicago unit] in 1942 when the latter was assigned to guard duties at Saut Ste. Marie, Mich.

The division was in Hawaii until May, 1944, when it was moved to New Guinea. Maj. Gen. Percy W. Clarkson, San Antonio, Tex., is commander. Assistant is Brig. Gen. Donald V. Myers, Boulder, Colo. Artillery commander is Brig. Gen. Alexander Gallatin Paxton, Greenville, Miss.

LIBERATORS SINK TWO JAP SHIPS IN CHINA WATERS

CHUNGKING, China, Feb. 26 (AP).—Liberators of the United States 14th air force sank two Japanese vessels yesterday in the South China sea, east of the Liuchow peninsula, while other bombers and fighters hammered enemy air fields and supply lines from Tungting lake southward to the Lung valley.

Chinese troops pushed the Japanese back to positions seven miles west of Paoching but lost some of the ground gained to an enemy counter-attack, the Chinese high command announced. Ground fighting continued seven miles southwest of Paoching, an enemy stronghold west of the Hunan province rail city of Hengyang.

On the Kiangsi province front Japanese attacks southwest of Suichwan were thrown back, the high command said. Enemy forces in that area are trying to disperse Chinese concentrations.

CHURCHILL GIVES ENGLAND REPORT ON YALTA TODAY

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill will open in commons tomorrow Britain's most important foreign policy debate of the war with the first public account by one of the Big Three on the Crimea conference.

He may incorporate a progress report on the war, and may shed light on plans for establishing solid peace.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault was said to have assured Churchill that France would coöperate fully with the Big Three in promoting the allied policy blueprinted at Yalta.

QUAD SURVIVORS CELEBRATE FIRST TRIPLE BIRTHDAY

HEANOR, Derbyshire, Feb. 26 (AP).—Last February 27 this little mining town was watching the moment-by-moment progress of quadruplets born to a 23 year old British WAAF and a young American soldier. The "Heanor quads" were headline news over half the world.

Now, a year later, the three surviving babies will spend their first birthday visiting their aunt, Lillian Hardy, at nearby Breaston. This is their first visit since they returned to the little two story cottage after their first two months of special care in the hospital.

Cake with Three Candles.

Their mother and granny will be with them. But their father will not be there to help in the celebration. He is in France, while Mrs. Hardy's husband also is serving overseas.

There is a cake, with three candles and the names Madeleine, Maureen, and Michael.

Three babies are a handful for any mother, and with father "somewhere overseas" the day will pass very much as usual unless the parcels he has mailed arrive in time.

Hopes to Wed Her.

When Staff Sgt. William Thompson, Pittsburgh, Pa., announced at ETO headquarters in London that he was the father of Norah Carpenter's quadruplets he said he wished to support her and the babies from that day onward. He said they were not married but hoped to be if his wife would divorce him. Meantime, he said, they would "stick together and do all we can for the children."

ALLIED LEADERS AND TITO MAP CO-ORDINATION

ROME, Feb. 26 (AP).—Field Marshal Alexander, supreme allied commander in the Mediterranean, and Marshal Tito reached an agreement "on all points" for the future coördination of their forces, allied headquarters announced today. They conferred in Belgrade.

In addition to agreement on the use of allied troops and Marshal Tito's Yugoslav army of national liberation, the military leaders agreed on an administrative arrangement. The administrative agreement may mean Alexander and Tito settled the question of the occupation and administration of Trieste, Fiume, and the Istrian peninsula area.

The Yugoslavs have made no secret of their determination that the area should be taken from Italy after the war.

PERON BELITTLES NEED FOR ARGENTINE WAR AGAINST NAZIS

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 26 (AP).—Col. Juan Peron, vice president and minister of war of Argentina, said today he desired full restoration of cordial relations with the United States and Russia but the possibility was unlikely that his country would find tottering Germany's behavior sufficient cause to declare war against the Nazis.

Peron asserted that a sudden declaration of war against Germany on grounds palpably insufficient, tardily recognized, and opportunistic would "alienate our friends in this country and other American republics and give our foes an opportunity to heap scorn upon us."

"No Argentine would approve such a measure, even if I insisted. And, of course, Germany is not likely to invite it thru further provocation."

ANTI-TANK UNIT IN ITALY FIGHTS FOR 400TH DAY

ROME, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Italian front simmered down to endless patroling and grim discomfort today as the United States 10th mountain division finished mopping up German positions around Mount Belvedere, west of the Bologna-Pistoia highway. Artillery kept up a ceaseless pounding.

Presence of the United States 805th tank destroyer battalion in the Apennines was disclosed. It has experienced 400 days of combat. Most of the 805th is so isolated in the mountain country south of Bologna that its only communication with the outside world is by radio and pack mules.

EVEN A YANK'S BULLETS CAN'T KILL ILLINOISAN

Fired On by His Friends, Saved by Foes.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 9TH ARMY, Feb. 26.—Pvt. Frank Eichelberger of Sandwich, Ill., is known as the luckiest guy in the 308th engineers after escaping death twice in Friday morning's jump-off. While stringing telephone wire to battalion headquarters, Eichelberger explained what happened:

"At 4 o'clock Friday morning I was paddling a boatload of medics across the Roer when the craft capsized and threw us in the river. The current was so strong that I was carried downstream and I swallowed a lot of water. Then a couple of Kraut prisoners I had ferried to our side on a previous trip and left sitting on the bank saw me and jumped into a rubber boat and rowed out and hauled me from the river.

Attacked by Yanks.

"A couple of infantrymen saw the Krauts and thought they were trying to escape and opened fire on us. The bullets nearly sank the rubber boat until I yelled to them to lay off. The Krauts rowed me over and I turned them over to the infantry. I wore wet clothes for two days before I could change into dry duds, but I was so darn busy I didn't even catch a cold. My wife, Ina, reads THE TRIBUNE, so she'll see I'm all right."

Pvt. Tony Gentile, Iowa Falls, Ia., asked me to cable his grandmother, Mrs. Lena Serina, Oak Park, Ill., that he's "doing fine and expects to be home before long."

I found Maj. Cline Lampkin, Decatur, Ill., lunching with a general. He wants his folks at home informed that he finds time to think about them even during the offensive.

The general's aide, Capt. Joseph Walker, Peoria, Ill., superintended the construction of a portable coop for a dozen chickens a headquarters company rounded up for its mess.

German Easter Eggs.

"Tell the folks we'll have colored Easter eggs from German chickens this year," he said.

On the fourth day of operations, troops are beginning to clean up, shave, wash their socks, scrape the mud from their uniforms and shoes, and display a keen interest in mess menus. Ravenous appetites are returning following the long sweat awaiting the jump-off and lack of hunger during the excitement of the initial phase.

YANK RETURNS WITH JAP BUDDY WHO SAVED LIFE

Pvt. Charles Carroll, 2102 S. Central Park av., a 36th division veteran of bitter battles in France and Germany, yesterday was back home on a 30 day furlough from a Colorado Springs, Colo., army hospital. Welcomed as Carroll's guest was his American born Japanese buddy, Pvt. Danny Hokama, 22.

"Danny lives in Lanai City, Hawaii," said Carroll, "and I brought him home with me because he couldn't get there and back in a month." The two have been close friends since Hokama's outfit, the 442d combat team made up of Japanese born Yanks, stormed a Nazi stronghold in the Vosges mountains to rescue Carroll and other members of a lost battalion.

They fought in Italy and in the invasion of Normandy. Both contracted severe cases of trench feet. Hokama also was wounded in the hip.

One in 200 Londoners Treated for Mental Ills

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—One in every 200 Londoners is a patient in a mental hospital, Prof. D. K. Henderson, physician and superintendent of the Edinburgh hospital for mental and nervous disorders, revealed in his annual report today. One Londoner in every 274 is actually mentally defective, he said. Henderson refuted the claims of other authorities that the war strain had not increased mental breakdowns.

HEROIC YANKS FROM HOSPITAL TO SEE CHICAGO

Tribune and Others to Fete Group Today.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Decorated with Presidential citations, silver and bronze stars, and Purple Hearts, two officers and 10 enlisted men, 11 of whom are patients at Mayo general hospital, Galesburg, Ill., arrived last night on the Santa Fe railroad at Dearborn st. station for a 30 hour visit to Chicago to be conducted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in coöperation with educational, service, and business groups.

For a few it was their first visit to Chicago. For all of them it was a trip of relaxation, excitement, and entertainment. On arrival they were guests of the Fred Harvey System at dinner. Manager Victor Juric led them to a table laden with a turkey dinner.

R. O. T. C. Medal Winner in Group.

In the party were representatives of seven states, one in Dixie. One soldier previously had been honored by THE TRIBUNE. He is Sgt. Glen W. Vantrease, Gary, a veteran of the European theater of war. Vantrease received two R. O. T. C. medals from this newspaper when he was a student of Emerson High school in Gary.

Another member of the dinner party last night was Mrs. Edmund Bock, 415 Fullerton pkwy., a volunteer driver for the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross. In a comfortable bus she later took the men to Service Center No. 2 on S. Michigan av., where they were guests for the night.

Today the group will visit the Museum of Science and Industry as guests of Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, director; attend a matinee performance as guests of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and inspect Tribune Tower, have dinner in Chinatown, and attend the Golden Gloves fights in the Chicago stadium as guests of THE TRIBUNE.

The party will leave the Dearborn st. station at 11:30 o'clock tonight for Galesburg.

Ex-Tribunite in Charge.

Besides Sgt. Vantrease the party includes Pvt. Joseph R. Noble, Superior, Wis.; Pvt. Francis Albino, Sawyer, Minn.; Pvt. Martin G. Hatfield, Kansas City, Mo.; Pvt. Dale Curl, Bayard, Ia.; Pvt. Gilbert Buckholz, Okoboji, Ia.; Pvt. Darwin Moore, St. Paul, Minn.; Corp. Joseph Okolowicz, 2077 N. Hoyne av.; Pvt. Edward Grace, Memphis, Tenn., and Staff Sgt. Allen Bangle, Owen, Wis.

Another dinner guest last night was Arthur J. Middleton Sr., 1400 E. 53d st., a member of Chippilly post, American Legion, whose son, 1st Lt. Arthur J. Middleton Jr., a reporter for THE TRIBUNE on military leave, is in charge of the party together with 1st Lt. Russell C. Koepke, educational reconditioning officer, whose home is at 7139 La Fayette av.

U. S. Turns Over Oran to Control of France

ROME, Italy, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Algerian port of Oran, thru which 7,700,000 tons of American war supplies moved in the first eight months of the North African campaign, has been officially turned over to the French, it was announced today. Lt. Gen. J. McNarney, commanding United States forces in the Mediterranean, said that surplus supplies not needed in any war theater have been sold to the French army.

15 PASSENGERS HURT IN CRASH OF TWO 'L' TRAINS ON SOUTH SIDE

Fifteen persons were injured, none seriously, last night when a two coach Wilson av. local train crashed into the rear of a four car Howard st. express on the south side elevated line near Michigan av. and 39th st.

Both cars were northbound. The express had stopped behind a local train at the 39th st. station. The Wilson av. train came around a curve from the Indiana av. station, and altho the motorman applied the brakes swiftly, it rammed the rear of the express. The Wilson av. cars were of wood, the Howard st. express coaches of steel.

The injured were given first aid at the Chicago, Woodlawn, and Provident hospitals. Most suffered cuts and bruises. Among those treated were Sterling Kaetzel, 35, of 3814 Ellis av., motorman of the express; Mrs. Lillian Kurtz, 24, of 2615 N. Hoyne av., and James Boyer, 23, Negro, of Deucreux, Ga., a sailor stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training center.

NEW DEAL AIDS WHAT SOLDIERS FIGHT: SIMPSON

James Simpson Jr., Chicago millionaire recently discharged as a marine corps captain and expected to resume an active role in Republican politics after more than two years in the Pacific, was prevented by mumps from getting started last night.

Simpson, in a letter to Charles Fleck, 45th ward Republican committeeman, and to 125 friends who gathered in the Germania club to welcome him home, accused the New Deal of duplicity and asserted "Our government has gone a long way toward the very totalitarianism we are fighting."

"They have capitulated, not to the working man, but to a handful of trouble makers who purport to represent him," Simpson wrote. "Twice now in Presidential elections our leaders have refused to fight things they know to be wrong."

Lloyd George's Condition Unchanged; 'Very Weak'

FIND DE GAULLE PUTS LEAGUE 2D TO RED TREATY

French Say He Hopes to Use Both Plans.

BY HAROLD CALLENDER.
[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Feb. 26.—The French are unwilling to act as sponsors for the forthcoming San Francisco, Cal., meeting of the allied nations until they are assured that the final form of the Dumbarton Oaks scheme will leave the French-Russian alliance intact and independent, it was said in official circles tonight.

Gen. De Gaulle believes that in the French foreign policy, alliances come first and a world security system later—after the war, he said in a speech Feb. 5—tho his interpreters argued today that he counted upon both methods of insuring peace.

Stand by Treaty.

Hence, Gen. De Gaulle is opposed to acceptance of the Dumbarton Oaks scheme until it is so amended as to be compatible with the French-Russian alliance whose distinctive character is its independence of the actions or the attitudes of other powers and its almost automatic functioning.

The proposal, understood to be supported by other powers—that each action under such regional agreements should require prior approval of a council of security—is one that the French will never accept, it is said here. They propose, instead, that the council give its blanket approval of the pact which then would operate automatically.

Fear Commitment.

The French draw a distinction between accepting an invitation to San Francisco and joining in inviting other nations, which they fear may imply a commitment on their part to the Dumbarton Oaks plan as it exists or as the Big Three intend to amend it.

Therefore, in accepting the invitation to San Francisco the French did so with these reservations regarding their joining as an inviting power: They want to know whether French amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks plan will be considered; they want a definition of "trusteeship" in connection, with the Big Three plan to apply it to mandated territories; they want to know the exact agenda of the conference of the Big Five prior to the San Francisco meeting, since that agenda apparently includes subjects of trusteeship on voting in the security council.

HOW 1,400 DIED IN NAZI REPRISAL ON FRENCH TOWN

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMOGES, France, Feb. 26.—The resistance movement of the Maquis was strongly entrenched and organized in the region of Limoges during the German occupation. Today, the Maquis constitute a strong political element in this part of the country.

The Limousine district and Dordogne to the south are partly forested, and well adapted for hideouts of the underground soldiers. One of the most famous of these was Col. Rac, who for two years lived in the forest, constantly changing residence. He was head of a well disciplined regiment of 2,500 volunteers, who constantly harassed the German forces of occupation.

Rac took the field with 3,500 men at the time of the American landings in France last summer. Today his regiment of French Forces of the Interior has been officially converted into a regiment of infantry of the new French army. The change is typical of what is being done to convert the former underground irregulars into the new army of France.

Savage Reprisals.

The work of the underground forces contributed greatly to the liberation of France. It also precipitated ruthless reprisals against innocent persons by the Germans.

One of the worst cases occurred at the small town of Oradour-sur-Glane. Oradour lies about five miles off the main road, 20 miles from Limoges. By orders of the commander of the Fuehrer SS [elite guard] division in Limoges at that time, Oradour was burned to the ground by the Germans, and all its 1,400-odd inhabitants, including women and children, savagely massacred.

Apparently the mass murder was committed because there had been firing on German soldiers by the Maquis a few days before. The German commander chose Oradour after having first decided to burn down St. Junien and massacre its people. The mayor of St. Junien had talked him out of it.

An Incredible Sight.

I visited Oradour a few days ago. It is a ghastly, incredible sight. Here is what happened, as it was told me by men clearing the ruins:

On June 19, 1944, soldiers appeared in the town and ordered all the inhabitants to assemble in the public square. Among them were about 600 women and children. The Germans said they were checking on credentials. They separated the men, took them to the edge of town, and mowed them down with machine guns. Then they ordered the women and children into the church. When all were assembled inside the Germans turned machine guns on the victims and then set fire to the church.

The stones of the church are blackened by the flames. A sign says: "Here hundreds of women and children were massacred by the Germans." One of the workers picked up a handful of debris to show me it contained charred human bones. Practically every building in the town is a mass of blackened stones.

Monument to Fury.

The French government has decreed that Oradour shall be left just as it is as a national monument for future generations to witness the fury of the Germans. You can see nicks in the stone walls of the church, made by machine gun bullets.

Limoges is an important French manufacturing town, with large porcelain and shoe factories. They are at present idle, and the city has a large unemployment problem. There are no raw materials.

Commuting Cat

Switchman Harold Sproule of South Bend holds Breezy as he points to air hose on which the cat rode 90 miles. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

South Shore train No. 41, which arrived in South Bend at 1:25 a. m. yesterday, pulled out of the Randolph st. station with a gentle purr, which grew to a meow in Hammond, a wail in Gary, and a yowl in Michigan City.

On the 90 mile trip, the train traveled as fast as 90 miles an hour, screaming thru the dunes like a banshee. In the South Bend terminal, John Wysong, collector, and Harold Sproule, a switchman, examined the undercarriages for the cause of the noise. A pair of eyes gleamed out at them from atop the air hose, a rubber tube 1½ inches in diameter, slung between the first and second cars.

Wysong lifted an exhausted bluish-gray Maltese cat, about three months old, from the hose. One ear was frozen, and the cat was bleeding from cuts from cinders. Trainmen fed it hot milk, put it in a warm box under a radiator in the South Bend station, and gave it a name—Breezy.

A Senator Catches Up with Evils of Lipstick

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 26 (AP).—Divorces are flourishing "because of the evils of the use of lipstick," Sen. Hubert Brooks told the Tennessee legislature today as he introduced a bill to make use of the cosmetic a felony. "The married men of Tennessee are being condemned by their wives whenever they come home with lipstick on their collars and shirts," explained Brooks, who proposed one to 10 years imprisonment and a fine of up to $10,000 for lipstick wearers. But he grinned.

ARNOLD TELLS HOW U. S. WON AIR SUPREMACY

ater; the second on the war against Japan, with subdivisions on air operation in the central, north, south, and Southwest Pacific theaters, China, Burma-India, and the Super Fortresses; the third on research, development and welfare, and the final section on conclusions on lessons of the war and plans for the future.

In his summary of the air war against Germany Gen. Arnold for the first time listed the week of Feb. 20-26, 1944, as one which he said future historians will mark as probably the most decisive of the war, "one as decisive and of far greater world importance than Gettysburg."

Concentrate on Fighters.

He recalled that early in 1942 the Germans, recognizing the A. A. F. emphasis on heavy bomber and precision bomber production, concentrated on production of fighters for defensive purposes, planning to quadruple monthly production to keep their industry inviolate. Concentrations of fighter planes and anti-aircraft installations were placed about German war plants.

In the continued bad weather of late 1943, Arnold said, allied air forces were unable to operate effectively and the German air force grew alarmingly. Then came the decisive days in which the allies won air supremacy.

"On Sunday, Feb. 20, in the first good weather in weeks, we struck," the general said.

"Nearly a thousand A. A. F. bombers escorted by fighters attacked fighter plane factories in Brunswick, Oschersleben, Bernburg, and Leipzig in our heaviest assault of the war up to that time. A large part of the force was directed at the Messerschmitt 109 assembly factory at Leipzig. Defenses there had been alerted by an R. A. F. area attack the night before and the Nazis rose in force.

Under Attack 3 Hours.

"One gunner reported, 'The Luftwaffe had all their planes up but their trainers.' Another said, 'We caught flak, rockets, and trailing attacks. Twenty millimeter shells came zinging past with our names and rank on them, everything but serial numbers.' Enemy fighters attacked some bomber formations for three hours, making headon attacks in groups of ten or more.

"Bombing results were good.

"Production stopped at the Leipzig and Bernburg factories which together had been making 30 per cent of all single and twin engined fighters. Output at Brunswick fighter assembly plants had been interrupted by previous attacks, and Sunday's bombardment put them out of business four more months."

The R. A. F. bombed that night.

"On Monday, Lt. Gen. Doolittle's 8th air force heavies were over in force again. Tuesday they were joined by bombers of the 15th air force, based in Italy, in the first coördinated attack of the United States strategic air forces in Europe.

Another Coördinated Blow.

"On Thursday the 8th and 15th struck another coördinated blow at German aircraft production. On Friday, for the fifth time in a week, we struck at aircraft factories. More than 2,000 planes from the 8th and 15th air forces set out for Regensburg, Augsburg, Furth, and Stuttgart. The operation set a new record for size: It climaxed five days of assault against one of Germany's most vital and well protected industries; significantly, official reports said, 'Enemy fighter resistance was on a reduced scale.'

"Those five days changed the history of the air war."

In the five days the A. A. F. lost 244 heavy bombers and 33 fighters. The German losses were 692 aircraft in the air and many more on the ground. German aircraft production, instead of being quadrupled, dropped to below 1942 levels.

Gen. Arnold detailed at length A. A. F. plans and coöperation on D day, describing the air task of isolating the battle area to prevent rapid shuttling of German troops by destroying supply and communication lines.

As evidence of the value of air force coöperation in the battle of France, Gen. Arnold cited Gen. Patton's call to Brig. Gen. Weyland, commanding the 19th tactical command, to protect Patton's right flank as he swept along the bank of the Loire.

Holds Off 30,000 Germans.

The planes kept some 30,000 Germans from driving into the 3d army's rear. This German force was so harrassed by planes that they ultimately surrendered and Weyland's aircraft were given the honor of flying over the Nazi forces before they laid down their arms to mark their conquest, the report said.

In the section dealing with the Mediterranean theater, the report credited the air forces for coöperation in the Italian campaign, but gave as the greatest A. A. F. achievement in this area the bombing of the Balkans, which cut off Hitler's oil supply and aided in tearing axis satellites from the Nazi ranks.

Hitler's Oil Up in Smoke.

"Forty per cent of Adolf Hitler's oil has gone up in fires set by 15th air force bombers," Arnold said. "His war machine once consumed 1,400,000 tons of fuel [gasoline and oil] per month. One-half of that came from the Romanian oil fields and synthetic refineries in southeastern Europe and the Balkans."

In the section dealing with the war against Japan, the general listed the accomplishments of the A. A. F. in island operations and in assaults against Japanese supply lines.

As evidence of the remarkable progress in this theater, the general cited the fact that the distance of the 7th air force's forward bases from Tokyo had been shortened from 3,467 to 1,267 miles.

In the section on research, development and welfare, the general discussed jet propulsion, global weather forecasting, rockets, prefabricated air fields, frangible [breakable] bullets to be fired at our own men for air fight training, and evacuation of 700,000 casualties, air transport accomplishments and rehabilitation and welfare of A. A. F. personnel.

Lists Basic Principles.

In the section of conclusions the general called for continuance of an air force as insurance for long time security and peace. He called for careful attention to basic principles underlying air power needs on which our air superiority rests. He listed these principles as:

"1. Air power is the weapon with which the aggressor in this war first struck and with which future aggressors will strike. The range, speed and destructive capacity of a powerful air force is such that given sufficient air superiority, the aggressor can by sudden action disrupt the life of the attacked nation and make difficult the taking of defense measures.

"2. We must recognize that the only certain protection against such aggression is the ability to meet and overcome it before the aggressor can strike the first blow.

"3. The foregoing principles can mean only one thing to the United States. For the next aggressor . . . the United States will be his first target.

Careful Definition.

"4. Air power and air supremacy are terms which require careful definition. In 1952 it [air power] may mean far different equipment with destructive power and accuracy of which man has not yet dreamed.

"5. The first essential of air power necessary for our national security is preëminence in research.

"6. Scientific and tactical advances must go hand in hand and be reflected in the aircraft armament equipment and weapons actually being used by our air forces.

"7. Preëminence in the air implies maximum ability to maintain and expand existing establishments. There must be a strong and healthy aviation industry.

"8. Air power must be employed from large, fully equipped, strategically located bases.

Close Coöperation.

"9. In all-out war the army tactical air force and the navy air force teams must work closely together with our army and our navy.

"10. We have learned and must not forget that from now on air transport is an essential of air power, in fact of all national power.

"11. We must be prepared to counter this employment of the airplane [troop carrier operations] and to employ it more effectively ourselves.

"12. None of these essentials of air power will be effective without an adequate trained and experienced personnel."

GROUNDED PILOT FINDS IWO FIGHT WORSE THAN AIR

WITH THE 4TH MARINE DIVISION, IWO, Feb. 25 [Delayed]—(AP).—Capt. George Franck, university of Minnesota all-American half back in 1940 and a veteran of 17 missions as a fighter pilot, is ready to get back into a plane any time after seeing ground action on this island. Franck is assigned to the marine infantry here as an air observer.

"This is too tough for me," said the captain, a native of Davenport, Ia. "I got in a foxhole" said Franck, "and it kept getting deeper and deeper. Finally I got out on D-day plus two. I was never so scared in my life. This ground warfare is more dangerous than anything I ran up against in the air."

2 NEW MEMBERS TAKE SEATS IN COUNCIL TODAY

Two new aldermen, Mathew W. Biesczat [26th] and Francis J. Hogan [6th], elected Feb. 5 to fill vacancies caused by deaths, will be seated when the city council meets today. Emil V. Pacini and Max Pieczynski, the two highest men in the four man election in the 10th ward, will compete in a run-off election Monday. Pacini has the support of Rep. Rowan of the 2d district and Pieczynski has the support of County Treasurer Schlager. The council committee on committees will not assign the three new aldermen to committees until after Monday's run-off.

100 MILE BERLIN FRONT ABLAZE, SAY GERMANS

LONDON, Feb. 27 [Tuesday]—(AP).—German broadcasts said last night that heavy battles had erupted on a 100 mile front along the Oder and Neisse rivers facing Berlin and Dresden, and declared that Red army flanking forces to the north had speared to within 23 miles of Stettin, Pomeranian capital and Baltic port at the mouth of the Oder.

Moscow did not confirm the Nazi Transocean agency's report of spreading tank and infantry actions on the main front—possibly a prelude to an all-out soviet offensive by upwards of 1,000,000 Russian veterans in the crack 1st White Russian and 1st Ukraine armies.

Transocean said the 1st Ukraine army now had reached the Neisse "everywhere" along a 60-mile front south of the Oder confluence, 50 miles southeast of Berlin, and that German and Russian armored forces were locked in a "merry-go-round of death" as the soviets attempted to force the river.

Claim Hold Wiped Out.

Berlin said that hard fighting had begun on a line extending from Kuestrin, on the Oder, 39 miles northeast of Berlin, southward to the approaches to Goerlitz, Silesia's second city, 48 miles east of Dresden, Saxon capital.

The enemy said that soviet bridgeheads on the west bank of the Neisse River in the Lausitz district of swamps and highlands northwest of Goerlitz had been wiped out, but also said that Red army shock troops held the suburbs of Guben and Forst, Neisse river strongholds, 51 and 57 miles southeast of Berlin.

A German broadcast also said that Marshal Konev's 1st Ukraine army southern wing had broken into Lauban, 12 miles east of Goerlitz and about the same distance from the Saxon frontier where it joins the Bohemian frontier of Czecho-Slovakia.

Fight West of Breslau.

Hard fighting also was reported at Goldberg, 27 miles east of the imperiled Lauban, and 46 miles west of encircled Breslau, lower Silesian capital. In this area the Russians, by German account, were slowly driving the enemy back into the foothills of the Sudeten mountains.

A brief soviet bulletin, announcing capture of five localities in East Prussia during slow one-mile gains, and the seizure of 15 more blocks in besieged Breslau, did not mention any fighting on the main front inside Germany. Dispatches from the soviet capital, however, told of heavy reconnaissance and the usual activities preceding a major offensive.

No mention was made by Moscow of the 200 mile northern soviet flank stretching from the lower Oder to the Vistula river in Poland, but Berlin said that Red army troops attacking along the middle of this line had reached to within 11 miles of Neustettin at a point only 52 miles from the Baltic coast. At the eastern end of the line the Russians were reported only 30 miles south of Danzig.

SAVE 500 FROM HOSPITAL SHIP IN BERMUDA GALE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The army reported today that the hospital ship St. Mihiel, with 500 patients aboard, went aground off Bermuda in the midst of a lashing storm on Jan. 26, but all aboard were saved.

The patients were transferred without injury to small craft and taken to the army hospital in Bermuda after the ship struck a reef.

After the patients were put ashore, the hospital ship John J. Meany was diverted to pick them up and take them to Charleston, S. C., their original destination. The war department said "the patients were in high spirits and seemed to enjoy the stopover" in Bermuda.

The St. Mihiel was freed from the reef the day after she went aground.

Shots Echo in Bucharest After Attack on Workers

MOSCOW, Feb. 26 (AP).—Sporadic shooting echoed thru Bucharest, Romania, streets following an attack by soldiers on unarmed worker groups marching to the palace to urge formation of a new democratic government, the official soviet news agency, Tass, reported today.

SPEED RETURN OF 1,000 YANKS FREED BY REDS

First to Reach Odessa Camp Tomorrow.

MOSCOW, Feb. 26 (AP). — About 1,000 Americans and 2,500 British empire prisoners of war liberated from German camps by the Red army will be sent home shortly from a repatriation camp set up at Odessa, Rear Adm. E. R. Archer, chief of the British military mission to Moscow, said today.

The first group is expected to arrive at the Black sea port on Wednesday and names of the men will be sent to Washington, D. C., and London. Most of these men now are en route by train from Poland and East Prussia.

American, British, Canadian, Australian and New Zealand teams will look after their nationals. Several tons of clothing, medical supplies, chocolate, and cigarets, mostly from the Red Cross, have been collected for the freed men.

Many Are Ground Troops.

American and British empire officers will work with the Russians in gathering many hundred former prisoners still believed to be in Poland and East Prussia.

The liberated prisoners are believed to include mainly ground troops, but there are said to be some flyers.

To aid soldiers not already in contact with the Red army in some areas, billboards probably will be erected telling the former prisoners where to go for repatriation.

The first group arriving at the camp at Odessa will be sent home on British ships.

Russians Provide Food.

The Russians are preparing the camp, which shortly will be taken over by repatriation officers, and the Red army is furnishing the basic food supplies in accordance with an agreement reached at the Crimea conference.

Lt. Harry Schuiz, St. Louis, Mo., whose Flying Fortress crashed in the Russian lines after a raid on Germany on Feb. 9, said the Russians "treated us swell."

Among flyers on their way home from Poland after crashing on a bombing raid on Leipzig are Lt. Edward B. Pchnik, Kent City, Mich., and Sgt. Joseph V. Smith, Lapeer, Mich. Neither was injured.

Germans Shift 4,000.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—The British war office said tonight it had been informed that 4,000 sick American and British prisoners of war had left Stalag 344 at Lamsdorf, eastern Germany, for another German prison camp as yet unidentified.

Physically fit prisoners from Stalag 344 were reported on the march between Boehmisch Leipa and Karlsbad.

The war office said also that prisoners from Stalag 8 had been divided, some proceeding toward Kassel and others to Nuernberg, while prisoners from Stalag 8-C were moving toward Hanover and Kassel.

I think we've brought him up on too much spinach, dear.

YANK RAILWAY MEN CONVICTED AT PARIS MAY GET NEW CHANCE

PARIS, Feb. 26 (AP).—Many of the 160 soldiers convicted and sentenced in train looting black market cases may be given probation and another chance to serve their country, it was learned today. Some want to be sent to the front and others ask a chance to go back to their railway battalions.

The prosecutor has been asked to draw a list of convicted men likely to make good as soldiers if given the chance. No blanket suspension of sentences is contemplated. The cases of two officers sentenced are in a different category and their ultimate disposition is up to Gen. Eisenhower.

Capt. William P. Olson, San Francisco, Cal., of the 716th railway operating battalion, has been put on trial. Sgt. Anthony J. Palmero, Elkhart, Ind., one of the first witnesses, disclosed that charges against him had been dismissed, altho he had signed a confession.

PROMOTE YANK WHO HELD LINE IN BULGE FIGHT

Because he kept his machine guns firing and prevented enemy penetration of the lines during the battle of the bulge, Sgt. Delbert Edgette, 21, of 4225 N. Paulina, was given a field promotion to second lieutenant, according to word received yesterday by his wife, Eileen. A letter from Lt. Edgette's commanding officer said he displayed extraordinary control over his men. He has been in the army since March, 1943, his wife said.

TWO GRADUATES OF BIBLE SCHOOL SAFE IN MANILA

Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Friedreichsen, missionaries to the Philippines, and their two children, Douglas and Robert, were among the Americans released from Santo Tomas university in Manila when troops entered the city, they advised Mrs. Robert Hockman of Wheaton, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Friedreichsen, by letter yesterday. Both the Friedreichsens were graduated from the Moody Bible school here, and Mrs. Friedreichsen's father, the late Dr. William H. Hockman, formerly was director of the missionary course at the school. The Friedreichsens had been in the Philippines since 1939.

*Savings shown apply to "signature only" loans repaid in 12 monthly instalments, cost to be deducted in advance. You can save even more if you borrow with one co-maker. In either case, you save at least half of usual and lawful Small Loan Charges.

Why Pay More THAN THIS LOW COST?
For a $100 loan, 12 mo.: At Usual Small Loan Rate. You Pay $20.84; At Merchandise Bank You Pay Only 8.00; YOU SAVE $12.84
For a $200 loan: At Usual Small Loan Rate. You Pay $39.52; At Merchandise Bank You Pay Only 16.00; YOU SAVE $23.52

THOUSANDS NOW SAVE UP TO 2/3 on PERSONAL LOANS
Small Loan Rates are often two to three times MORE than Merchandise Bank's low charges

AT USUAL small loan rates—on a loan of $100—you have to make 12 payments of about $10.07 each. Figure it out—that's $120.84—or $20.84 more than you borrowed!

At Merchandise Bank a similar loan will cost you only $5.50 (if you use the popular One Co-Maker Plan), saving you $15.34 on $100 for 1 year. (Can't you use that fifteen dollars?) Or—if you borrow on your signature only, the cost is only $8—and you still save $12.84. In either case the saving amounts to nearly as much as two payments. And you save proportionately on any amount you borrow at Merchandise Bank.

...we put our best foot BACKWARD

The first law of good merchandising and good salesmanship is to put your best foot forward. Knowing that, why do we put our best foot backward? Why? Because our stores are built that way. In the back—in his spotless cubicle, the Stineway pharmacist stands. Hidden from view, he expertly compounds the medicines from fresh quality drugs. Because he is a man of long experience he is usually over draft age—and because he is doing essential work he has the prized status of a war worker. So he is a man expertly qualified to translate the physician's message into relief for what ails you. So there he is—our Exhibit A—and we don't exhibit him. Maybe we ought to redesign our stores and put our prescription department right in the window where you can see Stineway service at its best.

But—it isn't being done. Our pharmacists have heard the old gag about the public beating a path to his door even if it's in the woods—or back of the store. And somehow—they do.

TOKYO SOUNDS NEW AIR ALARM FOR B-29 ATTACK

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Guam, Feb. 26 (AP).—New air raid alerts for Tokyo, Yokohama, and other parts of Honshu Island were reported by the Japanese radio today following the terrific pounding of the Jap capital in daylight Sunday by American carrier planes and a record flight of Super Fortresses.

The new alarms were sounded Sunday night and remained in effect one hour when a B-29 was said by the Japanese to have penetrated the Tokyo-Yokohama metropolitan area. Tokyo made no mention of bombings.

Meanwhile fleet headquarters and the 21st bomber command here awaited further details on the twin strikes Sunday. Radio silence enveloped the Yank carrier task force in Japanese waters.

Report 20 Killed in Blast at French Munitions Dump

PARIS, Feb. 26 (AP).—The French news agency reported tonight that a munitions dump explosion "in western France" had killed 20 persons and injured 30. It said sparks from a truck caused the blast.

LT. VRACIU, NAVY ACE, AND BRIDE VISIT CHICAGO

pilot who led a band of Filipino guerrilas after his plane was shot down over Luzon last December, arrived in Chicago yesterday for a month's leave.

He was joined here by his bride of seven months, the former Kathryn Horn, 1604 E. 142d st., East Chicago. They will stay at the Ambassador hotel during the flyer's leave, after which he will report to Washington, D. C.

Plane Hit; He Bails Out.

Lt. Vraciu told how he was compelled to bail out of his Grumman Hellcat fighter Dec. 14 after the oil tank was hit. He put the plane into a glide, clambered out on a wing, and rode it down as long as possible before taking to his parachute. He learned later that this act probably saved his life, because his plane glided safely over a Jap garrison.

When he reached the earth, he saw Filipinos running toward him, bearing shoes, trousers, and a straw hat. They hustled him away, to avoid Jap patrols.

Lt. Vraciu paid high tribute to Capt. Alfred D. Bruce, American leader of the Filipino guerrillas to whom he was taken, to Capt. Alfred Hendrickson, another guerrilla leader, and a Capt. Donahue.

Told of Luzon Invasion.

Last Jan. 6, another rescued navy flyer informed Lt. Vraciu that American troops would invade Luzon three days later. After the invasion, Lt. Vraciu and his troops began looking for the invaders. The first he encountered were members of the 129th infantry from downstate Illinois.

Lt. Vraciu, who wears the navy cross, the distinguished flying cross with cluster, and air medal with two clusters, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Vraciu Sr., 3553 Pennsylvania av., East Chicago. He is credited with bringing down 19 enemy planes and destroying 21 on the ground.

Gen. Smuts, 75, Climbs Mountain in 98° Heat

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Feb. 26 [Reuters].—Gen. Jan Smuts, 75, prime minister, yesterday climbed two and a half hours in a temperature of 98 to the top of Table mountain that overlooks Capetown. He then stood for 30 minutes at a service for war dead and delivered a 15 minute address.

ANCIENT BURMA CITY OF 5,000 PAGODAS TAKEN BY BRITISH

KANDY, Ceylon, Feb. 26 (AP).—British and Indian troops have slashed across the Irrawaddy river 92 miles southwest of Mandalay and captured the ancient city of Pagan, Southeast Asia headquarters announced tonight.

A bridgehead four miles deep and two and a half miles long was established and troops were thrown across the river for a two pronged drive on the big oil field towns of Chauk and Yenangyaung. Fighting was in progress tonight.

Pagan is known for its 5,000 glittering pagodas and is considered one of the wonders of the east. It was founded in 847 and was the Burmese capital until 1298.

ANDERS TO LEAD POLE ARMY; REDS OPPOSED TO HIM

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—Gen. Wladyslaw Anders was named commander in chief of Polish land, sea, and air forces today by President Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz of the Polish government in London. Diplomatic quarters expressed belief the appointment would not ease matters between Moscow and the London Poles.

Anders is said to be persona non grata with the Russians. He takes over the command left vacant when Gen. Tadeusz Komorowski [Gen. Bor] was captured by the Germans last summer. Anders himself was captured in 1939 by the Russians and held two years until his release was negotiated.

Prime Minister Churchill, in a recent talk with Anders, was believed to have expressed concern about Anders' order of the day criticizing decisions of the Crimean conference.

REBUILD ONE IWO FIELD AND FIGHT TO WIN SECOND

BY THOMAS MORROW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

IWO ISLAND, Feb. 25 [Delayed].—While the front line fight snarled around No. 2 air field, life went on as nearly normally as possible for the marines settling Iwo Island.

In a shell hole, a marine shaved off a four day beard. Near-by, behind a hill, a chaplain said mass for his flock, protected from mortar fire by the sheltering hillside. The father was attired in full robes despite a bristling beard.

A duck stood dignified guard over the tractor to which he was tied. "We called him 'he' until 'he' laid an egg," reported Marine Charles W. Hicks of Kansas City, Mo. "We have to keep 'him' tied up, or 'he' wanders all over the place and eats all the rations 'he' can get hold of."

The duck came ashore with the company. One of the first duties of the company was to find cereal grain for their mascot.

"He got in a bad shape on the way out," reported Hicks, "stealing rations from the ship's galley. He doesn't seem to mind firing, tho."

The duck looked reproachfully at Hicks, tucked its head under its wing, and went to sleep.

News is the commodity most missed by the troops. The marines want to know how the war's going in Europe, and what is taking place in the United States. Capt. William Cessna, Chicago Tribune man on military leave as public relations officer, almost got himself mobbed when he brought copies of the ship's news bulletin ashore for distribution. L. M. Weeks, Rochester, N. H., and Donald A. Gill, St. Paul, Minn., were among the first customers.

"Next to mail from home," they said, "we miss news most."

As the marines battle for the second air field to the north against land mines as well as weapons, work began on reclaiming air field No. 1. Bulldozers, tractors, and trucks began to bring order to the island's chaos. Roads reinforced with wire netting are under construction.

Lt. Paul R. Cook of Cincinnati, O., gave the amphibious tractors credit for the success of the early part of the operation.

"We were bringing enough equipment to build a couple of big office buildings if we had the workmen," said Cook. "This was because of the heavy seas and loose ash, which stalled the vehicles. We had to move supplies by hand until we got the vehicles going. We lost a lot of good men getting thru mortar fire in the delivery of supplies on D-day."

10 MEDICS FROM ILLINOIS TREAT LUZON INTERNEES

BY WALTER SIMMONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE 41ST FIELD HOSPITAL, Luzon, P. I., Feb. 24 [Delayed].—Illinois medics are playing a prominent part in the care of American internees released by troops from the Los Banos internment camp.

Maj. Nelson Chesnut of Springfield, Ill., commander of the 607th medical clearing company said there were 145 litter cases among the 2,121 liberated persons. The medical company passed within 100 yards of the front lines going to Manila. It includes these enlisted men from Illinois:

Sgt. Stanley Wwieton, 933 N. Wolcott av., Corp. Raymond Caudry, 516 S. Sacramento av., Pvt. John Kane, 3260 Maypole av., and Pvt. Willard Olson, 2947 S. Canal st., all Chicagoans; T/4 John Olson, Walnut; Sgt. Henry Stevenson, Ludlow and Aurora; Corp. Eugene Strawn, Glen Ellyn; T/5 Ferris Klam, East Peoria, and Pvt. Robert Missman, Wheaton.

New Irving Berlin Song Draws M'Arthur Thanks

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

"Heaven Watch the Philippines," a new song by Irving Berlin dedicated to Gen. MacArthur, brought a message of appreciation from the general, the office of war information reported yesterday. The song will be sung by a Filipino chorus in the soldier show, "This Is the Army," opening on Leyte March 3.

Bull Horn Wins Chicagoan Title of 'The Voice' on Iwo

BY THOMAS MORROW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

IWO ISLAND, Feb. 26.—When they start looking for heroes of the Iwo Island campaign, 1st Lt. Carl Gabel, quartermaster of the 23d regiment, 4th marine division, will do for one.

Lt. Carl Gabel.

Gabel, 32, whose father, Atty. Charles R. Gabel, lives at 8334 Ada st., Chicago, played tackle and end on the University of Chicago football team in 1930-'31-'32 and was captain of the wrestling team.

He came ashore at 3 p. m. D-day, when mortar fire was raking Yellow beach. The beach masters had been knocked out by Japanese shelling, and needed ammunition and supplies were piling up on the beach. Gabel sized up the situation and went to work.

Sets Up Supply Dump.

He seized a loud speaker, or bull horn, on the beach and directed boats ashore. His section, lectured steadily on teamwork by Gabel, joined him. Directed by Gabel, they literally drove men out of foxholes into the thick of the fire.

"I got one thing out of the operation," reported Lt. Gabel with a grin. "Now they call me The Voice!"

Gabel, about the only man erect on the beach, roared his orders as mortar shells burst around him. He directed the setting up of a supply dump. Some of his men led others, picked up on the beach, in moving ammunition by hand to the front lines.

With corpsmen knocked out, others without experience set up an evacuation center for wounded. Gabel sent men to salvage medical kits and bandages and aid those hurt as best they could before putting them on small boats bound for hospital ships.

Pvt. Tony Kurdell, 1055 Keystone av., Chicago, worked moving ammunition despite a shell which dropped between him and a second marine three feet away and failed to explode. He asked that his wife, Christine, be notified he was okay and planned to stay that way.

Works 24 Hours a Day.

While boats were shattered by shell fire and capsized in heavy seas on the beach, Gabel kept traffic moving. He worked almost 24 hours a day for five days, until relieved by a regular beach master.

"All teamwork," said Gabel when asked about his efforts. "This is an informal outfit, but we're tough with them. There isn't a man in my outfit who is yellow, nor one that can't work 24 hours a day."

CHANDLER FLAYS LABOR DRAFT AS 'FASCIST' MOVE

Accuses Army of Trying to 'Horse Whip' Nation.

BY PHILIP DODD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Sen. Chandler [D., Ky.] charged in the senate today that the nation's military leaders had taken advantage of the German break-thru on the western front last December to "horse whip" the American people into a labor draft.

Chandler made his accusation during senate debate in the job control bill approved by the senate military affairs committee last week. The bill would give War Man Power Chairman McNutt power to dictate the number of workers that any business may have and to prohibit the hiring or recruiting of new workers.

"The military," said Chandler, "apparently set out to take advantage of the German break-thru to horse whip the American people into a labor draft to 'make people realize there's a war going on.' Every one who had any one in the Belgian bulge knows there's a war going on."

No Shortage; Chandler.

The debate centered around the need for man power legislation when Chandler asserted that there was no labor shortage in the country. Less than 200,000 men are needed in war work, he said, and they can be obtained thru present voluntary recruiting programs.

Chairman Thomas [D., Utah] of the senate military committee said military leaders had said man power legislation was needed to lift the morale of the troops.

"If the morale factor alone is considered," Chandler said, "and the word goes out to the boys on the fighting front that democratic methods have failed, and we have adopted fascist methods, I am afraid for the effect it will have on those boys."

Expect Drastic Revisions.

Soon after the debate began today, amendments and substitute proposals to the controversial bill were offered on the floor. Even sponsors of the measure criticized portions of it and predictions were made that it would be drastically revised before the senate votes.

The bill now before the senate is a substitute for the May "work or jail" bill, which passed the house Feb. 1. The May bill provided for the drafting, for military service or war work, of men between 18 and 45 who leave essential jobs without their draft boards' permission.

The substitute drafted in the senate military committee would shift the compulsion features from employes to employers thru the imposition of employment ceilings by McNutt, regardless of age, sex, or occupational qualifications of workers. In the case of farm labor, however, the bill would forbid farm workers from quitting their jobs without draft board approval, under penalty of five years in jail or a $10,000 fine, or both.

Divided Three Ways.

Sen. Tydings [D., Md.] told reporters today that the senate was divided three ways on the bill—one-third for, one-third against, and one-third undecided.

One substitute offered today, by Sen. Revercomb [R., W. Va.], would incorporate some features of the substitute but would prohibit McNutt from lowering the employment ceiling of any establishment more than 50 per cent.

Sen. Kilgore [D., W. Va.], a sponsor of the substitute bill, offered an amendment removing the provision affecting farm workers and penalties against them.

COACH MAKERS AGREE TO END 2 MONTH STRIKE

A strike that tied up the production of motor coaches needed in critical transportation areas since Jan. 3 at the General American Aerocoach company, 135th st. and Brandon av., was settled last night. The 550 strikers voted to return to work after Charles Winters of the war production board tendered a company offer that they process the dispute.

Winters, Capt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail, and Milton Hodson, international representative of United Construction Workers' union, addressed the strikers in a meeting at 133d st. and Houston av.

The walkout was caused by suspension of Louis Klein, a worker, for allegedly "inciting insubordination." Klein also asked the strikers to return and to allow the union grievance committee to negotiate his status.

13,500 DETROIT STRIKERS TOLD TO END WALKOUT

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 26 [Special].—The Detroit regional war labor board today issued a formal order directing 13,500 striking workers in the main Dodge plant of the Chrysler corporation to return to their jobs and resort to established arbitration procedure to settle their dispute with the company.

The dispute grew out of the discharge last week of eight workers whom the company accused of loafing. This action brought on the present walkout, which began Friday, and has halted work on trucks, tanks, robot shells, Bofors guns, and engine parts for B-29 Super Fortresses.

Pickets Bar Workers.

A picket line of 400 men today barred all production workers from the plant. Four hundred maintenance men who had remained on the job over the week-end joined the ranks of the strikers.

Officials of local 3 o. the CIO United Automobile Workers said a mass meeting probably will be called to decide what action will be taken as a result of the WLB order.

A company spokesman said the strike, if continued, threatens to halt production in 13 other Chrysler plants in Detroit and Chicago and put 100,000 men out of work. At the Dodge truck plant here 2,000 workers were sent home today because of the curtailed flow of subassemblies.

Transit Strike in Reading.

Reading Pa., Feb. 26 (AP).—The second transportation tie-up in less than three months entered its second day today and left transit facilities of the Reading Street Railway company paralyzed, forcing thousands to walk and hitch-hike to work.

Approximately 300 employes of the railway company, which serves 90,000 persons in the Lebanon-Reading area, failed to work yesterday.

The action by the members of the Amalgamated Association of Electric Street Railway and Motor Coach Employes [AFL] followed a meeting Saturday before the regional war labor board in Philadelphia, which heard testimony on eight of 22 points on which the company and union were in disagreement.

Strikers Put in 1-A.

Pascagoula, Miss., Feb. 26 (AP).—Leo W. Seal, director of the selective service board of Hancock county, disclosed today that all striking employes of the Ingalls Shipbuilding company who reside in the county were being reclassified into 1-A.

He said that notices of the reclassification would be mailed out tonight. Word from the Jackson county local board said that files were being canvassed for reclassification of strikers in that county.

The strike, called by the AFL metal trades council of Pascagoula, affected some 10,000 workers and virtually paralyzed activity at the huge shipyard, which has been engaged in building vessels and assembling others for the government. F. L. Mancil, president of the trades council, said previously that the strike action was taken because of "delay" by the war labor board in acting on grievances of the union.

PERIL RETURNS TO HIGH WIRE; EX-WIFE BACK

Joins Circus Troupe of Divorced Mate.

She'll do her perilous act in the shadowy heights, trusting again to the perfect control of her divorced husband, Herman, to prevent the Wallenda troupe from hurtling earthward.

Herman's emotions threatened to overcome him last spring while the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus was playing in Madison Square Garden in New York. He and his pretty, young wife had parted.

Foundation for Pyramid.

Yet as a main support for the spectacular high wire act Herman had to pedal a bicycle along the strand of steel 65 feet above the ring and act as a foundation for the three-high human pyramid topped by Elizabeth.

Finally, the nearness of Elizabeth so upset Herman that he no longer felt sure of maintaining perfect balance and Karl Wallenda, head of the troupe, took her out of the act.

But Elizabeth is the only person who can perform a split atop the human pyramid, and Circus President Robert Ringling wanted her back in the act. Herman is married again—to a nonperformer.

"Worried," Says Director.

"We are worried," Karl Wallenda explained. "Herman doesn't want Elizabeth in the act.

"We are arranging the routine so Herman always will have his back toward Elizabeth, and won't see her during the act."

As for Elizabeth . . .

"I asked her if she were in love," Karl related. "She pointed up and said: 'Yes, I am in love. I'm in love with the high wire.'"

LEWIS SERVES 30 DAY NOTICE OF COAL STRIKE

UMC Opens Fight for New Contract.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers policy committee served notice under the Smith-Connally act today of the possibility of a bituminous coal strike in 30 days.

The bituminous contract expires March 31 and negotiations with the operators begin Thursday. The policy committee gathered today to formulate demands for a new contract. The strike notice was the first action of the meeting.

Lewis, in a letter to Secretary of Labor Perkins, notified her that:

"In order to protect our membership under the terms of this act, this letter is now directed to you as formal notice that a labor dispute exists within the meaning of the act, as interpreted by this committee, between the United Mine Workers of America and the bituminous coal operators of this country.

Seized Mines Excluded.

"This notice is not intended to apply to any bituminous coal mine now under governmental seizure and control.

"To the end and for the purpose of procuring a new basic wage agreement for the industry, we will work diligently and forthrightly for the ensuing 30 days to prevent, if possible, any interruption of coal production so vital to the prosecution of the war in which our country is now engaged, and to which we pledge our full devotion."

Lewis issued a bitter denunciation of the Smith-Connally act, which was enacted in the summer of 1943 after Lewis had engaged in strikes over his last contract.

Lewis quoted President Roosevelt as saying on June 25, 1943, that the act, which he vetoed but which was passed over his veto, would "force a labor leader who is trying to prevent a strike in accordance with his no strike pledge, to give the notice which would cause the taking of a strike ballot and might actually precipitate a strike."

"Forced" to Give Notice.

Lewis further quoted the President as saying he was convinced that section 8 of the act "will produce strikes in vital war plants which otherwise would not occur."

The mine leader said that failure to give notice "would make us violators of the law and subject to all its civil and criminal pains and penalties."

"The situation existing today, on the eve of the opening of contract negotiations," Lewis told Miss Perkins, "is one which has been and is being constantly inflamed by those very persons charged with the duty of assisting in the prevention of work stoppages and loss of coal production.

"They border upon a conspiracy to prevent an agreement, bring about seizures and a general chaotic condition in the industry.

"The UMWA cannot and will not silently allow such a situation to arise. We denounce it and call upon the operators and government to cease their hostile actions and to adopt a reasonable coöperative attitude, conducive to obtaining a new contract and a continuous, uninterrupted production of coal.

"This we earnestly desire and hope to achieve."

STRIKE OF 450 ENDS AT CARNEGIE; 2,600 TONS OF STEEL LOST

A strike of 450 employes at the Gary coke plant at the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company, which caused 730 other employes to be sent home for lack of work, was settled yesterday when the strikers voted to return to work at 3 p. m. The vote was taken following pleas by army and navy officers and officials of the United Steel Workers' union [CIO].

The walkout began at 7 a. m. Sunday when a four man crew in the coke plant refused to work because a fifth man had been dropped by the company from the group.

As the strike reached its peak yesterday, with 450 workers out in sympathy, seven blast furnaces at the Gary and the South Chicago works of the company had been shut down and four open hearth furnaces at the two plants had been banked for lack of gas from the coke ovens.

An estimated loss of 2,600 tons of steel will result from the strike before the plants resume normal operation during the next 24 hours, the company said.

$200,000 BLAZE ON SOUTH SIDE TAKES ONE LIFE

One man died as fire swept thru the one story plant of the Indian Trailer corporation at 122 E. 63d st. yesterday afternoon and destroyed many automobile trailers in process of construction. H. L. Bartholomew, president, estimated the minimum loss at $200,000. The dead man was Peter Hartman, 55, of 6407 Blackstone av., a carpenter.

Peter Hartman.

The fire broke out in the paint shop and was discovered by Frank Schramka, 4229 S. Mozart st., a cabinet maker. He shouted an alarm, picked up his tools, and fled. Forty other employes also fled.

One worker, Levi Lund, 50, of 4752 Loomis st., was overcome by smoke, but was revived by firemen.

The fire, feeding on wood, plyboard, and other combustible materials, spread rapidly. Within an hour several sections of the roof had collapsed. A 4-11 alarm was sounded. The Indian Trailer company manufactures automobile trailers for the use of essential workers in critical housing areas.

Barbara Hutton and Film Star Husband Part Again

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 26 (AP).—Barbara Hutton, dime store heiress, and her movie star husband, Cary Grant, disclosed today they have separated a second time.

"After much thought and great consideration, we have decided we can be happier living apart," they said in a joint statement. "As yet no plans have been formed regarding a divorce."

SCHOOLS, THEATERS SWELL POLIO FUND BY $193,000 GIFTS

Contributions from schools and theaters in the Chicago area yesterday swelled by nearly $193,000 the funds of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The theater group gave $140,000 and the Chicago public schools $52,811.

The big theater check was given to Arthur H. Schneider and James J. Doody, co-managers of the Cook county chapter drive, by Maurice M. Rubens, of Balaban & Katz; Jack Kirsch, of Allied Theaters, and John Balaban, representing the general amusement section. The $140,000 represents the first instalment of movie and legitimate theater collections the week of Jan. 25-31.

The $52,811 from the public schools was presented in the form of 1,500 checks to Schneider and Doody by James T. Gaffney, representing James T. McCahey, school board president. The money was contributed by children, teachers, and board employes.

OPA PLANS QUIZ FOR CHICAGOAN ON TRIP TO N. Y.

New York, Feb. 26 [Special].—Albert Greenfield, 38, operator of four Chicago cocktail lounges, was sought for questioning today by OPA officials who intend to ask him how he obtained gasoline ration coupons to drive from Chicago to New York, and how he got a priority to buy the 1942 Cadillac he drove.

The officials sought him in Uptown Traffic court where he was scheduled to appear on charges of driving without a license or a registration card. But he failed to anwer the police summons.

Greenfield was given an adjournment until March 12 on the traffic charges.

PLAN TO CENSURE HOOK FOR HOUSE FIGHT DROPPED

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The house fist fight of Washington's birthday was closed formally today when Rep. Smith [D., Va.] withdrew his resolution proposing censure of Rep. Hook [D., Mich.].

Hook and Rankin [D., Miss.] tangled on the floor after Rankin accused Hook of being "mixed up with" the Communist party, and Hook shouted "liar."

Both men apologized Friday.

ASKS F.D.R. TELL SENATE SECRET FOREIGN POLICY

Butler Assails Results of Yalta Conference.

Big 3 Stand Hit

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—A resolution putting congress on record as denouncing the sellout of Poland at the Yalta conference was offered in the house today by Rep. Barry [R., N. Y.]. The measure, expressing disapproval of the Big Three decision to give Russia the eastern third of Poland, states: "It is the sense of the congress that the frontiers of Poland should be established at the boundary lines which were in effect at the outbreak of the present war." It was referred to the foreign affairs committee.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Assailing the results of the Yalta conference and questioning the efficacy of the Dumbarton Oaks plan to maintain world peace Sen. Butler [R., Neb.] today in the senate called upon President Roosevelt to "give a full accounting to the congress" of the secrets and aims of our foreign policy.

Sen. Butler.

Tho congress has voted the President vast powers and given him a free hand "it has not decided to become another reichstag," said Butler, and "we must know now what our foreign policy is."

Sen. Butler pronounced the "four-way partition of Germany devised by the Big Three at Yalta "a worthless solution based on mutual distrusts," adding that the partition of Germany is a silly and uneconomic proposal which could end badly for us."

Warns of Resentment.

"I want a peace," he said, "in which the Nazis will be severely punished and in which Germany will be held under rigid control, but to adopt any policy which would assure perpetual resentment among the 80 to 90 million people of German stock in central Europe would hand the world another irreconciliable problem."

Butler asserted he favors a world security organization but feared that the Yalta conference and Dumbarton Oaks will create "new antagonisms which would bleed the youth of our nation for generations to come."

"It seems to me," said the senator, "that in the present Dumbarton Oaks proposal we can see the creation of a grandiose super-government under the domination of three men who now, for good or for ill, hold the Jestinies of the world in their hands. I say this advisedly because, under the miscalled compromise agreement suggested by our President at Yalta, no check whatever can be placed in the way of future aggression which may be instituted by any one or all three of these men. Such a condition of affairs, if we allow our government to become a party to it, would be the negation of every principle of freedom for which our ancestors fought and died on the battlefields of former wars.

"Deplorable Philosophy."

"Thruout the meetings since the Moscow conference has run this deplorable philosophy The Russians for example, have stated their unwillingness to be policed except with their own consent, a view which reduces the entire business of world organization to absurdity.

"As a result of the Yalta conference an effort is to be made to bridge this fundamental objection on the par of the soviet union. I understand that the agreement now will be that economic sanctions will be introduced against an aggressor rather than military intervention Economic sanctions are purely worthless, as was proved when Italy moved against Ethiopia."

Except for a vague pronouncement on a world peace league "the sole practical result" of Yalta, said Butler, is an American counter-signing of Stalin's unilateral actions pertaining to Russia's neighbors.

Others Are Liquidated.

"One of these, the Polish republic," he went on, "is to give up a third of its territory to the soviet union and, to judge by the declarations of the Polish government in exile, the balance is to become a puppet state under the complete domination of the Kremlin. The Yalta conference declared that various democratic elements among the Polish people are now to be included in the government.

"The only democratic elements that could be incorporated in the Polish cabinet are those who are now in exile, which Moscow calls the reactionaries. In Poland, itself, all democratic groups have been liquidated or suppressed. In the provisional government at least 10 of the 17 members are Communists. Some of these, including the president, are not even Polish citizens.

"Now we are told that we can control the situation by a gigantic WPA, in which we will endeavor to support the balance of the world with loans and the export of our manufacturing machinery. This is obviously a dangerous and futile approach to our problem."

RADICAL'S JOB IN OSS STIRS STORM IN HOUSE

Investigation of Reds to Open Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Responding to demands from the house floor for a speedy investigation of the army's admission of Communists to secrecy assignments, Chairman May [D., Ky.] of the house military affairs committee today told members a special subcommittee would begin the inquiry tomorrow.

Rep. Rankin [D., Miss.] said the first task of the subcommittee should be scrutiny of a report he had received that "some one in the war department is destroying the records of one time Communists who are being commissioned in the army."

Disclosure of the communistic affiliations of a key official in the office of strategic services provoked wrathful comment from several members of the house. The OSS operates under the joint chiefs of staff and heads the list of hush-hush agencies.

Record Read in House.

Rep. Short [R., Mo.], a member of the military affairs committee, read to the house the communist connections of David Zablodowsky, senior economics editor for the OSS, as revealed in a Tribune article this morning.

He noted that Zablodowsky had been a member of the editorial board of the official organ of the American League Against War and Fascism, branded subversive by Atty. Gen. Biddle.

"What is a Communist doing in this most secretive of government agencies?" Short asked.

"If a man is so communistic that Atty. Gen. Biddle denounces him," remarked Rep. Rankin [D., Miss.], "the cou try certainly ought to get alarmed. If we put such men in key secrecy positions, it is time for the people to arise."

Wants Him Kicked Out.

"I hope the committee's investigation will result in kicking this man off the pay roll," added Rep. Rich [R., Pa.]. "We ought to lock up any one who subscribes to the communistic theories which advocate overthrow of government. I am very much disturbed by this disclosure and the army's new policy removing the distinction between Americans and Communists."

The OSS meanwhile said it knew Zablodowsky's background before employing him and had accepted the decision of the civil service commission declaring him eligible for government employment. Zablodowsky said he was not and never had been a Communist.

"I do not and never have had any interest in conflict with my natural loyalty to this country," he asserted.

Sixty Negroes Sworn as Temporary Police

Sixty Negroes were sworn in as temporary members of the police department yesterday by James McSweeney, police secretary. Capt. Harry Fulmer, in charge of the police training school, said they will be given a short training course before being assigned to the Stanton av., Pekin, Warren av., Maxwell st., and Wabash av. stations.

SEN. HILL DEFENDS USE OF 18 YEAR OLDS IN BATTLE FRONTS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Sen. Hill [D., Ala.] contended today the war department is justified by military necessity in sending 18 year old draftees into combat with eight months of training.

Replying to a demand by Sen. Taft [R., O.] for clarification of army policies, Hill said he was informed the young inductees were shipped overseas only after the army had drained all of the men it could from more experienced divisions.

Taft yesterday cited the case of Pvt. Robert R. Pogue, 18, of Cincinnatti, an intimate friend of the Ohio senator. Taft said Pogue was reported killed in action in France on Feb. 3, a little more than seven months after he had been inducted.

"The war department found it necessary to draw on these youngsters as replacements," Hill told reporters. "In most cases they have been given eight months of training and then placed in battle-tried divisions, where their more experienced comrades could help them in combat."

COUNCIL TO GET $3,940,000 DEBT BOND BILL TODAY

Issuance of $3,940,000 worth of bonds to pay judgments pending against the city will be recommended to the city council today by the finance committee, of which Ald. Bowler [25th], is chairman.

Interest on unpaid judgments has accumulated at the rate of 5 per cent in the last several years, until it now totals $171,500 a year, Bowler told the committee yesterday. The bonds, which would mature Jan. 1, 1950, would bear 1 per cent interest, or $39,400 a year.

The finance committee also voted to recommend the purchase of 25 garbage truck bodies at $2,533 each, to be mounted on chassis previously acquired by the city. A request by Chief Bailiff Albert J. Horan of Municipal court for an $8,000 patrol wagon was approved.

STASSEN TRADES LOVE NOTES WITH MINNESOTA CIO

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26 [Special].—The return to the American political scene of Comdr. Harold Stassen, former Republican governor of Minnesota, as exemplified by his appointment by President Roosevelt as a delegate to the allied nations' conference at San Francisco April 25, is being hailed enthusiastically by the Minnesota CIO.

The current issue of the weekly Minnesota Labor, official organ of the Minnesota state CIO council, features a letter from Stassen extending felicitations to the CIO for its "excellent record" in not stopping work during the war and quotes Sander Genis, Minnesota CIO president, as wishing Stassen "all the success in the world on his new mission."

Relations between Stassen and the CIO in Minnesota were not always friendly during the former governor's political career in that state, but the CIO backed him officially in 1942 when he ran for reëlection, stating he had taken the correct position on America's participation in world affairs to build for lasting peace. Stassen is an advocate of incorporation of the United States into a world superstate.

Confirms Previous Beliefs.

The buildup for Stassen launched in the current Minnesota Labor is regarded here as additional confirmation of reports from Washington that Stassen has been given the Presidential nod as the fair haired Republican of the Roosevelt administration, succeeding the late Wendell Willkie.

Words of praise for Stassen were interspersed in the CIO newspaper with denunciation for state Republican leaders who have refused to go along with the former governor on his world state ideas. Roy E. Dunn, Republican national committeeman, was described as pursuing "a narrow, isolationist policy" and denounced for "failing to show a capacity to understand world problems."

"The CIO showed in the campaign last fall that it could and did support good men of either party who rose above narrow partisanship to support American participation in world affairs in peace as well as in war," the CIO organ stated in an editorial.

Praises CIO Workers.

Stassen's letter to Genis, which the paper reproduced in the center of its front page, was written last Dec. 3 when the former governor was on duty in the Pacific as assistant chief of staff to Adm. Halsey.

"Dear Sander," Stassen wrote, "I have been pleased to note in newspaper stories I have received that the Minnesota CIO is continuing their excellent record of not stopping work during the war. Minnesota labor has a superb record in this respect and I am proud of it.

"I take pains to point out at times when the subject comes up in informal conversations that the instances of work stoppages are not representative of labor as a whole. Most of labor is keenly aware of how much we need supplies of every kind on time out here when the chips are down."

Stassen concluded the letter with a request that his regards be given to mutual acquaintances, "including those who used to cuss me out occasionally."

March 9 Is Proclaimed as Fort Dearborn Day

Mayor Kelly yesterday proclaimed Friday, March 9, as Fort Dearborn day for the celebration of the 142d anniversary of the establishment of the first settlement in Chicago. Civic groups are planning special ceremonies and the mayor requested residents to display the American flag from their homes and business buildings.

UNRRA PLEDGES 'LIMITED' RELIEF TO WEST EUROPE

Aid Depends on Ships Made Available.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The united nations relief and rehabilitation administration voted tonight to make "limited emergency relief supplies" available to the most devastated districts of France, Belgium, Luxemburg, the Netherlands, and Norway.

Director General Lehman indicated that the UNRRA hopes to obtain for emergency distribution in those areas some supplies now stockpiled in Britain which the British government may be willing to release.

There had been criticism here and abroad of failure to supply more relief to the liberated nations.

Depends on Shipping.

Lehman could not give categorical assurances at a press conference that tonight's decision will mean food in the mouths of hungry Europeans. He said that everything depends on shipping being made available, and also on the coöperation of countries such as the United States and Britain, which control the needed resources.

The UNRRA director general disclosed that he had warned the allied shipping board, composed of representatives of the United States and Britain, that "failure to furnish civilian supplies may, in my opinion, lead to serious military and political implications."

Must Request Aid.

The countries of western Europe hitherto have not received supplies thru the UNRRA, since they have funds to purchase directly from supplying countries. But their independent programs have failed to provide adequate relief.

Even with today's action, it still remains for the western European countries to request UNRRA help. Lehman emphasized that even those supplies obtainable in Britain would require cross-channel transportation. Beyond that, he said, is the problem of inland transport.

DISMISS GAMBLING CHARGES.

Gambling charges against Ben Miller, 46, of 629 Stratford pl.; Albert Lewis, 42, of 3838 Broadway, and David Bennett, 43, of 6808 Wayne av., who were arrested Friday in a private home at 756 Waveland av., were dismissed yesterday by Judge Jay A. Schiller in South State st. court.

MAYOR, HEWITT TO MAKE 2 PLEAS IN WASHINGTON

Mayor Kelly and Public Works Commissioner Hewitt will leave today for Washington, D. C., where they will ask for priorities to construct a temporary terminal building at Chicago airport and for federal funds for post-war improvements.

The two city officials will appear before the senate committee on appropriations, headed by Sen. McKellar [D., Tenn.], to ask that Chicago be given an equitable share of government money to be allotted to cities for post-war projects.

They will ask War Mobilization Director Byrnes for priorities on materials needed in the construction of the $420,000 air terminal.

MRS. F. D. R. ASKS 'COMMON SENSE' ABOUT FAMILY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today recommended that "common sense" determine the size of a family.

Answering a question of a reporter representing the National Catholic Welfare Council News Service, Mrs. Roosevelt said that in a news conference discussion last week she did not mention birth control.

Mrs. Roosevelt explained she thinks large families are fine, providing each child has enough to eat and decent chances for upbringing. She said that she believed the Catholic church agrees with her feeling that the mother's health is important.

"I've had six children," the President's wife said. "If I had 12 children, or even 25, they probably would have had enough to eat and decent care."

"My church never has taken a stand, so far as I know," she said, "against people using common sense in determining the size of their family." Mrs. Roosevelt attends the Episcopal church.

TWO COUNTY POLICE LIEUTENANTS OUSTED FOR SLOT MACHINES

Lt. John Burns [top] and Lt. Peter Madura.

Chief John J. McGinnis of the county highway police said yesterday that he had suspended Lt. Peter Madura of Willow Springs station and Lt. John Burns of Morton Grove station for neglect of duty.

Chief McGinnis said he visited Madura's district Saturday and found four slot machines in the vicinity of 95th st. and Southwest highway. The suspension of Burns occurred a week ago, McGinnis disclosed, when he found nine slot machines in Wheeling, Burns' territory.

Sgts. John Cappelletti and Roy Friello have been appointed acting lieutenants to succeed Madura and Burns, respectively.

Cold to Continue Today; Drop to 10 Is Expected

The cold wave will continue today with a low recording of 10 degrees expected in the morning, according to Forecaster Gordon A. Dunn. Altho the day should prove fair the temperature will not go above 28 degrees, he predicted yesterday. Tomorrow is expected to bring a little rain or snow with somewhat warmer temperatures, he said.

4 GUNMEN HOLD UP 4 PLACES IN TWO HOURS

Four young gunmen, all wearing jackets, committed four robberies within two hours on the west side last night. Three wore leather jackets, one a cloth jacket.

They first entered the Jones & Faulkner auto sales rooms, 3717 N. Western av., held up Harvey Faulkner, an owner, and escaped with $65 and his sedan. Next they held up Mrs. Royetta Vander Molen in her tavern at 2923 Armitage av., and took $75 from her, and $20 from two patrons.

Next the hoodlums visited Bruno Adamski's tavern at 3201 Grand av., forced him to kneel on the floor, and robbed him of $75. From one of eight patrons they took $8. As they left, one hoodlum fired a warning shot. Soon afterward the quartet held up Herbert Jaral, 1517 Millard av., manager, in the tavern at 3408 W. 16th st. They took $100 from him, and $40 from the till.

PROPOSE PLAN TO END DRAFT IN TEXTILE MILLS

New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 26 [Special].—Conferees who met with Gov. Tobin to discuss the war man power commission's strenuously opposed labor draft in the textile industry today worked out a plan whereby fine goods manufacturers would produce 100,000 pounds of tire yarn weekly. No details of the plan were disclosed.

The move would reduce substantially the number of workers needed in tire cord factories here. The current storm of labor trouble resulted from the WMC's effort, "temporarily unsuccessful," to compel textile workers to take jobs in the cord plants or be fired from their present jobs.

JURY BRIBERY PLOT REVEALED; 105 ARE QUIZZED

Police of the states attorney's office yesterday sought two men who approached at least six members of a Criminal court jury venire in an attempt to bribe them to return a verdict of acquittal in the trial of Daniel McGeogehan, 49, charged with the $60,000 robbery of the State Bank of Clearing 14 years ago. The trial, scheduled to start yesterday, was continued until March 5 because of the illness of one of McGeogehan's lawyers.

Chief Justice Harold G. Ward questioned individually 105 veniremen after first announcing that a woman member reported to him that she had been approached with a bribe offer.

Substantial Bribes Offered.

After the questioning, he said, at least six veniremen had been approached by two different men and promised "substantial sums" if they voted to release McGeogehan. The potential jurors were approached in their homes and outside of the Criminal Court building, Judge Ward said.

McGeogehan was scheduled for trial before Judge John Prystalski. The convict was arrested Dec. 26 after being released from the Indiana penitentiary at Michigan City, where he served 12 years on another bank robbery charge. After his arrest, McGeogehan told the court he had no money and requested the appointment of a public defender.

A lawyer was appointed, but McGeogehan dismissed him and hired two criminal attorneys, George M. Crane and James M. Burke. Upon Burke's plea that he was ill, the trial was continued.

Court Thanks Veniremen.

Justice Ward later said that the attempt to bribe the jury panel had been unsuccessful; the bribe offer was refused promptly in every instance. The court thanked the veniremen's members for coöperating in the inquiry.

Asst. State's Atty. Crowley said when the identity of the two bribery agents is ascertained there will be speedy prosecution. Descriptions of the two men were furnished by the veniremen.

Largest Zion Burglary in 10 Years Totals $8,500

Clothing valued at $8,500 was stolen yesterday from the Friend & Eckheart store at Sheridan rd. and 27th st., in Zion. It was the largest burglary in Zion in at least 10 years, Police Chief Alven Ruesch said.

JOHN E. WARNER SAYS "Too Late!"

Don't wait until it is too late to save your hair as this man did. His case was rejected for treatment, as many others have been, because hair once lost can never be regrown. Consult John E. Warner and Associates while you still have hair to save.

There is no charge or obligation for a private scalp examination and consultation. Fees for treatment are moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken, not in advance. There are separate departments for men and women.

Let's all refresh... Have a Coca-Cola

...or being friendly along the way

The spirit of camaraderie of the open road is summed up in the three words Have a Coke. At stops, everyone steps up to the familiar red cooler for the friendly refreshment of ice-cold Coca-Cola. America's streets and highways are dotted with such places that invite you to pause and refresh with a Coke. Wherever you go, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes, —a symbol of friendly refreshment.

You naturally hear Coca-Cola called by its friendly abbreviation "Coke". Both mean the quality product of The Coca-Cola Company.

SGT. R. N. LEIDER KILLED BOMBING NAZIS 24TH TIME

Red Cross Reports Death of Missing Flyer.

TECH. SGT. ROLAND N. LEIDER, 20, B-17 squadron radio operator, was killed in action on his 24th mission over Germany, his parents,

Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Leider, 4415 Ainslie st., have been informed by the International Red Cross. The United States war department had reported him missing. Sgt. Leider, a graduate of Von Steuben High school who attended Wright Junior college before enlisting in the army air forces in 1943, had received the air medal with two oak leaf clusters.

LT. ROBERT C. WALLACE, 21, Bureau, Bureau county, was killed in action Feb. 5 in Italy, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wallace, have been notified.

He was commissioned on the battlefield after being wounded and decorated for bravery. He formerly lived in Riverdale and attended Morgan Park Military academy. He enlisted in February, 1944.

PVT. FRANK. R. HARMON, 19, previously reported missing in action, was killed Dec. 24 in Belgium, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Harmon, 7705 Eberhart av., have been notified. He was with the 82d air borne division. His father is assistant coal traffic manager for the Chesapeake and Ohio railway. Memorial services will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday in Wakefield Methodist church, 76th st. and St. Lawrence av.

SGT. PRIMO DELLA VEDOVA, 20, of 3448 Carroll av., died of wounds received in action in France Feb. 8, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Della Vedova, have been advised. He was graduated from Crane Technical High school in 1942, and entered the army two years ago.

LT. WILLIAM F. MATSON, who was captured when the Japanese seized Manila, perished in the sinking of a Japanese freighter by American torpedoes off Mindanao last September, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Matson, 438 N. Sawyer av., were notified yesterday. Several hundred Yanks, who were being moved to Japan from the Philippines, also were reported to have died. Lt. Matson, 27, had been in the army since March, 1941.

PVT. GEORGE M. RUDOLPHY, 19, reported missing in action in the European theater on Oct. 19, is a prisoner in Germany, he has informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Rudolphy, 626 Waveland av. On a card mailed from a prison camp, Pvt. Rudolphy wrote, "Maybe I'll be home by Easter."

PVT. BRYAN PATTERSON, 35, of 5213 Blackstone av., is missing in action in Belgium, his wife, Bernice, has been informed. He is on leave from the Chicago natural history museum where he was curator of paleontology before he entered the army in October, 1943. Recently he was reported hospitalized for wounds received in action.

SGT. PRESTON V. SEAL, 20, of 3808 N. Avers av., previously reported missing in action in Germany Dec. 19, is a prisoner of war in Germany, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert V. Seal, were advised yesterday. Sgt. Seal, a graduate of Lane Technical High school, was a student at Northwestern university at the time of his induction two years ago.

TWO Purple Hearts awarded posthumously to sons killed in action have been received by Anthony Slauter, 1436 S. 49th ct., Cicero. Pvt. John R., 29, was killed Nov. 30 in France; his brother, Pvt. Peter, was killed July 30, 1943, on New Guinea.

MEDAL AWARDED TO ZION SOLDIER KILLED IN ACTION

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The war department today announced the posthumous award of the silver star to Pvt. John W. Connell, an infantryman whose mother, Mrs. Lily Connell, lives at 3008 Elim av., Zion, Ill. His citation said:

"On June 24, 1944, on Saipan, when the platoon of which he was a member was taken under heavy crossfire from enemy machine guns, altho wounded, he indicated to his platoon sergeant the location of these positions and delivered his own rifle fire upon them. In so doing, he drew upon himself enemy crossfire, causing additional wounds which proved to be fatal."

COUNCIL READY TO O. K. TRANSIT DISTRICT TODAY

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Chicago's city council is expected to act favorably today on a resolution indorsing public traction ownership and authorizing Mayor Kelly to proceed with a plan, agreed on by him and Gov. Green, to establish a county-wide metropolitan transit district. The aldermen also are expected to vote for an offer of about 87 million dollars by the city for the surface and elevated lines, which would be the nucleus of the new traction setup.

The offer, contingent upon the district being able to borrow the purchase money by selling revenue certificates secured only by earnings, is to be filed tomorrow with the federal District court, which is in charge of both companies in bankruptcy. A similar offer was filed last year, but was withdrawn.

Mayor Reports Agreement.

Mayor Kelly attended a meeting of the council committee on local transportation yesterday and gave its members some facts and views on traction. He said he had consulted the governor several times, that they were agreed on the transit district idea and that the district must not have taxing power.

It was conceded, the mayor continued, that private ownership could not handle the job of modernizing Chicago transit and that the "Kelly-Green organization" approach to the problem was feasible.

Referring to the provision that the revised traction system should be regulated by a commission, four members to be appointed by the mayor and three by the governor, Mayor Kelly said there could be no doubt the members would be good men—that the financial community would want a voice in management before it would lend the needed funds.

Kelly Pledges "No Politics."

He pledged again there would be no politics in the management. He stressed the point that a public ownership status would "help us to get federal money in the post-war era." Suburbs, he said, could come into the district or stay out, at their own option.

The city's purchase offer would be divided: 75 millions to the surface lines and a little more than 12 millions for the elevated. Judge Michael L. Igoe and the surface and "L" trustees are working on a privately owned unification, which the judge has said will be helpful in bringing about municipal ownership when its plan is completed.

3½ BLOCK TAXI TRIP HELD MANN ACT VIOLATION

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The Supreme court divided, 6 to 2, today to rule that a girl's 3½ block taxicab ride in the District of Columbia for prostitution purposes violated the Mann white slave act.

At issue was whether the Mann act applies to transportation solely within the district, as opposed to transportation across state lines. In saying that the law applies to the district, the high court reversed the Circuit Court of Appeals. Joining in the majority ruling were Justices Stone, Rutledge, Reed, Frankfurter, Douglas, and Jackson. Justices Murphy and Black dissented and Justice Roberts did not participate.

DRAMA ON RADIO CALLS WORKERS TO SHORTEN WAR

In one battle on one small sector of the Italian battle front, a company of 150 howitzers recently tossed six shells per minute into German installations for 16 consecutive hours.

In those 16 hours, according to official records of the army, that single company used up more cartridge cases, more ammunition than the Ingersoll Steel and Disc company, one of the nation's major manufacturers of howitzer shells, has produced in its two best months of production.

This dramatic story of why America must keep her war production rate on a constantly increasing level was told last night in the fourth of a series of radio programs presented by station W-G-N.

Lesson to War Workers.

The series, American Unlimited, is designed to show American workers how they can help shorten the war and save the lives of countless allied soldiers by obtaining jobs in essential industries.

Last night's program told the story of the Ingersoll plant, located at 1000 W. 120th st., and its problems in producing howitzer shells, wheels, and clutch plates for jeeps, trucks, gun carriages, and tanks, and more than 700 kinds of discs for farm use the world over. The company is in need of an unlimited supply of unskilled workers and many rolling mill hands.

The Ingersoll plant, a division of the Borg-Warner corporation, was a major producer of farm implements in peace time and, as the program pointed out, will provide permanent jobs for many workers after the war.

Tribune Coöperates with U. S.

The series of programs is presented by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, radio station W-G-N, and leading war industries, in coöperation with the army, navy, and federal war agencies.

Subsequent programs, showing in dramatic form the problems of other war plants, will be broadcast from 9 to 9:30 o'clock each Monday night over W-G-N.

The script for the fourth program was written by Sherman Dryer, with original music by Robert Trendler. Other companies participating in the series are the Republic Steel company, Pressed Steel Car company, Aluminum Company of America, whose story will be presented next week; Electro-Motive division of General Motors, Western Electric, Buda company, and Hallicrafters company.

HEALTH BOARD WATCHES HOTEL FOR JAMAICANS

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, reported yesterday the department is keeping a close watch on the Carver hotel, 2969 Vernon av., where 500 Jamaicans are boarding temporarily after their importation here to help offset the man power shortage. Outbreaks of sickness have invalided many of the workers, and 27 have mumps, seven have chicken pox, and and several contracted pneumonia and other respiratory diseases. Health, food, and sanitary inspectors visit the hotel each day, Dr. Bundesen said.

MacLEISH ON POLAND.

Assistant Secretary of State Archibald MacLeish undertook in a radio program on Saturday evening to defend the decisions of the Yalta conference on Poland's future. Poland's new eastern boundary was not unjust, he argued, because in the territory assigned to Russia there are fewer Poles than there are Russians, Ukrainians, and others.

The argument is thoroly dishonest. It so happens that in the area in question there are more Poles than there are either Ukrainians or White Russians, but that isn't the main point. Much more important is the possibility amounting to a high probability that the great majority of the people concerned, no matter what language they speak, would rather take their chances with Poland than to live under Stalin's tyranny. Their wishes are not being consulted, in direct and flagrant violation of the Atlantic Charter.

Nor is that the worst of it. There is to be something called an independent Poland west of the Curzon line, but the settlement of Yalta gives little reason to suppose that this Poland will be in any real sense independent. Its temporary government is to be the communist dominated group assembled under Stalin's auspices at Lublin, with some admixture of other Poles if any can be found to accept the appointment.

This temporary government is to be replaced as soon as possible, the Yalta conference agreed, with a new government to be selected in free elections, by a secret ballot; but the temporary government, predominantly Communist, will be in command thruout the electoral campaign. As there has never been a free election under the soviets in Russia, it is difficult to believe that soviet sponsorship can produce a free election in Poland, particularly as the Red army will be in possession of the country.

Will the Russians permit non-Communists and anti-Communists to publish their appeals in the press and on the radio? Will Stalin grant freedom of speech to Polish leaders who were associated with the London government in exile and with its underground organization in Poland? Not as long as he is the same Stalin who called these people traitors, fascists, and tools of Hitler.

Mr. MacLeish is seeking to confuse the American people by pretending that the main issue is the fixing of Poland's eastern boundary. In truth, the main issue is the independence of whatever remains of Poland.

The scheme concocted at Yalta is, of course, in direct violation of the letter and spirit of the Atlantic Charter. It is said that those who denounced the charter as a confidence game at the time it was issued have no right now to cite it against the Big Three. On the contrary, when we and others scoffed at the charter it was not because of the principles it proclaimed, which are sound enough, but because it was evident that neither Mr. Roosevelt nor Mr. Churchill meant to abide by them.

The decision of the Yalta conference prove we were right.

BUILDING ANEW.

Those who read David Darrah's account of the havoc wrought by war in the great French port of Brest were naturally moved to sympathy for the people of that desolated city. Mr. Darrah estimated that 80 per cent of all dwellings in Brest and its suburbs were destroyed. One-third of the city's former population of 120,000 has returned to take up life in temporary wooden barracks. It is thought that two years will be required to clear the ruins and another five to rebuild the city.

Enemy propaganda has sought to arouse French hostility against the allies, and particularly Americans, because of this damage. Evidently the first heavy raid upon the city was misdirected and the greatest weight of bombs fell upon residential areas. But the French will remind themselves that the city was held in strength by the Germans for three months after the Normandy invasion, and that there necessarily was a price in liberating France.

As Mr. Darrah points out, there are compensations that go with the destruction of war. In 10 years or less, there will be a new Brest. A modern city worthy of one of the great water gates to France will rise on the site of the old. It will be a better city than its predecessors. Much of the housing on the continent has long been obsolete by present-day standards, and the new dwellings that will be erected can offer Frenchmen comforts and conveniences they did not have before.

Historic monuments, of course, are irreplaceable, but substandard housing is expendable. It is to be hoped that the task of building a better France on the ruins of Brest and other heavily damaged cities will summon the energies of Frenchmen so wholly that there will be little time to repine over the recent, unhappy past.

SPECULATION TAXES.

Marriner C. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, appearing before the senate banking committee a week ago to urge the passage of a bill cutting the gold backing of the dollar, was drawn into a discussion of inflation. He reported that stocks had gone up 80 per cent, urban homes, 40 to 50 per cent, and farms, 60 per cent during the war. Mr. Eccles said that the G. I. bill of rights led soldiers and sailors to contemplate buying homes, and that congress has a duty to see that the service men do not have to pay inflated prices for them.

His plan to head off further advances in the prices of stocks, homes, and farms is a speculation tax. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau at his press conference on Thursday said that he was in agreement with Eccles about taxing speculative profits. Others, referred to as "government officials," gave out the details. The present plans call for a tax of 90 per cent of the profit on property sold within two years after purchase. This would be graduated downward at the rate of 10 per cent a year.

No sensible person wants inflation. If a tax on speculation such as that suggested would restrain the rise of prices, without producing other and adverse results, it should be quickly put into effect. Experience, however, teaches that prices rise when there are large amounts of funds available for investment and limited supplies of property for sale. A punitive tax on speculation would not reduce the quantity of idle money. Furthermore, it would not increase but would reduce the amount of property for sale.

A hundred shares of General Motors bought at 30 in 1941 would produce a profit of $4,000 if it were sold for 70. At the current capital gains tax rate of 25 per cent, there would be a profit of $3,000 after taxes. If the rate were 90 per cent, the profit after taxes would be only $400. Certainly more people would be tempted to sell to reap a profit of $3,000 than if it were $400. The supply of stock would be cut down by the higher rate, and that would mean that prices would rise faster.

It is now generally recognized that the tax on capital gains, altho much lower than the rate now suggested, discouraged people from selling securities during the boom of the '20s. Investors and speculators with large profits were unwilling to liquidate, taxes being what they were. The capital gains tax removed an important check on soaring prices by discouraging the selling of securities by investors when the prices had advanced.

Mr. Eccles thought that his brain child would help the G. I. get a home at a moderate price. Real estate values are affected by supply and demand in exactly the same way that stock values are. A man who bought a home for $10,000 a couple of years ago may be willing to sell it for $15,000 now with a 25 per cent tax rate on his profit. If the government demands 90 per cent of the profit, the house isn't going to be sold. The tax which Mr. Eccles and Mr. Morgenthau advocate to prevent inflation would make it inevitable.

EXPERT OPINION ON BRETTON WOODS.

On Feb. 17, Sen. Wagner, chairman of the senate banking and currency committee, and his opposite in the house, Congressman Spence, gave out a statement that 200 leading economists of the country were in favor of the adoption of the international monetary and banking plan as agreed upon at Bretton Woods last summer. It was said that a poll by questionnaire was being conducted among leading economists and that 90 per cent of those who had already answered were for immediate congressional approval of the plan as formulated.

Among those mentioned as sponsoring Bretton Woods were some who had never previously shown any indications of being interested in monetary affairs, let alone having any specialized knowledge on the subject. Many of the others had been employed from time to time on New Deal projects.

A few days after this poll was made public, the Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy sent a telegraphic inquiry on the same subject to 69 of its members who were in a position to be reached by wire. This group includes nearly all the important economists of the country who, year in and year out, specialize in monetary affairs. They are our real money experts. Of the 61 who replied, 37 favored the rejection of the international monetary plan, nine approved, and eight approved provided there are modifications. On the question of the companion institution, the one to make loans for reconstruction and post-war development, five favored outright rejection, 13 approved without qualification, and 37 approved provided there are modifications.

Thus the story given out at Washington by Senator Wagner and Congressman Spence contained a considerable misrepresentation. The 200 economists who support Bretton Woods were not 200 chosen at random as in sampling or 200 chosen because of their specialized knowledge. More likely they were 200 members whose views were known in advance. Two hundred is only 1/20 of the members of the American Economic association. It would be strange if that many persons in so large a number could not be found to support Bretton Woods or, for that matter, communism, outright inflation, or free love.

But more important than the mere numbers is specialized knowledge and experience. The real experts on monetary policy in the United States, like the bankers, are against the Bretton Woods monetary scheme and are willing to accept the international bank only if the proposed plan is modified.

Sen. Wagner's pollers weren't looking for guidance. They were seeking yes men for propaganda purposes. Thirty men of the economists' national committee did not receive questionnaires and four did not recall that they had.

Congress will be well advised to go into the subject thoroly and seek assistance from well qualified people. It can feel perfectly free to reject Bretton Woods in its entirety or to modify it as it sees fit. There have been no hard and fast commitments. The President made that clear in his letter of instructions to the delegates at Bretton Woods when he said that any proposals reached would "not be binding, either morally or legally, upon the governments represented."

"THE BIGGER THEY ARE—"

Japanese soldiers whose burial requires the classic six feet of earth—a last domicile allotted by King Harold of England to an eminent invader—have been reported from the war zones of the Pacific. Such discoveries have been fairly frequent on Iwo Island. The average height of the Japanese male is 5 feet 3½ inches; these six-footers therefore arouse curiosity.

There is a greater uniformity of racial type among the inhabitants of Nippon than among Europeans, and the six-footers who sprout up head and shoulders above the masses of short-legged, close-coupled natives are worth studying. Prof. Frederick Starr, a legendary character of the University of Chicago [old style], may have given the matter some attention, for he was a shark in Japanese anthropology, but if so, he didn't mention it when we were among his disciples. It is our opinion, however, that these tall Japs appear in a frequency of about one in 1,000, or less.

We also believe that they are neither biological "sports" [eccentric deviations from normal type] nor representatives of some obscure strain in the mixed racial pedigree of Nippon. We doubt if they come from any particular district. It is our hunch that they are by-products of selective breeding in the ancient guild of Japanese wrestlers.

* * *

The Japanese professional wrestlers, like our own, are monstrous fellows; they run to 300 pounds or more in weight, with height enough to carry this bulk lightly. The game, which is not jujitsu but close to our catch-as-catch-can, has been fostered in Japan for many centuries, and its practitioners have run in families, no doubt, like Anglo-American actors. The heads of such families would give as much attention to the breeding of giants as Jap gardeners have given to the dwarfing of trees.

In the 1890s a Japanese wrestler named Matsada Korakichi, according to our memory, competed in this country. We forget his height, weight, and record, but he was popular enough to become a character in the cigaret picture collection of our boyhood. We offer him to the sports columnists. We seem to remember that Matsada lost a match in Chicago because his opponent held his foot over a ringside kerosene lamp until he surrendered.

* * *

Anyway, George Ade said it first about these oversized Japs: "The bigger they are, the harder they fall."

A tower of song with lofty parapet
You set yourself to build when you were young,
But thru the years you strove in vain to set
In words the music that your soul had sung.
Your onerous duties irked you many times,
Or happy life left art but little room.
Your thoughts fell lightly into pleasant rhymes;
Rich organ notes your lyre could not assume.

But Hiawatha's birch bark ever glides;
Evangeline's sad story moves to tears.
In quoted verses much-prized truth resides;
Our household poet's fame grows with the years.
"Sail on," you urged our youthful Ship of State;
With it you sail, and like it you are great.

Why Artists Are Nervous.

Loose bulls are the Enemy No. 1 of landscape painters. Connecticut law says they must be kept penned in, so while sketching on a Berkshire hillside one isn't too concerned about a herd of cows trying to lick fresh paint off palette and canvas. Sharp blows are laid on pink noses with a heavy brush, and pink noses retreat—except that of a late comer. Yes, old Bill Taurus himself, glaring balefully at a scared artist from under a frightful pair of horns.

In such dilemmas we are told to stay motionless—to freeze. Well, with central refrigeration suddenly installed in the spine, freezing is no trouble at all. Painter and bull stand almost nose to nose, painter with upraised brush and palette extended defensively, Taurus pouring out thousand watt glares. His cows, gentle creatures, hasten away from the fatal scene and leave scared painter facing ferocious bull on lonely hillside.

Time merges into ages, but paralysis holds one rigid. Now Taurus, not remitting a glare, moves slowly backward, getting set for the charge. This is it! But where are the visions of past misdeeds one has at lethal moments? All one sees is a too far away fence and a too utterly close bull, and absurdly recalls there is to be spring shad roe for dinner—shad roe, brother! But, you won't be there!

Taut nerves almost scream with suspense as Taurus lowers his head and snorts horribly. Now the goring, goreful end approaches—close your eyes-ez-z-z-z . . .

Sorry to disappoint you. At that point a farmer appeared and planted a hefty boot in the enemy's second stomach. Bellowing with frustration, Taurus hightailed down the valley—the big sissy!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Dr. Irving S. Cutter

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BURSITIS, OR "FROZEN SHOULDER."

RECENTLY we discussed a peculiar type of shoulder pain, brought on by inflammation of certain nerve roots [radiculitis]. Many victims of discomfort in this area wrote for further information. But as the malady is rather uncommon, we believe that the great majority of these individuals are suffering from an entirely different disorder — namely, bursitis.

Any part of the body where there is continued friction is likely to be protected by small cushions called "bursae." They are made of fibrous material and are filled with serous fluid which acts as a lubricant. The knees and shoulders, for example, have them normally. But other places acquire them artificially. Usually they appear over bony prominences.

Chronic irritation from pressure may cause inflammation of one of these structures. As a result the bursa adheres to surrounding tissues by means of adhesions. When the parts are moved these bands pull and tug, thus producing excruciating distress. If a shoulder pad is involved, the arm cannot be moved without suffering. The condition is popularly termed "frozen shoulder."

Diagnosis may be difficult as the ailment may simulate other diseases. Soreness frequently radiates down the arm, up into the neck, and to the back, as in neuritis. Aching may disappear in time, leaving marked loss of function. There may be wasting of the muscles, and the hand may swell as it does in some forms of arthritis. Now and then a bursa may become calcified [hardened by lime deposits] and then tender points on the shoulder become more acute. An X-ray picture will show changes in the bones of the shoulder girdle.

Three to 16 months may be required to restore power, depending on the degree of limitation of function, the extent of muscle deterioration, and the duration of the symptoms. Most important of all, however, is the patient's willingness to coöperate. At best it is a dull and tedious process.

Hospitalization promotes recovery. Bed rest, with the arm in suspension, may be indicated. Traction is carried out, followed by manipulative procedures designed to break up the adhesions. In severe cases it may be necessary to divide the adhesions surgically. Long wave radiation has been found valuable in some instances.

After leaving the hospital the patient carries out the prescribed exercises at home, returning at short intervals for further physiotherapy treatments. In the meantime he must be careful to avoid chilling, especially of the painful sites. Everything that he can do to build resistance will speed convalescence.

VISUAL PRANKS.

H. K. writes: Sometimes the room or the scenery appears to move back and forth. Is this a sign of anything?

REPLY.

Yes, it may mean that glasses are needed. The condition is also seen in diabetes, thyroid disturbances, and, occasionally, in retinal detachment. This is not to be confused with the movement of scenery from side to side.

MEATLESS.

M. T. writes: I have always wanted to become a vegetarian and, now that meat is scarce, I think this is a nice time to start. Kindly tell me how to go about it.

REPLY.

I am not in favor of this change because protein is esesntial in body nutrition. However, the outstanding vegetables containing small amounts of this element are peas, beans, and others in the legume family. Since most foods are rationed, why not leave well enough alone?

SELDOM DANGEROUS.

M. M. writes: We received word from the war department that my brother is in the hospital with trench foot. Is this a serious ailment?

REPLY.

Most cases recover completely. The outcome is similar to frostbite.

DISTURBED SLEEP.

T. H. writes: I have the habit of sleeping on my back. Also, I have nightmares. Is my posture responsible?

REPLY.

It probably is but other conditions may share the responsibility.

He Wanted Order.

[Reprinted by request.]

The mustached little man scowled as he confronted his neighbor. He was worried and perplexed and highly nervous, but then he had always been an excitable little man. He began to talk, in that foaming lava talk of his, that high, hysterical shriek that some of the people thought so magnetic, and as he talked, he seemed to become more and more frightened. It wasn't what he said. It was what he neglected to say.

"Everything is possible," he shrieked with his typical dogmatism. "But that I should lose my nerve is impossible."*

"But it wasn't anything," the little man protested. "Not at the beginning. All I wanted was order. The new order, I called it. Remember?"

"Yeah," his neighbor said. "Yeah."

It was those horrible autumn leaves, the little man went on. He couldn't bear the sight of them, dry, brown, making an unsightly mess of the fine winter grass he had set in.

"No one ever told you of the good in dead leaves?" the other asked. "How they enrich the soil? How out of the dead comes life?"

"No!" screamed the first, and you knew from his frantic denial that it must sometimes haunt his dreams.

So he had raked up all the autumn leaves and had his children help him and when they were in one great pile, he set fire to them. The fire was a lovely thing, and the children yelped in glee as its flames rose high. But they were not high enough, so he hurried into the house and brought out all that cluttered it. Into the flame he tossed his son's toys and his daughter's dolls and the prie-dieu from his wife's bedroom. "Myths," he snorted. "Weaknesses, all of them."

But still the flames were not high enough, and he sent the children out to round up the neighbor children. Back they came with their dolls and their toys and the prie-dieux from their mothers' bedrooms. And the flames licked even higher, but not high enough. So the little man went back into his house, to the library, and from its shelves he pulled the books of all who disagreed with him and of all for whom, because they were greater than he, he had only contempt. Into the pyre went Flavius Josephus, because of his race, and the Bible, because of The Word, and the writings of all men who thought men brothers.

Here now was a mighty fire, and the words went up as quickly as the burnt leaves in a flame as red as blood, and the children capered and danced with their legs unbent at the knees, but the little man was insatiate. He peered into the bushes on the edge of the darkness and saw what he considered rubble. "Get it, too!" he screamed, and the children did. He looked into the alley and saw more. "Get it, too!" he screamed, and the children did. He peered over his neighbors' fences and under his neighbors' beds and whatever he saw that he disliked, that, too, he tossed into the flame. The neighbors protested, but the little man outwitted them, for his foray was unexpected and tinged with madness and they thought to soothe him with the gift of an old bed or two.

And now the flame was so high it licked the branches of the trees and leaped to the right, to the left, to the east to the west, to the roofs of the neighbors' houses. The little man smiled. A good riddance. They long had spoiled his view. But soon the flames spread to the block beyond, and the town beyond, and the country beyond, and then the world was on fire. Only the little man's house, lined with ersatz asbestos and surrounded by the charred shells of those of his neighbors, stood unscathed.

And then the wind changed.

"That I should lose my nerve is impossible,"* the little man repeated, "but," and his voice rose to a knife-blade shriek, "the flame is sweeping back my way!"

FOR A FREE CITY COLLEGE.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—A bill to permit Chicago to operate a four year free college has been introduced in the Illinois legislature by Rep. Elroy Sandquist. Unless such an enabling bill is passed, Chicago cannot open a city college. Chicago has been enriched by the three branches of the city junior college. A college offering a four year course could contribute even more.

Private colleges already established in the city need not fear a municipal college. There would still be room for the job they are doing. But a free city college would be filled with students who cannot afford tuition in the private institutions.

Altho there is a free state university in Urbana, room and board cost Chicago students as much as tuition. There are free municipal colleges all over the United States—in Detroit, Omaha, and Toledo, to name a few. There are four municipal colleges in New York City alone. Certainly, Chicago, the second largest city in the country, could support a four year college. Chicago students and parents have much to lose if this enabling bill is defeated.

THE UNHEARD POLES.

Beloit, Wis., Feb. 19.—Anent the controversy concerning Poland—the so-called Polish government in exile at London and the Lublin Polish government—it is inconceivable that any one could, can, or will back a government that was so scared of its hide that it skipped out.

The only real and the only recognizable government of Poland or of any other country should, naturally, be the government [or whatever is left of the original government] that stayed on and fought and died. It is immaterial whether Josef Stalin or F. D. R. recognizes one or the other. Those who stayed and took it—they are the only government that should be recognized.

PALS YET AWHILE.

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 22.—Ted Leitzell is wrong when he says the Dutch and British will stop flattering our "royal family" as soon as we get their colonies back for them and wind up lend-lease. They will keep it up until they have persuaded us to scrap our synthetic rubber factories. Then, and only then, when competition for their slave labor supported rubber trust has been wiped out, Leitzell's prediction will come true. In the meantime, they will treat us as equals.

THINGS WE COULD DO RIGHT NOW.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Rather than planning elaborate expansion of park systems and super highways at the present time, wouldn't it be better to concentrate just on cleaner streets and alleys, and superior lighting of streets? We have everything to make this the greatest city in the country and nothing is being done about it. Most of us have civic pride. Dweller Near an Alley.

DRINK IT AT HOME.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—In regard to midnight closing, defense workers who go straight home to drink are just as happy and just as efficient as those who stop off at taverns. Too many married people are picking up chance acquaintances at taverns and it will be noted that child abandonment, shootings, etc., are usually preceded by late hours at a tavern. Reader.

AWAITS WOUNDED HUSBAND.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—I have read with interest one of the proposals of the Big Three—to speed freed captives home. I think the plan is worthwhile, but I warn the families of prisoners not to build up their hopes. The government's idea of speed isn't the same as that of civilians, or of soldiers, either.

My husband was seriously wounded in October in Belgium, losing a foot and hand and suffering injury to an eye and second degree burns on the face. In his letters he said he'd be home for Christmas or soon after—and he's still overseas. The doctors claim the wounded boys recover faster if they are near their loved ones.

My husband was completely healed in December, so they can't claim casts or condition prohibit his traveling. The leaders evidently don't care whether our boys come home soon or not.

A NURSE NOT WANTED.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—As a graduate nurse who is anxious to do her part in this "critical shortage of nurses," I arranged my responsibilities at home so that I would be able to work a straight 8 hour day in one of the military hospitals in or near Chicago, and perhaps contribute toward making it possible to release some enlisted nurse for overseas duty. However, I was told by the Red Cross that they could not use nurses for day duty only, and that civilian nurses were not dependable.

If the need is great enough to call for the drafting of nurses, it seems that there would be some use for the many nurses who have homes in cities where there are military hospitals. I also might suggest that the Red Cross handle their voluntary groups only. I'm sure there would be more response from the professional group.

U.S. ASKS FREE TRADE CHARTER FOR AMERICAS

Urges Latins' Support of Private Enterprise.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 26.—The United States today presented to the inter-American conference a resolution entitled "The Economic Charter of America," which would dedicate the western hemisphere to the principles of private enterprise. Cartels, which have been favored by Great Britain, were condemned. State enterprises for the conduct of trade, the Russian system, also would be prohibited.

Other declarations of principles proposed for adoption by the conference were:

1. Equal access of all nations on equal terms to world trade raw materials.

Fair Treatment for Investors.

2. Lower trade barriers and stabilized currencies.

3. —Prevention of cartels or other arrangements which stifle competition.

4. Elimination of "economic nationalism."

5. Equitable treatment for enterprises, skills, and capital brought from one country to another.

6. Utilization of the international monetary fund, the international bank for reconstruction and development, and the food and agriculture organization of the allied nations.

7. Recognition of the rights of labor to collective bargaining.

At the same time, Ecuador prepared to introduce a resolution which would enable Argentina to adhere to all the acts of the conference in the event the Argentine problem remains unsolved when the session ends.

Wants Canada in League.

Earlier the conference tabled a proposal for the western hemisphere republics to sever relations with Spain. The steering committee unanimously sustained the argument of Mexican Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla that any effort to change the complexion of the pro-Nazi Franco government would violate the nonintervention policy of the Pan-American union and would be outside the jurisdiction of the conference.

Brazil introduced a resolution inviting Canada to join the western hemisphere league. Most South American countries favor Canadian membership on the basis of equal sovereignty, a qualification which might involve the dominion's status in the British empire. The United States view has not been announced.

A Colombian resolution favoring the concerted use of force by the western hemisphere republics if necessary to preserve boundaries appeared today to be doomed. The United States and other delegations were reported to favor postponing this question until the forthcoming San Francisco meeting of the allied nations decides how the new league of nations will exert force.

Sen. Austin [R., Vt.] of the senate foreign relations committee, who arrived here yesterday, today said the atmosphere at the conference was healthful for international peace. He said Sen. Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the committee, is en route to the conference.

CHICAGO LOSES FIGHT FOR PART OF SCHOOL AID

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 26.—Rep. Westbrook [R., Harrisburg], spokesman for school interests in the legislature, said tonight that Gov. Green had offered to increase state aid to schools by 9 million dollars when the biennial budget is introduced.

Indications were that the offer would be accepted by the Illinois education association and other groups which had conferred with the governor today in an effort to get the 10 million dollars originally requested in a bill ready for introduction by Westbrook and 50 other representatives. Westbrook said a new $400,000 item would be added to the 9 million dollars to give county superintendents of schools a salary increase and to permit them to hire full time assistants.

The Chicago school district gets approximately 21 per cent of the present state aid of 36 million dollars a biennium and will share in the increase, which will be divided between flat grants to all schools on a population basis and equalization grants designed to help the poorer districts of the state.

Chicago would have obtained about half of the final million if the school interests had been able to get the governor to raise his figure from 9 to 10 million dollars. That amount would have been used entirely for flat grants. Alfred Bolt, auditor for the Chicago board of education, who had sought the larger figure, attended the governor's conference.

Sen. Libonati [D., Chicago] today announced that he would introduce a bill tomorrow to pension veteran members of the general assembly.

THE QUESTION.

What is the most unusual will with which you have come in contact in connection with your practice of law?

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Thomas C. Donovan, 8955 S. Hoyne av.—The bulk of this prominent business man's estate was left to various charitable institutions. There also was a provision in the will requesting that the remains of the deceased be cremated and sprinkled from an airplane by his wife over a beautiful spot in Florida.

O. I. Lewis, route 1, box 1, St. Charles—A woman's first husband had a chattel mortgage on some household furniture and foreclosed. When this woman died she left her furniture to the daughter of her first husband's debtor because she felt so badly about his taking the furniture away from this girl's parents.

Charles E. Loy, Warrenville—A testator devoted more than two pages of a will to directions for his funeral and the way he wanted to be buried. It included the kind of flowers that should be planted upon his grave, how far apart they should be placed, and the kind of fertilizer to be used to make them grow.

Sam Markman, 516 W. Maple st., Hinsdale—A superintendent of schools raised his family in luxury. He made a will which was not to be opened until after his death. Every one considered him a wealthy man. In his will he left more than a million dollars to various institutions, but he didn't have a penny when he died.

John Sullivan, 192 Church rd., Winnetka—A wealthy woman left more than $150,000 for lilies to be placed on her husband's grave. The lilies were to be replaced every other day so they would be fresh and beautiful at all times. She also left a few small amounts of money to friends and relatives as mementos.

VIRKUS HOLDS UP BILL TO REALIGN CONGRESS SEATS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 26 [Special].—Rep. Virkus [R., La Grange] today said a congressional reapportionment bill is ready for introduction in the house of representatives but he will hold it up until he confers with Gov. Green. As a result the bill, to divide Illinois' 26 congressmen equally between Cook county and downstate, might not be introduced this week.

Virkus said the new alignments have been approved by the bulk of the downstate Republican congressmen.

Illinois hasn't been reapportioned since 1901 and downstate now has 15 congressional districts. If the Virkus bill should win Cook county would have three seats over its present 10.

Some downstate incumbents, under the Virkus plan would be thrown into new districts in the 1946 primary. They are Representatives Johnson and Chiperfield, in a new 21st district; Arends and McMillen [new 19th], and Vursell and Heidinger [new 26th]. Heidinger is ill and isn't expected to run again. The field would be wide open in a new district composed of Lake, McHenry, and Kane counties.

Rep. Church [Evanston], the only Republican congressman from Cook county, would lose his Lake county territory, and have a district covering all of Cook county north of Devon av.

Mayor Kelly has been a leading advocate of reapportionment, which was recommended by Gov. Green in his biennial message.

CALL MONTREAL MAYOR SYMBOL OF QUEBEC FIGHT

BY ROBERT CONWAY.

[Correspondent of The New York News and The Chicago Tribune.]

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 26.—Canada's arch-isolationist is Montreal's colorful mayor, Camillien Houde, a French-Canadian of pioneer stock, who has been reelected after being released from four years' confinement at hard labor in two Canadian internment camps.

Before I visited Houde, the Canadian government's chief propagandist described him as the most significant symbol of the growing French-Canadian rebellion against "English domination," either direct from London or by remote control from Toronto and Ottawa.

"Zombies" One Phase of Revolt.

The so-called Zombie issue—forcing conscripts of the home army to fight overseas—is only one phase of this revolt against British imperialism. Houde's original sin was opposition to national registration in 1940 on the ground that it would lead to breaking the government's promise not to draft men to fight on foreign soil.

Knowing that Houde had been interned as a precaution against his expressing potentially dangerous opinions on conscription, I asked him if he had changed his views so that he was now considered "safe" by those who had stripped him of freedom from 1940 until 1944.

"I never withdrew an iota of what I said or did," Houde replied.

The circumstances that led to this interview with Houde may throw light on the racial hysteria over the issue of British imperialism in Canada's forthcoming national election. Houde had read editorial attacks on this correspondent published in the Tory press of the "English city" of Toronto and the province of Ontario, in which I was roundly damned for truthfully reporting that a majority of Canada's party leaders stand for complete Canadian sovereignty.

Houde said it was for this reason that he decided to break his rule of silence followed since he was elected mayor in December.

Houde and the majority of French-Canadians feel that freedom of speech, even in war, is an issue in this campaign. Altho he failed to register in 1940, a violation which could have been punished, if he had been tried and found guilty, with a $200 fine and three months in jail, he never was charged with anything tangible, he insists, but was simply "interned for four years" on an executive order. That order was signed by a man who, in Houde's opinion at least, had been his political enemy for years—Minister of Justice Ernest La Pointe.

The rebellion that Houde personifies is apparent in all of the French-Canadian province of Quebec, and the riots early Sunday merely are another proof that feeling is running higher than at any time since blood was shed in the Quebec draft riots of 1917.

[Scores of persons were injured at Drummondville, Que., early Sunday when 500 to 1,500 persons charged 100 mounted policemen and constables who were checking the military status of men in public places. The mob failed to release 12 prisoners from the officers.]

Won't Be Pushed.

French-Canadians do not consider themselves unpatriotic—only 23,000 of the 62,000 Zombies are French-Canadians; the rest are of British and other stock—but they do not want to be coerced or "pushed around" on behalf of the British empire.

To return to Houde, his enemies are now trying to legislate him out of the $10,000 a year job as mayor of Canada's biggest city—having failed to beat him at the polls. While he was interned, they passed a law providing that candidates for office must be residents of Montreal for three years immediately prior to the election, and they now claim that his having been in internment camps outside the province automatically disqualifies him. Court action has been brought in the name of a truck driver in an attempt to enforce this ouster legislation.

CURFEW LOCKS UP BARS AT 12; RULES PUZZLING

taurant as one equipped to serve complete meals — not just sandwiches. He said he based his interpretation on a telephone call to Washington.

Bars Must Close, He Says.

In response to questions, he gave the following answers:

A restaurant which has a bar may remain open to serve meals in the restaurant, but must close the bar and stop all drinking. A customer at the bar may move from the bar to the restaurant for a cup of coffee or a soft drink or food.

Large clubs like the Chez Paree and the Latin Quarter may remain open to serve meals, but all liquor drinking and entertainment must stop at midnight, and no customer will be permitted to bring his own liquor to pour in "setups."

All dancing must cease at midnight, and all liquor must be off the tables by that hour.

Ban Applies to Taverns.

Places equipped to serve sandwiches only will not be regarded as equipped to serve complete meals and a tavern may not continue to remain open by installing such a food service.

Altho a restaurant, to qualify as such, must be equipped to serve complete meals, from appetizer to dessert, it may serve simple sandwiches or soft drinks to remaining guests.

The order does not affect liquor stores that sell liquor to be taken away in packages, but requires all liquor stores with bars to close their bars at midnight, and taverns may not remain open to sell packaged liquor.

Stubborn Guests an Excuse.

"Did you ever try to take a drink away from a soldier?" one asked Cohen.

Others anticipated difficulty in getting guests to leave, saying that in some cases it would take almost an hour to clear them out. Cohen said that if a sincere effort were made to close and that stubborn customers interfered, this would not be taken to constitute a willful violation.

The serving of four or five drinks before midnight to be drunk afterward will not be permitted, Cohen said.

Places which close at midnight under the order may not reopen until daylight, Cohen said. Before adjourning, the cafe owners, at the request of the WMC, adopted a resolution promising full compliance with the order, and praising the WMC for its cooperation.

Details Ready Today.

War Manpower Commission Director Spencer said details of enforcement procedure probably will be completed today. Local authorities, he said, will furnish information to the WMC on violators and willful violators will be deprived of their right to hire employes other than maintenance employes.

It has not been decided how willfulness shall be determined, he said, but earlier he had suggested that a major test in determining violations would be whether there was an attempt to evade the curfew thru a technicality.

He cited a hypothetical case of a bowling alley closing its doors at 12 o'clock and then reopening an hour later, ostensibly to begin the next day's business, as an example of willful evasion.

7 A. M. Ordinance Governs Bars.

"In my interpretation of the order," Spencer said, "the places closed at 12 p. m. shouldn't reopen until the morning hours."

Under city ordinance bars open at 7 a. m. weekdays and noon on Sunday. Poolrooms open at 8 a. m. every day.

As a penalty the order allows the WMC to place a "zero" employment ceiling on any establishment violating the curfew. Since the WMC cannot force employes to leave any establishment, a violator might keep his place open in spite of the zero ceiling. In such a case, the WMC then would have to go to some other federal agency, like the office of defense transportation, and ask that delivery of rationed items be stopped.

Gloom Among Aldermen.

Meanwhile, the city hall corridors were filled with disconsolate aldermen who were beginning to feel pressure from their constituents. They all agreed that this was one time that a city hall pull had little effect, but in general they took a gloomy view toward use of the local police in bringing about enforcement of the curfew.

Ald. Brandt [33d] said he would introduce a resolution at today's council meeting calling for a refund of portions of tavern license fees, particularly to those places holding the late hour license. The license costs $335 for a six month period. There are 574 places with such permits.

The midnight closing necessitated readjustment of some radio programs which heretofore have originated in night spots after midnight. In the east and midwest, bands which had been picked up locally are being replaced by pickups from mountain or Pacific time zones, which are one and two hours, respectively, behind Chicago time. Other stations planned record music only after midnight.

TIMES SQUARE SHUTS ITS DOORS ON STROKE OF 12

Club Men Air Woes and Patriotism.

New York, Feb. 27 [Tuesday]—[Special].—New York's $100,000,000 amusement industry beat its breast with patriotic fervor on nation-wide radio broadcasts just before midnight last night and dropped a tear for the passing of its 4 a. m. deadline as the midnight curfew went into effect. Compliance in the Times square area was reported as perfect.

Monday night, blue Monday in the late spots because it is customarily the lightest business night of the week, was bluer than usual in many of the bars and night clubs.

Rain, which kept down the size of parties, was as much to blame as the impending curfew as the hour hand crept nearer the top of the clock.

Slim Crowd at Stork Club.

The Stork club, scene of one of the network curfew broadcasts, had the usual slim Monday night crowd. Other night clubs, including the Versailles, El Morocco, and the Glass Hat, found business even slower than other Mondays.

The band at the Stork went from the last dance into a few bars of "Good Night, Ladies" at 11:45.

The band then played the national anthem and that was all.

Cologne, Iwo Come First.

Over the Mutual network he said: "Eisenhower and MacArthur, Cologne and Iwo must come first."

In another nation-wide broadcast, originating from the Diamond Horseshoe, Billy Rose, who had been sharply critical of War Mobilization Director Byrnes' curfew "request," pledged strict compliance by the amusement industry.

In most bars the bartender just pointed to the clock or said "This is it, folks," and the crowd went home.

Bowling alleys, restaurants, post-midnight movies, and all the host of other entertainment centers that came under the order likewise shuttered at the witching hour. There just seemed to be a general feeling of resignation.

Week of Reasonableness.

Police Commissioner Valentine ordered his men to take the names and addresses of all patrons caught in entertainment places defying the curfew and to issue a warning but not to make any arrests. The same method was to be used for any owners of establishments found violating the edict.

The procedure apparently was aligned with the directions of Mayor La Guardia and Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, regional head of the war man power commission, that "reasonableness" would prevail for one week in which amusement spots would be given time to make adjustments.

The general attitude was one of "wait and see what happens" but the showy Copacabana, one of the largest night clubs, didn't wait. It dismissed its 250 employes, who represent a pay roll of $22,000 a week, and closed its supper club for the duration.

AUTO KILLS TWO ABOUT TO BOARD A STREET CAR

Two persons were killed yesterday by an auto as they were boarding a street car at Stony Island av. and 87th st. The auto, driven by Jesse Owen, 49, of 8602 Euclid av., a postoffice clerk, struck and killed Miss Joan Stubb, 20, of 1519 E. 86th st. and James Crotty, 53, of 8723 Eggleston av.

The car carried Miss Stubb's body 60 ft. on the bumper, killing her instantly. Crotty died shortly afterward in South Chicago hospital. After hitting the two, Owen's car continued east on 87th st., hitting another car, and then rammed into a north bound Stony Island av. street car.

Owen was taken to the hospital, dazed and unable to speak coherently. He suffered possible injuries to his ribs.

Second Body Recovered from Ruins of Feb. 9 Fire

The second body of two victims who died Feb. 9 in a fire at the Vierling Steel works, 313 W. 23d st., was recovered yesterday. Police said it undoubtedly was that of John Bagajewski, 66, of 4750 Throop st., a watchman, who had been unaccounted for. The other victim was Mark Lightfoot, 60, Negro, of 6731 St. Lawrence av.

IS JO-JO CRAZY? HE ACCENTUATES POSITIVE IN GARB

BY JOSEPH HEARST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Poetry gave way to discussions of clothes and dogs today at the District court sanity hearing of Joseph [Jo-Jo] Stinson, attorney, poet, and artist, whose penchant for going about attired in a checkered riding habit figures heavily in the case.

Stinson, who is appealing from an order of the mental health commission committing him to hospital for the insane, usually is dressed in colorful checked breeches and coat, and brown leather puttees. Sometimes, the witnesses said, he varied his attire by wearing a morning coat with the checked breeches and donning dancing pumps.

Stinson's attorney, James J. Laughlin, seeking to convince the jury that such a taste in clothes does not indicate insanity, asked Police Lt. Beverley C. Beach today if he ever had seen newspaper pictures of Bing Crosby, the radio and movie star.

Awed by Bing's Shirts.

The witness said he had and admitted that he had been a little awed by some of Bing's sport shirts.

"Well, would you say Bing is insane because of the clothes he wears?" asked Laughlin.

"I don't know the man well enough to say," replied Beach, who previously had testified that he considered Stinson of unsound mind.

Miss Doris J. Crockett, secretary in the office of Lee R. Pennington, assistant chief of the investigating division of the federal bureau of investigation, said she got her first look at the Stinson riding habit when Stinson came to the office to ask the FBI to rescue a girl in New York City from a couple of Japs.

Bing More Restrained.

She said Stinson was wearing pumps and was accompanied by "the biggest dog I ever saw." The dog had a big red, white, and blue bow around its neck and it was thirsty, so she got it a drink. She said she had seen some of Crosby's pictures and didn't think his clothes were "as peculiar" as Stinson's.

Pennington testified that Stinson visited him twice. He told him the case of the girl and the Japs was a job for the New York police and not the FBI. Stinson wore a morning coat and pumps, he said, and talked for 30 or 40 minutes with his head thrown back and his eyes closed, impervious to efforts to interrupt him. He described Stinson as "very, very peculiar," but agreed that many peculiar people came to see the FBI.

Party Tonight to Open New Art Galleries

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Associated American Artists will open their new Chicago gallery tonight with a formal reception, altho, if as many friends come as have accepted, the galleries will be too crowded to admit of much if any formality. Some 1,500 invitations have been sent out and 1,900 acceptances have been received.

The new galleries are at 846 N. Michigan av. and are most attractive. The decorating of the rooms follows new lines, and the last word in lighting has been installed. The effort to give the Associated American Artists a warm welcome in Chicago is off to a superb start; the galleries themselves are their best advertisment.

The first impression one gets of the galleries is of a stunning front with two large windows, in each of which a painting is placed with startling effect. Inside is a small entrance alcove, beautifully lighted, with small pictures on the walls and a brilliant piece of sculpture challenging the visitor. The galleries proper spread out beyond, and, against a tranquil, deep green background, one finds a group of paintings by well-known American painters that introduces many a familiar name attached to a new work.

James Chapin offers a charming portrait of his little son, "Here I Am." Frederic Taubes, at one time visiting artist-in-residence heading the art school of the University of Illinois, shows "Half Figure." Thomas Hart Benton has a spirited "Cotton." Mr. Benton, by the way, is one of several painters of note who are in Chicago for the opening. John Steuart Curry, who may be here from Madison, shows "Leaping Figures," and Ernest Fiene offers "Field Bouquet."

There are many more pictures of interest in the opening exhibit, including several which have been hung in the Chicago Art Institute and others by Chicago painters. William Schwartz and Aaron Bohrod, for instance, are represented, which makes the affair something of a home town celebration.

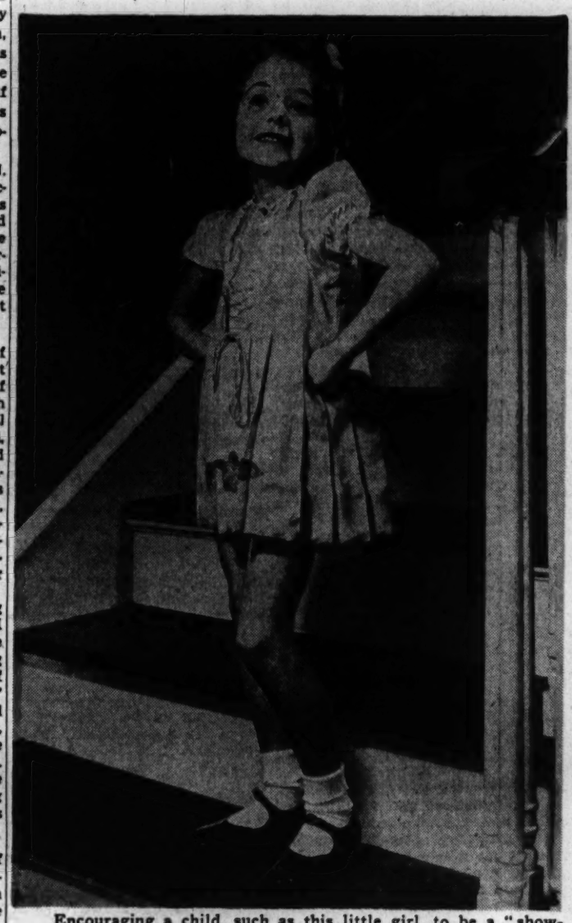
There are numerous pieces of sculpture of various schools, and downstairs are stunning galleries hung with the beautiful color reproductions for which the Associated American Artists are famous and with the prints for which they are equally famous.

The exhibition will be open tomorrow to the public and will remain on view for a month.

Let a Child Display Talent, but Never by 'Showing Off'

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The inadvisability of catapulting very little boys or girls into a movie or radio career was the subject of a recent column. Today I want to touch on another aspect of the exhibiting of a child—that of "showing off" children at home by their fond, proud, but unwise parents.



Encouraging a child, such as this little girl, to be a "show-off" is not good for the youngster. [TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Sometimes a little girl will pick up the rendition of a torch song, for instance, that she may have heard on the air, and her imitation will be so "cute" that she is asked to do it again and again for adult friends and relatives, who, of course, will burst into laughter and applause.

Or a little boy will develop a bag of tricks among which may be a burlesque of some grownup in disfavor with the family, a sort of "Bill Robinson" dance, or a long recitation which is a feat of memory, and be asked to "show off" on every possible occasion. This sort of thing is not good for a child, it makes him preen himself and acquire that particular kind of self-consciousness and that desire for the limelight which is especially unattractive in a small boy or girl, because naturalness is one of their chief charms.

On the other hand there's no reason why a child, and this means a child of any age, shouldn't occasionally do something he has learned to do well before one or several people, to give them pleasure, or simply because they are interested in him as a person. A child can and should experience pride in achievement and usually can show her work or perform in a perfectly natural and unself-conscious manner if she has been brought up that way, especially if she has learned to be at ease with grownups.

"Carol, I think Mrs. Bevans would enjoy hearing you sing some Christmas songs," said a friend one day when I was calling during the holidays. And Carol sang in a birdlike voice as her mother played. Later, the older boy without a trace of "show-off" let us look at some of his paintings.

Lotte Lehmann Sings, as Ever, Beautifully

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

The glorious art of song was restored to its highest estate last night when Lotte Lehmann, far too long away from us, returned for the first of three lieder recitals in Orchestra hall. The house was packed, the audience held fast in the spell of music. A kind of bewitchment was in the air, and you saw it reflected in listening faces — the young, bemused with delight that such things could be; the not so young, touched even in rapture by nostalgia for the great days of song implicit in her performance.

Yet Lehmann's lieder would have been rare in any age, because it is perfection. It would be easy to hurl superlatives at her head like great red roses, but tho they would look decorative, I doubt that they would do justice to her art. For here is sublimation of song, a consummation of all that it means, and I am a little baffled for words to talk about it. Out on a big stage walks a woman in a blue robe with a cowl, and you remember suddenly that she has the sweetest face you know. Then she begins to sing Schubert, and a door opens into a magic world, a world so simple, so tender, so gentle, that only the truly great can open it wide.

This was not so much a woman singing songs as songs taking possession of a woman. For all its unique beauty, Lehmann's voice never colors music, but rather absorbs color from music. It is the most joyous voice in the world, yet it can hold the essence of heartbreak, the gauntness of grief. It penetrates to the very soul of a song and you spin with her moods like a weathervane whirling in the wind of creation.

Schubert is a treasure house and Mme. Lehmann was generous last night, so high spots are not easy to choose. But who can forget that magnificent "Erlkönig," sung as only a great actress could sing it, or the eerie brilliance of "Der Doppelgänger," the depth of "Der Tod und das Mädchen," the captivating fragments of "Schlummerlied" and "An die Nachtigall," the inner ecstasy of "Ständchen," the glory of "Am Meer," the seeking radiance of "Die Post," the benediction of "An die Musik"? And who could touch her way with "Der Neugierige," which went straight to my heartstrings the way Pavlova's dancing once did, and Claire Dux's singing of "Morgen" with Frederick Stock? Whatever she sang, Paul Ulanowsky gave the devotion of ideal accompaniment.

She still has Brahms and Schumann to sing, but how about "Rosenkavalier"? Dawn may find me at her doorstep, with a silver rose on a satin pillow in token of our suit.

Journey Underground

(Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.) —o— By Flight Officer David G. Prosser

SYNOPSIS: The author, a Lake Forest boy, enlisted in the Canadian air force in 1941, at the age of 20, and won his wings as a navigator. Early in 1943 he transferred to the American air force in England. On his ninth combat mission the target was Romilly, France. Enemy fighter planes attacked the formation near Paris. Prosser's plane was hit and the crew had to bail out. He landed alone in a field, seriously injuring his right ankle. Peasants directed him along a road leading toward the Marne river. When he thought he could go no farther because of his painful foot, he met two men, Jacques, who had spent 17 months in a German prison camp, and Marceau, another former French soldier. They took Prosser to the near-by home of Marceau, whose mother, Mere Louise, bandaged the injured foot. Then they hid him in a cavity between a shed and a high garden wall.

INSTALMENT III.

Alone for the first time, I began to feel some safety, quiet, and calmness. In the garden there was no noise except for the distant sound of wood being chopped and the singing of the birds. I realized how alone I really was—my formation had left me behind, gone on to fight the day's battles and then returned to base.

"An FW 190 flew directly over . . . my hiding place."

I looked at my watch: 10 o'clock; in another two hours the boys would be back at base, and as I had done, they would eat a short meal, take a sleeping pill, and go to bed for the rest of the day.

My train of thought was soon interrupted by the roar of an aircraft engine; an FW 190 flew directly overhead. My hiding place had only one vulnerable spot—apprehension from the air, and this German fighter flying right over my little cavity was worrying, altho the possibility of being spotted was remote.

I resumed dreaming about my escape; about the reaction of my mother and father to the news that I was missing, and how terrible it would be for them. It seemed odd to think that some one would probably suppose I were dead, when actually I was very much alive. What luck I had had.

At 2 o'clock a young looking woman peered over the wall. Not knowing who she might be, I did not dare say a word. She started talking in French, but so quickly that I could not understand her.

Then Marceau's head popped up, too. "This is Renee, my wife," he said. I asked him if anything had happened. He assured me that no Germans had come to the house or searched the grounds and that there was little danger.

The fear of some one seeing smoke arise from an ostensibly nonexistent place prevented my smoking during the morning—it certainly was good to have a cigaret with Renee and Marceau. Renee did most of the talking at the same rapid pace as before. I attempted to follow, but soon gave up.

I asked them for some aspirin. Renee brought some tablets that were wide and flat, looking more like horse pills than aspirin. They were wrapped up in a piece of paper. When I opened the paper after Renee and Marceau had gone, I saw it was an old envelope. I did not want to know the names of these people who were protecting me, in case I ever was taken by the Gestapo and tortured, but almost absently I looked at the name on the envelope. Coming quickly to my senses, I put the paper back under my pillow and tried to forget the little bit of it I had seen, but as much as I wanted to I could not forget part of their name. The aspirin calmed me down, and I was asleep by nightfall when they returned to take me up to the attic.

"But it is much too dangerous to take me up to the attic," I protested.

Marceau said, "There is no danger. The Germans have not even come to the area to look for you parachutists.

"The police saw you falling and this afternoon sent a man around to the field into which you fell. He took your parachute and asked where you had gone. The people working in the field told him that you took the train to Paris, and he went back to the Gendarmerie. Now we will take you up to the attic where you will be safe, and should any danger arise we shall bring you down here again."

"A tub of hot water was brought up to the attic so that I could soak my foot in it."

My ankle was much more painful. I could not step on it. At first Jacques and Marceau tried to support me by letting me lean on their shoulders, but when this failed going thru very narrow hallways they pushed and pulled. My foot could not stand that, so finally Marceau carried me pick-a-back up the stairs.

After being put down on the bed—a bed with clean sheets, a mattress, and blankets—something I had not expected to find in a peasant's home, I began to feel more comfortable. This attic was the perfect theater setting for the hiding place of some one trying to evade the Gestapo. Great hewn wooden

South Shore Country Club's Revue Set for April 6 and 7

BY JUDITH CASS.

SOME of the best of the sketches in previous South Shore Country club follies will be brought up to date in this year's revue, "Nic-nacs of 1945," to be presented April 6 and 7 in the club. "Skull Orchard," a blackface skit, will be revived, and so will "The Bootleggers' Opera." Mrs. C. Frederick Herendeen, who took part in the original "opera," will be the cast again this year.

Mr. Herendeen and Joe Miller are authors of the book. "Give Joe Miller Top Billing," said Mr. Herendeen at a luncheon the other day when plans for the show were announced. Mr. Miller is a mythical character whom Mr. Herendeen brought into the picture in a vain effort to cloak the fact that he alone has written another follies—his 25th.

Mr. Herendeen took part in the first follies 33 years ago when he was still a student in the Morgan Park Military academy. Mrs. Paul M. Flagg, who has been on the production committee for 15 years, has set Friday as the date of the annual talent tea, with tryouts the following Friday. Rehearsals will start March 12.

Service Club Notes.

Yesterday was a big day for members of the Service club, who welcomed 35 new members and a new president at their annual luncheon in the Arts club. The new president is Mrs. E. Payson Smith. She will take the post relinquished by Mrs. Robert A. Cavenaugh, who has served for five terms.

Not all the new members were present, but those in the dining room were pleased to hear that Service club profits have climbed steadily from $10,000 when Mrs. Cavenaugh took office in 1940, to more than $17,000 last year and payments on an endowment sum of $30,000 promised to the Visiting Nurse association some years ago have been whittled down to $1,500. Of the 48 charities to which the club contributed in the last year, the army and navy relief societies received $1,600 each, and the others received amounts ranging from $50 to $250 each.

In addition, the club has decided to disburse $10,000 to assist the army and to aid children. This money will be used for morale building purposes in each case. Some of the army's allotted $3,000 will be used to decorate two lounges for the WACs in 11th st. The disposition of the remaining $7,000 to aid children has not been decided upon. Mrs. William Spurgeon is in charge of decorating the lounges.

Other officers elected yesterday are Miss Claire McCahey, Mrs. William Pope, Mrs. Lawrence Moore, Mrs. Richard Culver, Mrs. Spurgeon, Miss Virginia Elwood, and Mrs. Earl Wagner, who will be chairman of this year's benefit.

On the Calendar.

When Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw returns from New York tomorrow, she will find plans well under way for two interesting events on next week's calendar at the Arts club, of which she is president. Monday the club will entertain at tea from 4 to 6 p. m. to open two exhibitions of paintings and abstractions by Jackson Pollock and I. Rice-Pereira. Mrs. Henry Woods will arrange the tea table, and Mrs. Arthur G. Cable will be hostess for the afternoon.

Members of the club are looking forward to meeting Ted Shawn, one of America's foremost dancers, who will speak on "The Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival" before luncheon March 8, illustrating his talk with kodachromes of famous dancers.

The annual Easter benefit of the Evanston hospital auxiliary, set for April 2 in Patton hall at the hospital, will be a fashion show and a book review by Florence Bourke Ellis. In connection with the party there will be a sale of gifts from the shop recently opened by the auxiliary, under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth F. Burgess and Mrs. Carol Alton. Mrs. George I. Haight serves as general chairman of the benefit.

Here and There.

One of the newest occupants of the Presbyterian hospital nursery is Sylvia Lee Swift, second daughter of Lt. and Mrs. George H. Swift Jr., who was born there yesterday. The baby and her 2 year old sister, Byrd Goodrich, are grandchildren of the Calvin G. Littlefields and of Mr. and Mrs. Swift of Boston, Mass. Lt. Swift is stationed here in the army quartermaster depot.

The arrival in Chicago of Heitor Villa-Lobos, Brazilian composer, and his appearance at 8:30 o'clock tonight in Mandel hall of the University of Chicago, where he will conduct some of his music in the third of the composers' concerts,

Letter to the Boss.

Dear Boss: I haven't been writing many letters to you lately. I guess V-mail is about as much as this female can handle! But now something has come up which nearly drives Barbara, our efficient little receptionist, mad.

It's this, Boss: You wouldn't believe that men don't know how to terminate an interview but they don't! When you walk out of your office, affably, with a caller, what is our Barbara supposed to do? You stand directly beside her desk where ordinarily she is typing. If she stops typing it looks as tho she were "listening in" to your conversation. If she goes on with her typing, your client has to shout above the clatter—and leaves the building with a poor opinion of the manners of your office force.

After all, you're pretty swell, Boss, so probably I'll not have the courage to send this. I'll just keep on wishing [with Barbara] you'd get over all that "Drop in again sometime" . . . "Now, here's another thought" . . . "Say, how's Ned—forgot to ask about him" . . . "By the way, if you see Bronson, tell him on that other matter . . ." before the man with his hat in his hand leaves your door.

Why Artists Go East

BY DOROTHY JOHNSON.

Economic necessity has caused most midwest artists to migrate to New York, Thomas Hart Benton said here yesterday. "Artists born in the middle western states," he said, "have had to move east to sell their pictures and earn a living, because of the popular fallacy that 'homegrown' art is not as good as that available elsewhere."

It was for this reason, Mr. Benton explained, that he left his native Missouri, where he would have preferred to remain. "Altho regions of the United States should in some manner support their local artists, preferably by buying their paintings and drawings," he declared. "I am against any government subsidy of artists. They should have the assurance that they can paint or sketch in their own regions and live by their work."

Mr. Benton is one artist who has no objection to having printed reproductions of his paintings popularizing his art in the American home. "After all," he said, "art is not a culture form for the few connoisseurs. It is a part of ordinary life."

He especially deplores the fact that too much American art exists only in museums and in the homes of connoisseurs. "Art is a living thing and should not be segregated," he said. "It is a fallacy that art forms live only in a rarefied atmosphere."

Thru the Looking Glass

More about relaxing. You know you must learn to do it—and maybe you'd like to learn a few tricks.

The stretch is wonderful. Not just a lazy stretch, but a real cat stretch that you feel from your toes to the tips of your fingers. Stand with your feet close together. Inhale deeply, lifting your ribs, your shoulders and your arms in one sinuous movement. Feel the pull even in your finger tips. Then, on the exhale, relax.

This last is the hardest part. Flop right from the waist, with your arms and your head dangling like a rag doll's. Be particularly sure that your head falls down as tho it were a dead weight. Relaxing that tension at the back of your neck is most important, and there is a trick to it, especially if you're the muscled, jittery kind.

Eventually you should be able to do this stretching and relaxing rhythmically, easily, thinking all the time along the lines of contraction followed by complete relaxation. This is an excellent exercise to do half a dozen times on those nights when you're a bundle of nerves and know it—and you just know you won't sleep.

Another simple exercise is to sit well back on any handy chair and to free the tight muscles of the back of the neck by letting your head fall forward loosely, then rolling it in a complete circle. You must do this loosely, lazily, not jerkily. The more you concentrate on effortlessness the better you'll do the little exercise, which should actually be effortless. The neck tension will dissolve completely if you do this properly. And it won't take five minutes out of your busy, harassed day.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 26.—Susanna Foster, Louise Allbritton, and Rod Cameron will co-star in "Once Upon a Time," smart, sophisticated comedy with music which goes into production March 6 at Universal. Michael Fessler and Ernest Pagano are producing. . . . Francis Lederer will have the leading role of Johann Strauss in the musical production of "Mr. Strauss Goes to Boston," written by our own Leonard Levinson and Felix Brentano. Few people know that Strauss was the Frank Sinatra of his day, and a sensation with the "bobbysockers" of that period. Rehearsals start March 1. . . . Understand Alexis Smith and Warners are about to kiss and make up, and she'll probably go into the Cole Porter picture "Night and Day" opposite Cary Grant. . . . John Alvin, who was in "Roughly Speaking," gets the second male lead in "Shadow of a Woman," with Helmut Dantine, Andrea King, and William Prince. Joe Santley directs. . . . Fibber McGee and Mollie were responsible for getting so many men to join the merchant marine that the naval academy has placed the record of their broadcast in its permanent war archives.

Cover Girl, Eh?

Merle Oberon likes those jeweled creations Travis Banton designed for her to wear in "Night in Paradise" so much that she's buying one. But she's going to cut off the train and use it to cover the bare midriff. . . . Edith Head's designing Ingrid Bergman's costumes for "Bells of St. Mary's" in which Ingrid plays a nun. They will not represent any one order of the Catholic church, but rather will be a composite creation. . . . Louise La Planche, Rosemary's sister, who was at Paramount three years with time on her hands, will be featured in several fashion layouts in national magazines next month. Louise got her release from Paramount and is now talking deals with other studios.

His Dad and Me, Too.

When Mervyn Leroy told Bing Crosby he hoped Bing would win the Academy award, Bing replied that he didn't care for himself, but it would certainly please his dad. . . . Sheldon Leonard, who always plays meanies and has just finished the nastiest villain of his career in "Captain Kidd," gets his first sympathetic part in "Why Girls Leave Home" at P. R. C. and he's delighted. He hopes it will lead to more of the same. . . . Victoria Tenney writes: "Latin America never meant very much to me one way or another until I saw Arturo De Cordova in a recent movie, but now I find myself listening to tangos, rumbas, and such, even looking with interest at Mexican foods! If Arturo is a sample of Latin America, I am most definitely in favor of a bigger and better good neighbor policy." Get me my castanets, quick!

And About Time, Too.

Warners have some plans on the fire for Jack Carson, who showed in "Roughly Speaking" that he's much more than a comedian. The word has gone out that dramatic and romantic roles are to be lined up for him. And since Jack did some singing on the air when his vocalist was sick, he has singing numbers in "The Time, the Place and the Girl." . . . Alan Ladd and Sue Carroll are back from their tour of army camps thruout the Middle West. . . . Most excited prospective father in Hollywood is Joe Reichman. He met Ozzie Nelson on the boulevard the other day and after they'd talked a while, he said, "Ozzie, which way was I going when I met you—up or down the street?" "You were going down." "Good! Then I've had my breakfast."

An Ex-Marine Gives Opinions of High School

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Often high school life falls into the rut of a monotonous, day by day schedule, a parent planned way of filling in time from one coke date to another, just something to keep fellows and gals away from home so their mothers can get the housework done. Many high school characters think of school as just another way to mark time till they are old enough to start dating on a full-time schedule.

On the SOLID Side

But a marine raider, recently returned to high school from service in the Pacific with Col. Carlson, has something to say which may jar some students out of the lovin' and loafin' lethargy that sometimes passes for getting an education. After months of fighting the Japs in bitter, close hand warfare, this ex marine who served with Carlson's Raiders at 17, berated high schools for underestimating the abilities and talents of their students. He now believes, the young fighter told interviewers, that fellows and gals are much more intelligent and capable of shouldering responsibilities than adults frequently give them credit for.

He added that, in his opinions, four years of high school as it stands now are not really necessary. He and other marine Raiders packed the presumable equivalent of four years of learning into four months and enjoyed doing it. He feels that because they were able to learn superior warfare in such a short time that schools should be able to schedule more than history, English, and how to find the area of an isoceles triangle into the four years allowed.

With months of fighting behind him and plenty of time for thinking, this ex service man expressed surprise that high school fellows and girls don't take school much more seriously, packing as much as they can into their time and preparing themselves more thoroly, not only to earn a living after graduation, but also to make them more worthy citizens, something these fellows had to learn the hard way.

There are many teen-aged fellows in service, and it is these same boys who fought hard for such privileges as going to high school with whom we will have to compete and cooperate after the war. These fellows have learned to work hard and are used to tough opposition.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	1 heart	1 no trump	Pass
2 diamonds	2 hearts	2 no trump	Double
Pass	Pass	3 clubs	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Nine of hearts.

If ever I have seen a dual personality at the card table it is the South of today's hand. During the bidding he was Mr. Hyde and did nothing right. In the play, he was a sparkling Dr. Jekyll and could do no wrong.

The first indiscretion was committed in the selection of the opening bid. With hands of minimum strength and suits that are next door neighbors, the modern practice is to disregard the difference in length and open with the higher ranking suit, so that both may be shown at the least expense. This sacrifices precision to economy. One diamond therefore is the preferred opening. When North bid one no trump, South having no additional values should have taken no further action, much less should he have named a suit higher in rank than the one he started with. This would force partner to three clubs if he desired to return to the first suit, a situation for which he was not well prepared.

When the two no trump bid was doubled North elected to run to three clubs, tho the four card diamond holding would appear to be the more logical choice. East doubled because he believed the opposition to be floundering. The nine of hearts was opened and taken by the ace. The three of diamonds was returned and South did some rapid calculation. If East's lead was orthodox [fourth best] West has but one diamond. That it might be the king is not too remote, because holding that card East might not have been so quick to lead the suit when dummy is obviously not rich in entries. But the important consideration is that if East has the king of diamonds the entire suit cannot be picked up anyhow so declarer went up with the ace and great was the fall thereon. Since the contract was well on the way to be fulfilled declarer found it desirable to rid West of his one trump [surely East must have four for the double] and the ace of trumps followed immediately after the ace of diamonds. West had contracted the habit and dropped another singleton king, and declarer scored an over-trick. That's quite a haul for two successive tricks. If there is a fisherman in the audience who can tie this one we'd be glad to hear from him.

Chief Rabbi of Bagdad Will Speak at Dinner

Dr. Rahmin Sion, chief rabbi of Bagdad, will speak tomorrow night at a dinner given by the South Shore Temple brotherhood in the Sherry hotel, 1725 E. 53d st. His topic will be "The Jews of the Moslem and Hindu World."

"HER LUCKY NIGHT."

By Mae Tinée.

Most of the footage in this film is devoted to the Andrews sisters. They jump around like three animated cartoon figures and sing about five songs—most of them good numbers which are currently popular.

There also is a slight plot, involving a date-hungry girl, who, after consulting an astrologist, buys two tickets to a movie premiere and tosses one out the window in the hope that when she attends the performance she'll find some one tall, dark, and handsome in the adjoining seat. He turns out to be old and fat, but he does lead her to a man who's dark, short, and fresh from the country.

The humor is of the slapstick variety and only mildly amusing.

beams supported the gables of the room. They extended all the way to the ridge, and between them the plaster and slates of the outside roof could be seen. After 400 years this roofing had grown thin in places, and on bright days sunbeams made their way thru worn spots.

My bed was in the corner, and when sitting up suddenly I had to be careful not to hit my head on the gable. There was one garret window at the foot of my bed which jutted out thru the side of the roof, overlooking the courtyard. On the other side of the roof there was a skylight. Below it and along the far wall there was a large pile of miscellaneous objects which I was to explore later in the daylight, but which then were only just perceptible thru the flickering light of a little oil lamp standing on the table next to my bed.

The old woman, called Mere Louise by the others, came up with some thick soup. I was hungry and rather drowsy, and this delicious soup could not have been more ideal at that moment. It was followed by a large plate of potatoes which looks as if they had been sauted without any grease. La Mere Louise said, "I am sorry, they are not very good, but we just don't have any grease these days." I told her that I thought they were very good anyway, and she seemed pleased.

Then a tub of hot water was brought up to the attic so that I could soak my foot in it. The water was almost scalding hot, but very soothing. The ankle was badly swollen; the possibility of its being broken still worried me, altho I could move it a little when I was courageous enough to undergo the pain this test demanded. La Mere rubbed the foot with camphor, then rebound it and tucked it and me into bed.

La Mere Louise then took her place in the circle that had formed around my bed. Marceau, Jacques, and Marcel had already seated themselves on old chairs or boxes.

I asked them if there were many Germans in the area. Marcel said there were only a few anti-aircraft battery personnel, at three sites within a radius of three miles. They merely did their job and never bothered civilians.

"You must stay here until your ankle is completely healed," La Mere Louise said.

"I replied that I hoped I would be gone in three or four days, and that I did not want to stay any longer than was absolutely necessary because of the shortage of food.

Marceau said, "Don't worry about that. We don't have very good food, but we do have enough for you as long as you care to stay. We aren't farmers, and for that reason don't have large quantities of food, but we do have a little garden and raise quite a few vegetables in it. However, we always have enough bread; downstairs in our workshop we have a mill and can grind grain. Many of the farmers bring their grain to us, and in return for grinding it they give us all the flour we need."

Marceau then went on to tell me of his military career. He had been a colonel's chauffeur in the air force and liked the job very much. The work was not hard and he always managed to get many leaves and week-ends. He had been in France until the spring of 1940, but went to Africa just before the German invasion.

During the four months after the armistice very little occurred in his unit. Then slowly Vichy people infiltrated into the ranks and gained adherents among the soldiers. They were paid to be informers.

Soldiers who favored de Gaulle or criticized the Petain government were arrested as Communists and sent to concentration camps. In talking to some of his friends, Marceau had evidently said that he did not approve of Marshal Petain, and soon afterward he was arrested and accused of being a Communist. "Moi un communiste!" he burst out, "C'etait fou." [I, a Communist! It was foolish]. I never took part in any political party activity in my life. For six months I was kept behind barbed wire and machine guns."

His mother, La Mere Louise, interjected. "Yes, six long months without any word at all. That was hard to bear."

After six months he was released on probation, returned to France, and demobilized. Since then he had been working in the little workshop making furniture.

Jacques had been in France during the Nazi invasion, and was taken prisoner somewhere south of the Loire. He had been in Germany for a little over two years. The prison to which he had been sent was near Hanover, where he had been forced to work in a synthetic rubber plant. Life had been hard—the food was bad, barracks cold, and the time passed slowly and monotonously. The first year French prisoners were given certain liberties and were allowed into the town occasionally.

"This did us little good, however," Jacques said, "for there were few places to go. The cafes had only limited supplies of drink, and usually only bad beer. After Stalingrad, conditions became much worse, and then we hardly bothered to go to town."

This rubber plant where Jacques had worked was the first target I had bombed. Jacques was glad to hear this; when he was in Germany he had seen only a few allied planes.

Mrs. Marion C., Chicago—When a chocolate stain shows up on a rug I make a solution of hot water and borax and sponge the stain. It does the work.

Nora G., Peoria, Ill.—When picture hanging time comes at our house, I use small pliers to hold brads, tacks, and nails. They are good insurance against mashed fingers. And if you have trouble driving a nail into plaster, soak it in hot water and the task will be easier.

Court Lets Vivien Leigh Take British Stage Role

LONDON, Feb. 26 [Reuters].—British movie actress Vivien Leigh of "Gone with the Wind" fame was permitted today to appear in the play, "The Skin of Our Teeth," when Justice Romer refused Hollywood producer David O. Selznick an injunction to restrain her from acting in the play. Selznick's case was that under his 1939 agreement with her she consented not to appear in any stage play or movie. On the other side it was argued Selznick had no producing facilities in Britain and no damage could be done to him were she to appear.

Stage Note

Ruth Gordon took on her third leading man of "Over Twenty-One's" Studebaker engagement last night when Harvey Stephens was replaced by Philip Ober, who recently returned from an overseas tour in the comedy. Mr. Ober will play thru the Chicago engagement, ending March 10, and will go on to Buffalo and Rochester, after which Clinton Sundberg, who has been ill, returns to his part. Mr. Stephens, meanwhile, goes to New York, where he will replace Elliott Nugent in "The Voice of the Turtle" for two weeks starting March 8. Mr. Nugent takes time off to direct his play, "A Place of Our Own," for John Golden.

No meat? Let's have fish, then, a spaghetti and shrimp combination for a change. Fresh, canned, or frozen shrimps may be used in this recipe.

Spaghetti with Shrimps.
[Serves eight.]

1 large sweet onion, diced
1 cup diced celery
1 green pepper, diced
½ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
½ cup oil or other fat
¼ cup flour
Salt, pepper
3 cups canned tomatoes
1 pound fresh shrimps

Saute onion, celery, green pepper, and mushrooms in the fat for 5 minutes. Add flour and blend. Add tomatoes, and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer gently for 30 minutes, then add shrimps and heat thoroly. Serve hot.

If you've managed to snag some little pork sausages for dinner, try an accompaniment of Italian baked rice, made with a corn flake topping. There's cheese in the rice dish, so you probably could get along without the sausages [cheese is a rich protein food], but the flavor combination is excellent.

Italian Baked Rice.
[Serves six to eight.]

3 cups cooked rice
½ cup grated American cheese
¼ cup chopped pimiento
1½ cups tomato juice
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups corn flakes, crushed
1 tablespoon melted margarine

Combine ingredients and top with the crushed corn flakes mixed with the margarine. Bake for 30 minutes at 350 degrees. A larger amount of cheese may be used, if red points permit it.

One of the most delectable of meat replacers is a chicken liver omelet. The pleasant thing about omelets is that you can fill them with almost anything. Creamed peas or other vegetables will do if you can't get chicken livers. Creamed browned hamburger or creamed dried beef is good when available. An omelet with creole sauce is perfection!

Fluffy Omelet with Chicken Livers.
[Serves six.]

5 eggs
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 cup evaporated milk or top milk
2 tablespoons margarine or bacon fat
1 pound chicken livers
Flour, margarine for browning
1½ cups medium white sauce

Separate eggs. Beat yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat whites until foamy, add cream of tartar, and continue beating until stiff. Add flour, salt, and pepper to yolks and mix until smooth. Add milk. Fold mixture lightly but thoroly into whites. Heat margarine in large skillet or omelet pan. Pour in egg mixture. Cover and cook slowly over low heat until bottom is well browned, about 20 minutes. Uncover and dry out top in a 350 degree oven. Fold omelet with spatula and slide onto a hot platter. Place creamed chicken livers in the folded omelet and serve at once. To prepare livers, wash, dry, dip in flour, and brown in margarine. Do not overcook. Livers may be chopped if desired. Pour well seasoned white sauce over them and heat to bubbling point before serving.

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES!

Delicious Rhubarb Pudding.
[Serves six.]

4 cups rhubarb, cut in pieces
2 tablespoons orange juice
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon margarine
¾ cup melted shortening
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
½ cup rolled oats

Arrange rhubarb in shallow, greased pan. Sprinkle with orange juice, sugar, and cinnamon. Dot with margarine. Melt fat and brown sugar together. Sift flour, salt, and soda, and mix with oats. Blend with sugar mixture, crumbling well. Spread over rhubarb. Bake 40 minutes at 375 degrees. Serve warm or cold with top milk.

'Blossom Time' Doing Well on 25th Birthday

"BLOSSOM TIME."

Revival of operetta with book and lyrics by Dorothy Donnelly, from an original of A. M. Willner and H. Reichert, and music adapted by Sigmund Romberg from Franz Schubert and H. Berte. Staged by Victor Morley, with settings by Watson Barratt, and presented by the Messrs. Shubert at the Civic Opera house, Monday evening, Feb. 26, 1945.

THE CAST.

Franz Schubert ..... Earl Covert
Baron von Schober ..... William Marel
La Bellabruna ..... Ruth Gillette
Count Schanorr ..... Victor Morley
Mitzi Krans ..... Virginia Card
Fritzi Krans ..... Vivienne Beloin
Kitzi Krans ..... Evelyn Daw
Christian Krans ..... Edmund Dorsay
Mrs. Krans ..... Zella Russell
Novotny ..... Harry K. Morton

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Twenty-five years is not an advanced age for a human being, but it puts a musical comedy, or a dog, in the Methuselah class. It was therefore a bit risky for the management to greet the customers, as they walked in for "Blossom Time's" return engagement at the Civic Opera house last night, with a lobby bedecked in vernal apple blossoms. But perhaps there had been advance information that the hardy old perennial had been watered with aspirin, its foliage vacuumed and renovated, and its loose sprigs tucked back on the trellis with a firm directorial hand.

Yes, "Blossom Time" returns for its silver anniversary gleaming like a two-bit piece fresh from the mint. While the cast, with one exception, is the same which was on exhibition at the Blackstone last spring, the members are now both older and younger at their jobs. The difference is largely one of direction, and for this the printer, explainably confused with the proximity of such names as Schober, Schubert, and Shubert, gives credit to J. J. Schubert, no doubt meaning J. J. of the venerable Messrs. At any rate, the strings have been tightened, the encores limited, and the show's best foot, the melodies which Sigmund Romberg cribbed—for once with credit—from Franz Schubert, is always forward.

Earl Covert is, as he was before, a likable if not entirely a credible Schubert—for human frame cannot be much farther removed from Schubert's rotund 5 feet 1 than Covert's stalwart 6 feet 2 or 3. Not even the Procrustean process of putting thick spectacles and a marcel on the agreeable voiced baritone can make a believer out of a fact-minded historian, for Schubert must have acted as well as looked myopic. This is sheer hair splitting, however, for to all intents and purposes this Schubert is sympathetic and credibly the center of nostalgic romance.

The new member of the cast is Virginia Card, who plays Mitzi, and while she may be a queen of hearts, the facts do not justify yielding to the temptation to call her a card. Ruth Gillette bounces around as Bellabruna, but it is a restrained sort of bouncing in keeping with the tautened pattern of this production. William Marel, too, fits into the new scheme with a good deal of baronial elegance, and even the papa of Edmund Dorsay makes the arthritic humor of his part seem as if it had recently taken a sulphur springs cure.

Sophie Spring Showing Rich in Distinction

BY REA SEEGER.

A significant fashion collection of originals by a top flight American designer will go on parade this week in twice daily showings. It is the distinguished spring showing of Sophie creations, including unusual daytime costumes, beautifully fashioned costume suits, and the smoothest of tailored three-somes [matched coat and suit], dramatic new evening gowns, and dance dresses with the official width of floor length skirts. The spotlight will be on the flattering and becoming printed daytime dresses, each a gem of exquisite beauty in fabric, color contrast, and superb dressmaker details.

Lace, fine handwork, appliqued motifs, and drapery achieved with deft perfection mark these dresses as Sophie creations. They are flawless examples of perfect dressmaking, using rare silks, taffetas, and failles. The prints are distinctive in design and for the unusual colors, reminiscent of the pre-war French hand blocked prints. Silhouettes are indicative of what an ingenious designer can do without infringing war time orders affecting clothing.

Also distinctive are the many beautiful wool coats, some toppers to complete an ensemble, repeating color combinations and silhouette, altho the dress underneath may be of one material, the coat of another.

Suits by this designer have an enviable air of impeccable grooming. Whether they are of the finest American loomed woolens, or of gay and springlike prints, or of navy blue or black elegance achieved with moiré, faille, or sheers, they are the last word in impressive simplicity, yet all are equal to the demands of gala occasions, dressed up or down with new spring accessories. Individually designed hats and gloves to be worn with many of the costumes are one of a kind variety.

CIGARET MAKERS TARGET OF MANY FEDERAL PROBES

Reluctant to Talk About Current Shortage.

BY FRANK HUGHES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Durham, N. C., Feb. 26.—Two great cigaret factories in this historic tobacco city, one operated by the American Tobacco company and the other by Liggett & Myers Tobacco company, are rolling more cigarets than ever before, but still are falling behind the increased demands of the cigaret smoking American public and the increased government orders for soldiers and sailors.

Plant managers and company officials here are reluctant to talk about the cigaret shortage. One of them gave an indication why.

"Every government bureau in the country has been investigating and questioning us," he said. "The federal government holds more power over cigaret manufacturers than it does over most 'nonessential' industries, because the department of agriculture stipulates the precise amount of tobacco each manufacturer can buy out of every crop.

Many Other Controls.

"In addition there are the usual employment ceilings set by the war man power commission, materials procurement thru the war production board, and transportation and cartage regulated by the office of defense transportation. All of these could be invoked, as War Mobilization Director Byrnes has threatened to invoke them against recalcitrant night clubs that violate the midnight curfew."

Relations between the Durham cigaret factories and the WMC's United States employment office here seem to be cordial. Mrs. Ethel Lipscomb, manager of the Durham U. S. E. S., said today there is no shortage of labor in the cigaret factories.

"These factories are officially nonessential," Mrs. Lipscomb said, "but I feel that the manufacture of cigarets for our fighting men is essential, so we try to help them out all we can. I have heard that some soldiers would rather have cigarets than ammunition.

Labor Surplus Area.

"Durham is a group 3—or labor surplus—area and we have only two factories with priority ratings, a precision instruments plant and a cotton duck plant. The textile factories, except for the duck plant, are essential, but have no priorities.

"We have a large supply of Negro women workers, and in most departments of cigaret production, except where the cigarets are rolled, packed, and handled, they can be used. Women, white and Negro, have replaced men in all except the heaviest jobs. There is, of course, a large turnover, but we are able to supply new people for the vacancies."

Heavier Government Orders.

One of the factory officials, who asked that his name be withheld, said that labor was not a critical problem now, "because we still can hire." He explained the cigaret shortage as a combination of increased government purchases, a shortage of aged leaf tobacco, increased civilian consumption, and lastly, labor.

His factory is operating two shifts now, as against only one shift before the war. It operates on a five day week, however, with the employes working 48 hours. North Carolina state law prevents women from working more than 48 hours a week. Therefore, he explained, to operate an additional shift or to work on the two idle days each week would require many more female workers.

G. I. WIFE ALSO FACES GUN AND ROUTS A ROBBER

When a Negro pointed a revolver yesterday at Mrs. Bernice Levin, 30, of 4414 N. St. Louis av., in the Western-Fullerton currency exchange, 2341 N. Western av., she grabbed a phone, dialed the operator, and cried, "This is a currency exchange, I'm being held up." The gunman fled. Later Mrs. Levin, whose husband, Michael, is overseas with the army, told police that she risked gunfire because she was behind bullet proof glass in the cage. "I was not sure it's bullet proof, but I took a chance," she said.

POINTS ON TOP STEAKS, ROASTS TO DROP SUNDAY

OPA Acts to Move Meats Equally.

Better grade beefsteaks and top grade roasts will be reduced 2 points a pound next Sunday, and cheaper cuts will be increased 1 to 2 points in value, it was learned last night. The move has been ordered by Washington officials to help butchers move costlier cuts and to give a better distribution to meat supplies.

Many canned meats, comprising less than 5 per cent by weight of all meat sold at retail, will go back on rationing at the same time, it was learned. They will be given low point values.

The wide spread between low and high point values for beef, veal, and lamb, an OPA official said, has resulted in many butchers being unable to sell steaks and top roasts, while the demand for low point value cuts has been great. The new point values, they hope, will make it easier for butchers to sell out all cuts evenly.

No new increase in points for fats and cooking oils, doubled last weekend, is planned, and butter will remain at 24 points a pound.

Civilian supplies of meat in 1945 will be 15 per cent less than last year, the war food administration estimates. Supplies may drop even further if producers fail to send the expected number of meat animals to market. Supplies for March will be 7 per cent under those of a year ago.

Five new red stamps will be validated Sunday—E-2, F-2, G-2, H-2, and J-2—for meats and fats. They will be good for approximately four months.

The value of fuel oil coupons will remain unchanged at 10 gallons each, the OPA announced yesterday. The announcement said plans to cut their value in the east and Pacific northwest because of the tight supply situation had been changed.

Except in special cases, the OPA said, fuel oil rations will not be issued for industrial space heaters using 10,000 or more gallons a year installed or converted to oil after today.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST

The United States weather bureau forecast for today and tomorrow, and yesterday's table of records follow:

FEDERAL JUDGE CRITICIZES OPA IN RATION CASE

His remarks were made when Atty. Francis J. Kennedy asked Judge Igoe to suppress the evidence against Homer C. Clark, 31, of 421 S. Pulaski av., arrested Oct. 12 on a highway by OPA agents, who said they found 1,000 counterfeit C-4 gas coupons in his car.

Judge Igoe said he knew of such actions, but refused the motion, and set trial for today.

JEFFERSON DAY DINNER IN CITY MAY NET $30,000

A Jefferson day banquet expected to raise about $20,000 toward expenses of the 1946 elections will be staged in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel April 13 by Cook county Democrats. Mayor Kelly, as Democratic national committeeman for Illinois, will be chairman.

Tickets will be $25 each, unless the ante is raised, and at least 1,000 of the party stalwarts will buy the overpriced meal. With the Nov. 7 election having yielded some unforeseen victories, attendance at the affair may reach 1,500. This would boost the resultant purse to about $30,000.

Altho all of the proceeds will be sent east to national Democratic headquarters, party leaders here count upon large returns for congressional election battles in Illinois. The "solid south" with few real contests can not look forward to big campaign checks from national headquarters.

Principal speaker at the dinner—by radio—will be President Roosevelt. New Dealers in previous years chose Andrew Jackson as their patron saint for collection dinners, except for last year when Washington was substituted. Jefferson's name may improve the gate receipts.

ADMITS CASHING 10 BOGUS CHECKS.

William Hill, 30, of 5223 Greenwood av., a discharged service man, admitted to the police yesterday that he cashed 10 fraudulent checks totaling $100 in taverns in the last week-end. He was released from the Bridewell, Jan. 27, after serving six months for similar offenses.

Like an eager dog on a leash, the train waits at the station—impatient to start its long transcontinental run. The carman swings his lantern from side to side above his head. There's a swish of air as the engineer sees the signal to "set 'em up." That's railroad language meaning "test air brakes"... one of the many Union Pacific safety operations.

Over its "strategic middle route," uniting the East with the Pacific Coast, Union Pacific transports thousands of service men and women. Carloads of materials and supplies are shipped, east and west, to home-front markets and ocean ports. It's a tremendous job but despite the problems of manpower and maintenance it is being accomplished with remarkable efficiency.

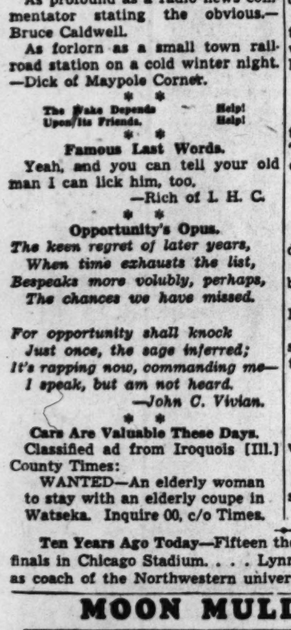
The Lights Burn Low.

Fellows, if you could see it now—
Your old Main street, I mean,
With the lights taboo to save on fuel,
Such gloom you have never seen.

Can you picture one feeble glimmering
On the marquee in front of the Grand?
And the same dreary state of affairs prevails
At the Orpheum, Avon, and Strand.



Can you picture the Main street shop windows
With nary the sign of a light?
If you can, well you know what a ghost town is like
On a windswept winter's night.

Fellows, if you could see Main street now
Since the bright lights no longer burn,
You'd know we are sort of in mourning

HAWKEYES CAN WIN CROWN IN ILLINOIS GAME

Play Big Nine Final Saturday.

Big Nine Standings

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26 [Special].—For the first time since 1926 Iowa will figure in the Big Nine basketball title picture this year. The Hawkeyes assured themselves of at least a tie for the crown tonight when they defeated Minnesota, 55 to 48.

Only Illinois stands between Iowa and its first undisputed conference title. The Hawkeyes face the erstwhile title contenders from Champaign Saturday in the season's final at Iowa City. Illinois is the only quintet to hold a conference decision over Iowa this year. Should the Illini duplicate their early season victory Saturday Iowa would tie with Ohio State for the crown.

Free Throws Make Difference.

Precision from the free throw line made the difference in tonight's battle before 5,000 in Minnesota's fieldhouse. The Hawkeyes hit 12 straight free throws, nine in the first half, and scored on 19 of 22 attempts. Minnesota was successful on only 12 to 22 tries.

The Gophers held a slight advantage thru most of the first half but Iowa, led by little Murray Wier, took a 25 to 21 intermission advantage. Wier scored all of his nine points in the first half.

Hermsen Sets Gopher Record.

Herb Wilkinson won scoring honors for the evening with 16. Close behind were his teammate, Ives, and Kleggie Hermsen, Gopher center, who made 14 each.

Hermsen's 14 points gave him the title of Minnesota's all-time conference scoring champion. He needed nine in the game to break the record and the 14 gave him a total of 140. He broke the Gophers' season scoring record, too, with 218 points.

COYNER, SPORTS OFFICIAL, WIFE KILLED IN CRASH

The smooth functioning organization that presents The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.'s annual Golden Gloves shows with clocklike precision was a man short last night as the Tournament of Champions got under way in the Chicago Stadium.

Chester Coyner.

Chester Coyner, popular announcer, and his wife, Eleanor were killed early yesterday morning when his automobile struck a railroad viaduct abutment in 76th st., between Parnell av. and Wallace st.

Coyner, who lived at 4742 Fulton st., was 39 years old and had been a member of the Golden Gloves organization for five years and for the last 10 years had been chief announcer for the Catholic Youth organization. He also announced at professional boxing shows and wrestling matches. He was a graduate of the University of Illinois, a member of the Chicago Sports Officials' organization, the state athletic commission, and the Boxing Officials' association.

Services will be held Friday morning in St. Thomas Aquinas church, Washington blvd. and Le Claire av. The body is at the chapel at 3246 W. Jackson blvd.

MINORS DEMAND RIGHT TO VOTE ON NEW CHIEF

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, known familiarly as the minors, yesterday called upon its big major league brothers for a part in naming a commissioner to succeed the late K. M. Landis.

This action was taken by a 10 man committee which opened a three day meeting in the Stevens hotel to revise the major-minor league agreement. The one now operative ends Jan. 11, 1946.

A second proposal was viewed as a cudgel to gain an invitation to sit in when the commissioner is named. It asked for "certain legislation for the protection of the minor leagues that would enable the national association to either reaffirm or cancel governing the relationship between major-minor leagues."

They Resent Past Treatment.

It is known the minors have felt they were snubbed by the majors' failure to give them a voice in selection of a commissioner.

"We just want the majors to know how we feel about the matter," said Tom Richardson, president of the Eastern league, and chairman of the committee which took yesterday's action.

The commissioner has certain jurisdiction over the minors. Failing in having a voice in his selection, the minors apparently want to obtain the right to tear up their agreement with the majors if the new baseball chieftain is not friendly to their interests.

Majors Must Approve Action.

Any amendments this committee writes into the new agreement will have to be mutually accepted by the majors when the two groups vote on the new pact next December.

In the resolution asking that they coöperate in picking a new baseball leader, the minors suggested that their group pay part of the expense of the commissioner's office.

At today's session it is expected that Clarence Rowland, president of the Pacific Coast league, will take the lead in asking further protection of the minor leagues in the expected post-war expansion period. The new agreement, which the majors and minors will sign next winter, will be operative for 10 years.

Coast League Unworried.

Under the present pact, the majors virtually are invited to come into minor league territory which has reached major league size because of the tremendous shifts in population, especially on the Pacific coast. The majors are required to pay $5,000 to the league affected and make suitable financial arrangements with the team which loses its franchise in favor of an invading big league club.

Rowland does not fear any encroachment on Pacific Coast league territory for he firmly believes his circuit will gain recognition as a third major in the not too distant future. Such cities as Milwaukee in the American Association, Baltimore in the International league, and New Orleans in the Southern Association would be fair game for $5,000-plus if the majors sought new territory.

Rowland also will ask that the amount paid for drafted players be

FISTS FLY IN BOXING'S BLUE RIBBON EVENT

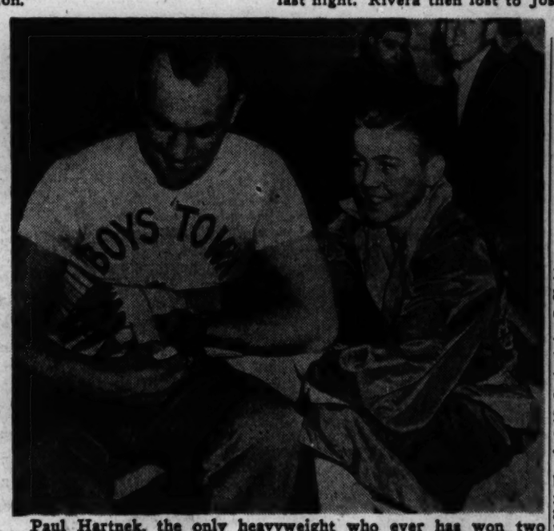
Antonio Rivera, hard hitting 118 pounder from Los Angeles, lands knockout punch which finishes the Tournament of Champions career of Roger Charf of Minneapolis in first round of their battle last night. Rivera then lost to Joseph Plummer of Chicago.



Paul Hartnek, the only heavyweight who ever has won two Tournament of Champions titles, bandages hands of Billy Book, 112 pounder from Omaha. Billy, who is from Boys' Town, where Hartnek is physical instructor, lost his first bout to Spider Thomas of Muncie, Ind.

Beau Jack Aids Chances of Kansas City Team for Title

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Golden Gloves in Chicago has scored so many firsts in its 18 year history that they're difficult to enumerate, but another went on the list last night as THE TRIBUNE'S annual Tournament of Champions got under way in the Stadium.

Beau Jack.

Pvt. Sidney Walker, better known in the boxing world as Beau Jack, the little Augusta [Ga.] bootblack who soared to the heights in just four years, made his first appearance in a Chicago ring—as one of the coaches of the Kansas City [Mo.] team.

It was Jack, you know, who in 1940 was sent to New York by a group of golfers from the Augusta National Golf club to start what proved to be a meteoric career. He was so good that Madison Square Garden officials just wouldn't let him go as he piled success upon success. Last year he gained recognition as the boxer of the year, the lad who did the most to keep the game alive as the standout figure in the tremendous boom that New York enjoyed.

Beat Some Stars.

His bouts included a 10 round victory over Lulu Costantino when that puncher was at the top of his form; a draw with Sammy Angott; a defeat by Bob Montgomery, recognized by the New York Boxing association as the lightweight champion, whom he later beat before a crowd of 15,822 which purchased $35,864,900 in Fifth War Loan bonds that night. All Jack and Montgomery got for their bout was expense money. Then he beat Al Davis, Juan Zurita, and Maxie Berger.

Now he's in the army, stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, near Rolla, Mo., and was given permission by his commanding officer to come to Chicago when one of the fort's boys made the team. Jack's charge, Pvt. John Harding, a heavyweight, will see action tonight.

He Should Help Team.

Kansas City has another strong team in the Tournament of Champions, and the addition of Jack as a coach has enhanced their chances for the team trophy award.

For instance, there is the featherweight member, Jack Darthard, the team's 112 pound champion last year and a finalist in the National A. A. U. tournament in Boston.

Another is Sgt. Matt Baranski, welterweight, who represents the Great Bend army air field and has been promised a furlough if he wins his way to the finals. He has a record of 24 victories and one loss.

KETCHELL'S KIN FROM PEORIA IS GLOVES THREAT

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Such outstanding sluggers as David Colquitt of Gary, Leroy Scales, Chicago; Asa Howlingwolf, Oklahoma City, and Corp. Tom Attra of Fort Worth are expected to dominate tonight's light heavyweight competition in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in Chicago Stadium. This claim is disputed by coaches of the Peoria Journal Transcript team, however.

That's because Sgt. George Seibert, Pittsburgh 175 pounder, is a member of the Peoria squad. Sgt. Seibert is a terrific puncher, like his uncle before him, a gent named Stanley Ketchell, who once held the world middleweight championship. George's father is in town to see him perform.

Altho he doesn't have to report to weigh in and be examined until 12 o'clock noon today, Sgt. Seibert appeared at yesterday's ceremonies with the lighter members of the Peoria delegation, which includes six members of the army air forces at Chanute field.

The Evansville Courier, which never has won a title in the giant Chicago show, may realize its ambition before the conclusion of the current meet if last night's showing by Angelo Soave, Evansville's lightweight standard bearer, is a criterion. Angelo, a private in an armored replacement unit at Fort Knox, Ky., advanced to tomorrow's quarter finals by hammering out a decision over Pvt. Anthony Carlucci of the Peoria Journal-Transcript and Chanute field.

Soave, 1943 Detroit Catholic Youth Organization featherweight champion, earned the trip to Chicago the hardest possible way. To compete in the Evansville meet he traveled 130 miles by bus to and from camp each evening during the tournament, a hardship of his own choosing.

Evansville's closest previous championship opportunities were in 1940 when Mack Ary lost out in the lightweight final and in 1936 when Paul Comps was beaten for the bantamweight title.

The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, founder and director of the Catholic Youth organization, reached the arena too late to see Joe Plummer, Chicago bantamweight color bearer, win his first fight of the evening from Tony Colato of New Orleans on a second round technical knockout.

Pvt. Antonio Rivera, bantamweight of the Los Angeles Times team, and Frank Rivera, his 118 pound namesake from the Kansas City Star, are not related but last night each displayed a pleasing, ag-

PLACE—Chicago Stadium, 1800 W. Madison st.

TIME—First bouts at 6:30 p. m. tonight.

CONTESTANTS—Champions from Chicago and 27 out of town centers drawn from 13 states; four heavier weight divisions fight tonight.

TICKETS—Reserved seats at $1.20, 85 cents, and 55 cents on sale today at Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st., from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. and in lobby of Tribune Tower from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Tickets also will be on sale at Gate 3 [Madison st.] of Chicago Stadium after 10 a. m.

BOXERS' INSTRUCTIONS—Contestants in the 147, 160, 175, and heavyweight classes report at noon today in the C. Y. O. gymnasium, Congress st. and Wabash av., for weighing and physical examinations.

PAIRINGS—By lot at 1 p. m.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago boxing connoisseurs of the knockout blow, regaled for nearly five hours by the deeds of the smaller fellows in last night's opening of the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions, tonight will have an opportunity to examine the K. O. technique in its most forceful phase in the Chicago Stadium, where the four heavier weight classes in boxing's biggest show will make their first appearance.

The crowd of 7,500 which roared as flyweights, bantamweights, featherweights, and lightweights dashed thru their crowded program with one of the sharpest boxing exhibitions in the 18 year history of the Tournament of Champions, tonight will have the opportunity of seeing the bombardiers of the big show level their guns at each other in the 147, 160, and 175 pound and heavyweight brackets.

Little Fellows But Big Thrills.

Golden Gloves annals prove fans who relish the explosive right hand in action will not be disappointed this evening, for the heftier weight group is ranked as one of the most dangerously armed detachments ever to set out on the quest of golden gloves.

From 6:30 o'clock until the final bout, the audience found no slack in the tempo of the first night's firing. The little fellows, brought from a vast territory reaching into California, Texas, Minnesota, and Louisiana, didn't give the witnesses a breathing spell. Just as they were concentrating on a speedy boxing duel in one of the two rings erected in the Stadium, they'd hear the referee's count in the opposite one, tolling over the fallen foe of a hard hitting youngster.

Plummer Wins Two Thrillers.

Joey Plummer, 17, Negro bantamweight who was the Catholic Youth organization's only delegate on the Chicago team this year, underwent the busiest exercise of the evening. The south side dentist's son, a graduate of last year's novice ranks, drew as his first opponent Tony Colato, a willing young man from New Orleans. Colato, showing no respect for Plummer's record of one lost decision in 24 bouts, proceeded to belabor Joseph to the point where the Chicago kid was reeling in the first round. Joe bounced out of that difficulty with a two fisted rally which not only had the fans howling for both boys, but also carried over to the second round, wherein Plummer finally induced the courageous Tony to retire via technical knockout decision.

This should have been enough duty for one night, but Plummer, who won a C. Y. O. scholarship to the Lewis Aeronautical institute, found himself with another task, and what a task it was. The fans who had figured they had seen the ultimate in toe-to-toe punching in Plummer's battle with Colato found that it was a mere warmup in comparison with Joseph's second round contest against Antonio Rivera. SUBURBAN FIVES COMPETE TODAY IN REGIONALS

Waukegan, Riverside and Morton Rated High.

BY DAVID CONDON.

Three Chicago suburban teams rated high in Illinois prep basketball circles will see action today as play opens in 60 regional tournaments thruout the state.

The teams are Waukegan and Morton of the Suburban league and Riverside-Brookfield, West Suburban league titleholder, which opened its bid for the title by winning in the Riverside district last week.

One Faces Elimination.

By the time the regionals are completed at least one of the trio will be eliminated as both Morton and Riverside compete in the York-Elmhurst district. Waukegan rules as favorite to win the Waukegan district.

Morton will oppose La Grange in the opening contest at Elmhurst, while Riverside is paired with Downers Grove in its first contest. Waukegan will meet Maine.

Morton and Waukegan tied for the Suburban league title last week as Waukegan routed the Morton five, 41 to 23. Morton has won 16 and lost five while Waukegan won 17 and lost five, including a one-sided defeat by the Rockford East quintet, ranked along with Champaign and Decatur as the state's big three.

Riverside Wins 20 Games.

Riverside, which lost three games by two point margins early in the season and has not been defeated since, has won 20 games.

Rockford East, a favorite to win in the Rockford district, where it meets St. Thomas of Rockford in the opening contest, has won 19 and lost two. Elgin's quintet, ranked seventh with a 13 and three record, is expected to encounter little opposition in the Elgin district.

City Play-Off Starts Tomorrow.

Meanwhile, prep basketball action also will be heavy in Chicago's City league, as the junior teams begin the City league play-offs. The senior teams in the City league will begin their play-off series tomorrow with the eventual winner traveling to Champaign for the state finals, in competition with winners in 15 sectional tourneys in the state.

Marshall's Commandos are in the role of favorites in the city junior division, while Senn, north section senior champions and winners in the University of Chicago tournament, are conceded the edge in senior play.

Any One Can Enter Tribune Casting Meet

BY BOB BECKER.

A special casting contest for fishermen only, another for men in uniform, and competition for women, boys, and girls and casters affiliated with clubs are among the features of the big casting contest which will be sponsored by THE TRIBUNE in the International Sportsmen's show opening March 10 in the Chicago Coliseum and continuing thru March 18.

Fishermen who want to have some fun, compete for prizes, and at the same time sharpen their shooting eyes in preparation for the coming angling season are invited to take part in the tournament which will be a daily feature of the show. An entry blank is printed on this page. It costs nothing to enter any of the events.

Fishermen First to Cast.

The competition for fishermen only will open this year's program. No contestants affiliated with local casting clubs may compete in this event which starts the evening of March 10, the first day of the show, and continues thru March 11 and 12.

The pool will be ready for practice casting at 7 p. m. each of these three evenings. Contestants will have 30 minutes to limber up their casting arms before the competition starts at 7:30 p. m. The casters who make the highest scores each night will be called back for the finals on March 17.

Butler Will Coach Entrants.

Any fisherman who likes to cast for bass, muskies, or other fresh water game fish will find this event a lot of fun. And if a contestant wants some tips on how to improve his marksmanship with a casting plug, Bill Butler, tournament manager, will be at the pool to coach him.

Regulation level winding reels and casting rods can be used. The line may be nine pound test or more. The idea is to use practically the same casting equipment which fishermen put to work when on a fishing trip. The plug cast at the targets weighs ⅝ oz.

In former years THE TRIBUNE awarded cups, rods, and other prizes to winners of casting event. This year war bonds and stamps go to the winners. Entries for the fisherman's event close March 5.

Rain Again Interrupts National Bird Dog Show

Grand Junction, Tenn., Feb. 26 [Special].—Rain today for the second time interrupted the program in the national bird dog championship. From a field of 23 starters, three pointers have dominated the show with excellent heats. They are Ariel, owned by A. G. C. Sage of New York; Tarheelias Lucky Strike from the kennels of Gerald Livington of New York and Norias Burke, property of Douglas Smith of Biloxi, Miss.

Antonio, who was accompanied to the Stadium by Capt. Elmer Wegner, his commanding officer at Burbank, Cal., stopped Roger Charf, Minneapolis, and Frank conquered Menzo Battles, Gary.

Among last night's contestants who had difficulty making weight were Richard Czerniak, Milwaukee Journal lightweight; Gene Brown, Omaha World Herald 135 pounder, and Ozzie Peques, Cleveland Plain Dealer bantamweight.

Head coach of the Milwaukee boxers is Fred Saddy, secretary of the Wisconsin Athletic commission and chairman of the championship ratings committee of the National Boxing association. Assistant coaches are Joe Azzarrella and Baby Joe Gans, former professional fighters.

The Golden Gloves Association of America will conduct a meeting in the Palmer House this afternoon, at which current and post-war problems will be discussed and election of officers will be held, Charles Nevada of the Milwaukee Journal, secretary of the organization, said last night.

Sgt. Milt Varsos, native of Milwaukee and stationed at the Harvard air base near Lincoln, Neb., is trainer of the Omaha contingent, personnel which includes Bill Book, rangy 17 year old blond flyweight from Boys' Town. Coach of the team is Paul Hartnek, former Chicagoland Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, who teaches civics and mathematics and supervises swimming and boxing at Boys' Town.

One of the smallest heavyweights to compete tonight will be Pete Blouir of the Gary Post Tribune. Pete, who is 5 feet 11½ inches tall and weighs only 180 pounds, believes in the adage that "the bigger they are the harder they fall." He recently conquered a 220 pounder, standing 6 feet 6 inches.

Glen Ray and Norment Nanne, bantamweight and lightweight representatives respectively, of the Grand Rapids Press, were given special permission by the Canadian government to compete in the Chicago event. Both are war workers at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

Del Blumenshine, one legged photographer, covered last night's show for the Cedar Rapids Gazette. Cedar Rapids' most promising prospect this evening will be Bob Rossie, welterweight of City High school in Iowa City. Bob's father was a professional fighter.

Boxers in the heavier weight classes from 26 out of town centers put the finishing touches to their training for tonight's fighting in C. Y. O. center gymnasium yesterday afternoon.

Maple Park and Shabbona Quintets Win

High school basketball teams in the De Kalb regional jumped the gun on other parts of the state by opening play in that meet last night after previous commitments made the De Kalb fieldhouse unavailable later in the week.

In last night's session, Maple Park edged out De Kalb, 42 to 40, and Shabbona beat Marengo, 53 to 41.

Maple Park led all the way against De Kalb, holding a 22 to 21 advantage at the half, and 31 to 29 at the end of three quarters. Jerry Hannan, De Kalb forward, led the scoring with 17 points.

Don Norton, Shabbona center, and Center Elmer Behnke each collected 20 points in the second game.

SULLY KNOWS WHEREOF HE SPEAKS

Sully Montgomery, former professional heavyweight boxer and coach of Fort Worth, Tex., team in Tournament of Champions, gives advice to Gilbert Areche, 112 pounds, and Hector Marques, 118, prior to their first bouts in the Stadium last night. Both listened carefully, then went into ring and won.

Heavier Boys Box Tonight in Golden Gloves

vera, the 118 pound standard bearer of the Los Angeles Times, who had moved swiftly thru his opening bout, gave Plummer more trouble than Colato. For three rounds the two 118 pounders stood up and gave blow for blow without interruption. Plummer reached tomorrow night's conclusion to the Tournament of Champions by winning the first two rounds and then standing off a blistering assault by the coast boxer.

Clevelander Beats Carter.

While Plummer was carrying Chicago into tomorrow's windup at which the March 9 final cast will be selected, two other local boys divided their routes to the big show. Wray Carter, the clever Savoy Athletic club featherweight who served two years in the army before receiving a medical discharge, won a decision from Fred Latson of St. Louis who previously had whipped him. Wray's triumph was so convincing that the customers could hardly wait for his second round argument with Young Bill Stevenson of Cleveland. The latter introduced himself by flooring Troy Luckett of Milwaukee in 95 seconds of their first round.

The Stevenson-Carter fight was a nip and tuck duel down to the final bell. Carter appeared to be in charge of the situation at all times, but the 17 year old Ohio prep school boy managed to score enough points to win the closest decision of the night.

Boyd Stops Milwaukee Foe.

Jackie Boyd, the leggy towhead from the Madison A. C., kept Chicago in the running by earning a snug point edge over Keith Hamilton of New Orleans. The west side kid who captured the Chicago flyweight crown last year then decided to get his job over in a hurry in his second appearance. He did so by flooring Claude Fair, Milwaukee Negro, for a technical knockout in the second round.

The service tenor of the Tournament of Champions was exemplified in the 135 pound battle between Pvt. Angelo Soave of Fort Knox, representing the Evansville [Ind.] Courier, and Pvt. Tony Carlucci of Chanute Field, Ill., who was the lightweight artist for the Peoria Journal-Transcript team. The two soldiers put on one of the most punishing fights of the night before Soave, the Detroit boy who commuted from battle maneuvers to Evansville to make the big trip, was given the decision.

Heavier Veterans Return.

The visiting sports editors who saw their boys eliminated last night adopted a wait and see attitude. They're now looking forward to this evening's heavier boxing and even the Chicagoans admitted they might have something there. The four weight divisions which will go into action tonight include a number of boys who have been here before, as well as several well recommended newcomers.

Outstanding of the veterans returning are Corp. Tom Attra of the Fort Worth Star Telegram team and Corp. Bill Zuke of the Omaha World Herald squad. Attra won the 175 pound championship in 1942 and Zuke distinguished himself as a Minneapolis heavyweight two years ago. Of the new arrivals, Lalo Berezzo, who is being bespoken as the best welterweight Cleveland has seen since Danny Farrar, is most prominent.

No Rest for the Winners!

The winners of the first two nights of battling in the Stadium rings will be given no time to rest on their laurels. They must return tomorrow night to the same arena to wrangle for the 32 places allotted for the championships finals in the Stadium on March 9.

Tickets for the Tournament of Champions will be on sale today at three locations—the Tribune Public Service Office, 1 S. Dearborn st., from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.; the lobby of Tribune Tower from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and at Gate 2 [Madison st. side] of the Stadium after 10 a. m. Prices for tonight are $1.20, 85 cents, and 55 cents, for tomorrow's windup of the Tournament of Champions, $1.80, $1.20, and 85 cents.

Brown to Box Parsons at Marigold Next Monday

Collins Brown, 1944 Chicagoland Golden Gloves middleweight champion, and Bill Parsons of Danville, Ill., have been matched to meet in an eight round bout in Marigold Gardens next Monday night.

IRISH HOSTS TO NORTHWESTERN FIVE TONIGHT

Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 26 [Special].—After a 10 day layoff because of semester examinations, the Notre Dame basketball team will return to action tomorrow night, meeting Northwestern in the Irish fieldhouse. This will be the second contest between the teams this season, the Irish winning, 56 to 37, in Chicago Stadium.

Northwestern will present a revamped lineup, necessitated by the transfers of many of its navy trainees. Coach Dutch Lonborg will rebuild his club around high scoring Max Morris, center, who has been leading the Big Nine thruout most of the season. Johnny Norton and Bud Pettit, forwards, will also probably be in the starting five, as they have seen much action during the winter.

THOMPSONS KEEP GAME LEAD IN NORTH END PLAY

Thompson's Restaurant and Keeley Beer teams each dropped two games in the North End Traveling Bowling league last night, but continue to hold their one-two positions with Thompson's a game in the lead. Thompson's dropped two to Edelweiss and Keeleys lost a pair to the Meister Brau team. Scores:

HAWKS LEAVE ON TWO GAME TRIP; HOME SUNDAY

Manager Paul Thompson and the Chicago Blackhawks parted company for the remainder of the season yesterday, the team departing on a two game road trip that sends them against the Maple Leafs in Toronto tonight and against the Rangers in New York Thursday, while the manager will concentrate on attempting to collect some talent for next season.

With only eight games remaining on the Hawks' schedule, Thompson started on his scouting tour early with a fairly definite idea that it will take something akin to a miracle to boost the cellar dwellers of the National Hockey league into the Stanley cup play-offs. Thompson's first assistant, Johnny Gottselig, will be in charge of the team for the remainder of the season. After their games tonight and Thursday the Hawks will return to Chicago to meet the champion Canadiens Sunday night.

Thompson Plans Extensive Trip.

Thompson's trip will take him to Calgary, Edmonton, Canmore, Vancouver, and Nanaimo, where he will see some of the Canadian Junior play-downs and the Canadian Senior Service finals. He will also view some of the games of the newly formed Pacific Coast league in Seattle, Portland, and San Francisco.

The main item of importance among the individual point makers last week was the creating of a new scoring mark for the season, hung up by Maurice Richard, the Canadiens' sensational right wing.

Lach Leads Scoring.

	Goals.	Assists.	Points.
Lach, Montreal	21	46	67
Richard, Montreal	45	21	66

Minors Want to Help Name Commissioner

doubled. This would increase the draft price for a class AA player [American Association, Pacific Coast, and International leagues] from $7,500 to $15,000.

MAJORS DELAY ACTION

The on-again-off-again meeting of four major league representatives to discuss candidates and prospects to succeed the late K. M. Landis as baseball commissioner, apparently is off. It had been announced for today in St. Louis, but it was learned yesterday that the two National leaguers on the committee, P. K. Wrigley, president of the Chicago Cubs, and Sam Breadon, president of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, will not attend.

At the American league offices it was indicated that its two committeemen, Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Indians and Don Barnes, president of the St. Louis Browns, had been prepared to meet with the National league delegates.

Do Individual Scouting.

Wrigley called Will Harridge, president of the American league, yesterday and said that it had been his understanding that each member of the committee was to do his own "bird dog work," as he expressed it, then meet and compare notes.

"I haven't had time to get any information" Wrigley explained. "I also was of the opinion that each of the four was to exchange opinions with each of the others, possibly by mail, thus setting the ground work for a meeting. I see no reason for going to St. Louis now when a three-cent stamp will do the work."

DAWSON DEFEATS JERRY PITTRO IN MARIGOLD BOUT

Freddy Dawson, south side lightweight, scored an eight round decision over Jerry Pittro of the west side last night in Marigold Gardens before a crowd of 1,148.

Sammy Saunders of Memphis, Tenn., defeated Jimmy Hunt of Chicago in the five round semi-windup. In other bouts, Charles Wells stopped Chuck Swango in the third; William Johnson stopped Luther Brent in the first and Bobby Lynn won a four round decision over Jimmy Bishop.

Injuries Cost Eyesight of St. Louis Hockey Player

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 26 (AP).—The St. Louis Flyers office announced tonight that John Kukkula, a defense man, has lost the sight in his right eye as a result of an injury in Pittsburgh two weeks ago. Kukkula was struck in the eye by the blade of a hockey stick.

Billy Evans: 'Pete Gray Is a Big Leaguer'

Pete Gray.

Billy Evans, president of the Southern association and former American league umpire, who is in Chicago as a member of the minor leagues committee making revisions on the major-minor code, yesterday spent most of his time answering questions concerning Pete Gray. Pete is the one-armed outfielder purchased by the St. Louis Browns from Memphis.

Evans, now one of Gray's top boosters, admitted he first was startled at the thought of a one-armed outfielder playing in his league.

"When I heard Memphis had signed Pete for the 1943 season," said Billy, "I called Doc Prothro and told him the man power situation was pretty serious, but hardly such as to call for his signing a crippled fellow.

"Prothro told me his scouts had reported that Gray was a better ball player than any of his outfielders and that he'd like to give Pete a trial. 'You look him over, too,' Doc told me, 'and I'll let you be the judge of whether I should keep him.'

"Well, I saw Gray for the first time in Atlanta and was sold on him from the start. Last season I watched this amazing youngster play in 55 games and I got as much of a thrill looking at him the last time as the first."

Has Magician's Dexterity.

Gray, who lost his right arm at the elbow in a childhood accident, handles a baseball with the dexterity of a magician and Evans invited him to give an exhibition of his skill at the league's All-Star game in 1943.

"I'm a ball player, Mr. Evans, not an exhibitionist," he answered. Last year a Pacific Coast league club offered Gray $1,500 to appear in two games and he declined for the same reason. He doesn't want to capitalize on his misfortune and asks that he be regarded as just a ball player.

Gray, says Evans, chops slightly downward with a normal 35 ounce bat held in his left hand. At the finish of the swing he has powerful wrist action. He hits line drives thru and over the infield and, when a pitch is close, hits a long ball.

Is Daring Base Runner.

Evans declares Pete has better control of the bat than most players who have the benefit of two hands. Occasionally he beats out bunts and is a daring base runner, having stolen 68 bases in 1944.

"I never tire of watching him in the field," said Evans. "He didn't drop a single fly ball last year. He made five or six errors, all on ground balls. I think he has a chance to stay with the Browns."

Team Match Is Next Pin Attraction

The next important attraction on the bowling docket and one that has plenty of spectator appeal will be the five man event to determine the team match game championship of Chicago scheduled for the Auditorium service men's center alleys March 10 and 11. It will bring together 24 of the strongest quintets in the Chicago area.

The details of the meet were threshed out at a special meeting at Louis P. Petersen's office attended by 14 team captains and the committee in charge of bowling events at the center. They all accepted the new attraction as a fitting substitute for the Victory five man tournament originally scheduled for these dates and which had to be canceled because of government travel limitations.

Those already entered are Monarch Beers, Meister Brau [Classic], Du Bouchett Liquors, Corey Steel, Washington Shirts, Thompson's Restaurants, Meister Brau [N. E.], Congress Arcade, Prima Beers, Brad Foote Gears, and Keeley Half and Half [Classic].

Teams wishing to compete can obtain full information by contacting Louis P. Petersen, 624 S. Michigan av.

PREDICT RECORD PEACE PROFITS AND DIVIDENDS

Record peace time sales, profits, and dividends for American business after reconversion is completed were predicted yesterday by Standard & Poor's corporation, investment advisory organization.

Victory will be bullish, it said. The business decline expected to accompany reconversion will be halted and turned around by a number of recovery forces that will operate automatically. These include consumer buying to fill deferred wants, purchases by states and municipalities, accumulation of "peace inventories" by industrial corporations, expansion of plants for civilian production, new enterprises, farm prosperity, revived building activity, heavy exports, and the exploitation of new products.

Industry at 1941 Level.

Combined, these factors will go a long way toward taking up the slack created by the prospective wide drop in government spending, it said.

Industrial activity should approximate the 1941 level, or some 65 per cent above the 1935-'39 average. Dollar sales will be larger and will reflect price increases since 1941.

Competition is expected to be stiff. Many corporations intend to enter the consumers' goods field for the first time. Many heretofore small companies have expanded their productive capacities and have ample financial resources to expand markets.

New Profit Peaks Expected.

Neither extraordinarily wide nor abnormally narrow operating margins will exist in Standard & Poor's opinion. The major determinant of net profits will be federal income taxes, it said. If a 40 per cent rate is arrived at it would compare with a 1941 average of approximately 51 per cent for large corporations. On that basis new record profits are a reasonable expectation.

RULE INDUSTRY MAY BE RUINED TO GUARD WAGE

High Court Upholds Pay Bureau Edict.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—The Supreme court today, in a 7 to 2 ruling, expanded the authority of the wage and hour administration to permit virtual abolition of a large section of an industry, if necessary, to enforce minimum wage standards.

This conception of the effect of the court's majority opinion, rendered by Justice Rutledge, was advanced in a vigorous dissenting opinion by Chief Justice Stone and Justice Roberts. Justices Black, Reed, Frankfurter, Douglas, Murphy, and Jackson concurred with Rutledge.

Bureau Edict Upheld.

The decision, latest in a long series enlarging the powers of executive agencies, upheld a prohibition of industrial homework by Administrator L. M. Walling as a necessary means of making effective a minimum wage order for the embroideries industry.

Justice Rutledge asserted the prohibition would not eliminate the large majority of homeworkers from the industry, "but on the contrary will result only in transfer of the scene of their work from the home to the factory and will do this without undue hardship."

"If the prohibition cannot be made," he declared, "the [wage] floor for the entire industry falls and the right of the homeworkers and the employers to be free from the prohibition destroys the right of the much larger number of factory workers to receive the minimum wage."

Not in Law, Says Roberts.

Justice Roberts, however, asserted the court was attempting to read into the law what its words, fairly construed, did not import. He added:

"The philosophy of the court's opinion can be nothing less than that the administrator may, if he finds it necessary, rewrite the statute. Suppose he finds that, in a given industry, it is, as he puts it, impossible to enforce the minimum wage provision. May he thereupon issue an order prohibiting the further prosecution of that industry and requiring all those who pursue it to follow some other calling?

"Forty per cent of the workers in an industry, under pain of otherwise losing their occupation, are compelled to give up what they have done time out of mind, and if they desire to pursue their calling to do so under completely changed economic conditions, not in their homes but in factories."

Prohibition Rejected.

Roberts noted that congress, before sending the wage-hour act to the President, "consciously and deliberately rejected" a clause permitting the prohibition of industrial homework.

The court held a former stockholder of a national bank is liable for bank debts claimed long after the institution voluntarily liquidated. Justice Roberts delivered the court's unanimous opinion.

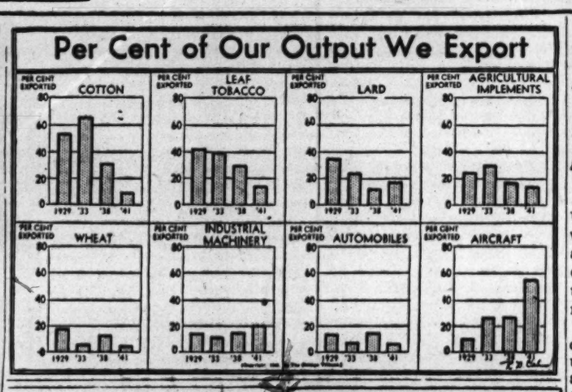
M. C. Garber told the Supreme court that in good faith he had sold his stock in the American National bank of Enid, Okla., on Nov. 14, 1929. The bank ceased business 15 days later. In 1931 a claim was made against the bank by Ralph Crews and others. In 1937 they won a $249,000 judgment.

Law Since Changed.

Federal law, since changed, at that time held liable for assessment—to make good bank losses—stockholders who sold their shares within 60 days before the date of "the failure of any national banking association to meet its obligations." Garber contended there was no failure on the part of the bank to meet its obligations within 60 days from the day he sold his shares.

"We think that where a bank closes its doors and ceases to transact business the right of creditors or of a receiver to enforce stockholders' liability matures at the time of such closing whether as a result of voluntary action at the time of such closing or of adverse action by the controler of the currency, or of the appointment of a receiver, if at that time the bank was insolvent, as American undoubtedly was if the respondents' claim was taken into reckoning," Roberts said.

The Supreme court refused to review protests by Safeway Stores, Inc., operator of retail food stores in 23 states, that several regulations issued by the price administrator were "imposed" only on large chain store organizations.



Pay Raise Use for Inequities Remains Alive

Whether a wage increase allowed by the war labor board may be used by an employer to eliminate inequalities in pay was argued yesterday before the regional WLB and disposed of temporarily in a manner favorable to the principle of wage adjustment.

The matter came before the board thru an appearance of the Hurley Machine company, which has a highly critical rating with the war department, to show cause why it had not signed a contract with the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, which won election as bargaining agent. Asserting the union "had established a record of irresponsibility," Atty. Thomas R. Mulroy said its officers had misrepresented the wage award to its members.

Mulroy cited a WLB clarifying statement holding that the 8½ cents an hour granted Hurley employes was applicable in the case of piece workers to minimum basic pay rates. He said many of these "incentive" employes already exceeded the minimum by so much that the raise would not increase their "take home" pay.

Some Larger Raises Sought.

"The company is willing to put the raise into effect," he said. "But we are hopeful that it may be distributed among the classes of workers to end inequalities. We believe some are entitled to increases up to 25 cents an hour, and under the terms of the award we could give those raises without taking anything from high paid piece workers."

Union officers proclaimed the wage award as a victory for all employes, said Mulroy, and then learned that because the board directed the 8½ cents was to be applied to minimums, those whose extra earnings exceeded the amount of the raise would have no real benefit. Discontent arose, he said, and yesterday morning resulted in a brief work stoppage by some 20 women working at piece rates on automatic machines.

Irving Krane, business agent for the CIO local, whose national chief organizer is Ernest De Maio, Communist, accused the company of causing the walkout by inspiring rumors. He said he ordered the women back to work.

Warns of Dispute on Pledge.

"I made it clear there must be no striking," he said. "But I want you to know that this case is being watched closely by our national membership. There has been dispute among labor leaders recently as to whether the anti-strike pledge should not be rescinded."

Under direction of Dr. John D. Larkin and Philip Marshall, vice chairmen, the board referred the case to Sam Edes, director of disputes, to try to negotiate a settlement. The company's adjusted pay proposal was left a live issue. Edes said the parley would be held Friday morning.

The board postponed ruling on Mulroy's request to reopen the wage hearing so he might offer proof of the union's irresponsibility and on the contract signing until after Edes' meeting.

Supplies Special Fuels, Lubricants for Jet Planes

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Texas company today said it is supplying special fuels and lubricants for jet propelled fighter aircraft. The fuel was described as "somewhere between kerosene and gasoline in nature," and the lubricants as able to withstand temperatures from 80 or 90 degrees below zero to 250 degrees above.

BOOST IN GOLD VALUE URGED BY REP. ENGLE AS WORLD-WIDE BOON

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—A bill to increase the valuation of United States gold stocks from $36 to $56 an ounce was introduced today by Rep. Engle (D., Cal.).

"Already the foreign gold markets reflect prices as high as $58 an ounce," he told the house. "When the price was raised to $35 we merely met foreign prices. It is time to do so again.

"Such a revaluation will greatly add to the purchasing power of other countries and aid them materially to buy our much needed goods immediately following the cessation of hostilities. It will help balance the national debt and will have other beneficial results."

Engle said he opposed a federal reserve board proposal to lower the gold reserve requirement against federal reserve notes from 40 to 25 per cent, asserting his bill "will increase the dollar value of our gold in precisely the same proportion and permit issuance of the same amount of currency as would be possible by reducing the reserve requirement."

MONEY SCHEMES HELD ESSENTIAL TO FREE TRADE

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 26 (AP).—Congressional approval of the Bretton Woods program would be a step toward setting the "wheels of world trade moving fast and freely," Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said today.

He told the Detroit Economic club the program would "free world trade" and make way for American exports of at least 10 billion dollars a year needed for full post-war production and employment. He asserted that the argument of persons opposing the program "boils down to the criticism that it might not work."

The Bretton Woods program, which provides for a fund to stabilize currencies and an international bank to help finance reconstruction and development, will not "do the job alone," Morgenthau said, but without it "you may never get a chance to do the job at all."

Utility Asks SEC Approval of Power Firm Stock Sale

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 26 (AP).—Engineers Public Service company today asked securities and exchange commission approval of its proposed sale of its interests in Savannah Electric and Power company for $3,387,500 to the Donner Estate, Inc., Philadelphia. The commission in 1942 ordered Engineers to divest itself of Savannah. Engineers is asking that the sale be considered a step in simplifying its holding company system.

Show Aluminum Box Cars in Chicago Station Today

Three aluminum box cars, designed by the Reynolds Metal company and built by the Mt. Vernon Car Manufacturing company, will be shown to the public for the first time today in the La Salle st. station. They are the first of 30 being built for the Rock Island, Alton, and Minneapolis and St. Louis railroads.

Utilities, Oils Top Investing Firm Holdings

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Public utility and oil stocks were more widely held by investing companies at the end of 1944 than securities of any other industry, a study by the National Association of Investment Companies disclosed today.

The 30 largest broadly diversified companies held 122 million dollars of utility common and preferred stocks and 94 million in oil producing and refining common stocks, the association said. The average was 7.8 per cent of total assets in utility common, 4.4 per cent in preferred, and 7.4 per cent in oil stocks.

Cash, U. S. Bonds About Same.

Other large investments were in retail merchandising, building and household equipment, chemicals, railroad bonds, automobile and equipment, and metals. Cash and government bonds holdings aggregated about 8.7 per cent of assets, little changed from three months earlier.

North American company, Montgomery Ward, and Standard Oil [N. J.] continued to be the most widely held individual issues, altho selling predominated in both North American and Standard in the final quarter of 1944.

No Definite Pattern Shown.

Analysis of the 30 portfolios disclosed no particular pattern of purchases or sales in the three months. Six funds bought Standard Brands, American Tobacco B, and Missouri Pacific bonds, but at least one sale took place in each instance. Socony Vacuum and Pan-American Airways were sold by six companies. Four sold Celanese, Santa Fe, Loew's, and Commercial Investment Trust.

The association cautioned that dealings in the final three months of 1944 did not necessarily indicate current company opinions.

CHICAGO MEETS NEGRO HOUSING PROBLEM: FARR

Chicago's Negro housing problem gradually is being met by realtors and others thru a slowly expanding construction program, Newton C. Farr, president of the Chicago Civic federation, yesterday told the City club at a luncheon in the La Salle hotel. It will not be solved, however, merely by elimination of restrictive covenants, which Negro organizations have advocated, he asserted.

"It is the duty of realtors to build in the Negro areas and they are doing all they possibly can under present conditions in those districts," he said.

Farr defended restrictive covenants [clauses in deeds of sale which prevent certain racial groups from living in certain areas], declaring that thousands of Chicagoans would have been evicted from their homes except for such restrictions. He said they have done much to preserve communities, and that persons living in a community should determine what kind of restrictions they wish.

R. C. A. PROFITS RISE SLIGHTLY; SALES AT PEAK

Butler Earns Less; Volume Down.

Radio Corporation of America in 1944 had slightly higher net earnings and achieved new production records in radio-electronic equipment, Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, president, said yesterday in his annual report to stockholders.

David Sarnoff.

Gross income swelled to $326,421,913 from $294,535,362 in 1943. Sarnoff said war products delivered to the United States and its allies by the R. C. A. Victor division last year exceeded the previous peak, in 1943, by about 16 per cent.

Research was concentrated on radio and electronics, including new electron tubes, radar, and other devices important to the military branches, he said. More than 100 research projects for the government were completed, placing new radio-electronic weapons in use.

Earns 1 Cent More a Share.

Net profit was $10,263,291, or 51 cents a share, compared with 1943 profit of $10,192,452, or 50 cents a share. The federal tax bill amounted to $29,947,900, a rise of 14.6 per cent.

Sarnoff said R. C. A. endorsed the federal communications commission's proposal to assign to television 12 channels below 300 megacycles for commercial operation and a large band of higher frequencies for experimental work and future services.

Butler Brothers earnings before federal income tax provisions and special charges were $5,346,618 last year, an increase of $100,079 over 1943, Thomas B. Freeman, president, said in his annual report.

Tax Rise Trims Profit.

After provisions of $3,480,000 for federal income taxes and $300,000 for contingencies net profit was $1,566,618, or $1.01 a share, compared with $1,646,539, or $1.08 a share, after similar 1943 provisions of $3,100,000 and $200,000.

Consolidated net sales totaled $116,454,720, a decline of 3.77 per cent. However, sales of Scott-Burr Stores corporation, retail subsidiary, rose to a new peak of $17,478,291 from $15,810,616 in 1943.

Merchandise inventories shrank to $16,140,000 from $19,832,000 during the year. The reduction was the result of diminishing civilian goods supplies and continuation of Butler's conservative purchasing of substandard war time goods on which large markdowns are likely soon after the end of the European war, said Freeman.

Amendment of Revenue Law to Speed Tax Refunds Asked

The government should amend corporate revenue laws to expedite payment to industry of refunds on excess profits taxes and tax overpayments which result from accelerated amortization and loss carrybacks, the Guaranty Trust Company of New York said yesterday in its monthly survey.

The bank said that industry will not be able to furnish jobs immediately after the war with cash to be received "years later from tax refunds and post-war bonds."

Tax Credit Discussed.

The bank said corporations paying the excess profits levy receive a post-war credit equal to 10 per cent of the amount paid. Altho part of the credit may be taken at the time tax returns are filed, the larger portion is evidenced by noninterest bearing bonds maturing in two to five years.

"It is evident that, as the law now stands, manufacturers whose war contracts are canceled at the end of fighting in Europe cannot rely on obtaining benefits from such bonds during the subsequent year or two in which they will face their reconversion problem," the bank said. "These post-war credits should be made immediately available, either as an offset to the payment of current taxes, or as a negotiable obligation of the government, of fixed amount and with a definite maturity date."

Refunds May Come Too Late.

The bank appraised the provisions of the law which permit acceleration of the 60 month amortization of war production facilities constructed under certificates of necessity when the facilities lose their emergency value before the end of 60 months. It said the tax refunds which might accrue under such conditions may "come too late to afford the relief that is intended" because while waiting for such payments, taxpayers may be forced out of business by lack of operating funds.

FIELD TO OFFER NEW STOCK FOR 6 PER CENT ISSUE

As the result of the authorization yesterday by stockholders of 300,000 shares of new cumulative preferred stock, Marshall Field & Co. will issue 150,000 new shares bearing a lower dividend rate and will make an exchange proposal, probably on March 14, to holders of 6 per cent preferred stock, said Hughston M. McBain, president.

He explained that the action will reduce annual preferred dividend requirements $262,500 on the basis of an expected rate of 4¼ per cent on the new shares.

The plan will strengthen the company's capital structure and reduce its fixed charges, McBain said, and on its completion about 20 million dollars of funded debt and 15 million of preferred stock will be outstanding, compared with 32 million and 30 million, respectively, in 1930, a reduction of about 27 million.

SUBURBAN RAIL FARE INCREASE REVIEW DENIED

The United States Supreme court yesterday refused to review an Illinois Supreme court decision approving increases in intrastate suburban commutation fares sought by railroads serving the Chicago area, clearing the way for a hike in these rates soon by the roads affected.

As interpreted by railroad spokesmen in Chicago, the decision authorizes the Rock Island, Burlington, Milwaukee, and North Shore to charge approximately 10 per cent more for commutation tickets, and permits the Illinois Central and North Western to continue increases put into effect in recent years. The North Western, however, was not a party to the court action.

VIRGINIA TO BUY AM. DISTILLING SURPLUS STOCKS OF WHISKY

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 26 (AP).—Sale of at least 250,000 cases of surplus whisky for more than 5 million dollars by the American Distilling company to the State of Virginia, largest stockholder in the company, for sale under its liquor rationing system was approved in United States District court today by Judge J. Leroy Adair.

Agreement for the sale was reached in New York City last Saturday, subject to court approval, by Theodore C. Baer of Peoria, as trustee of the company's plan for distributing the liquor at cost to its stockholders. Baer said the transaction was believed to be one of the largest individual transactions in the sale of whisky to a state in the history of the industry.

REALTY BOARD TO HOLD FOURTH PUBLIC AUCTION

The fourth of a fall and winter season of public auctions sponsored by the Chicago Real Estate board will be held in the board's main dining room, 105 W. Madison st., at 2:30 p. m. today. A 40 acre industrial tract of land at the southeast corner of Paxton av. and 124th st., near Lake Calumet, and a residential and store property at 5601-03 S. Ashland av. will be offered for sale. The industrial property is to be sold to the highest bidder without reservation, it was announced. The other parcel will be sold subject to approval of the Probate court. Raymond E. Gross, a realtor and licensed auctioneer, will have charge of the auction.

STOCK MARKET OFF; SELECTIVE ISSUES RESIST

Await Clews to U.S. Speculation Tax.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Selected stocks displayed resistance to selling in today's market altho the averages, for the fourth successive session, declined moderately.

The downward drift was resumed after a mixed opening but offerings were light. Support developed in the final quarter hour and losses of more than a point were reduced or converted into modest advances. Many customers awaited further technical correction of the lengthy upswing and more definite clews as to what Washington intends to do to curb a boom market. Idle investment funds, seeking dividend income, supported selected issues.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite was off 0.1 point at 61.3. Of 942 issues appearing, 467 were down, 246 up, and 229 unchanged. Transfers were 1,260,000 shares compared with 1,320,000 Friday.

BONDS MIXED TO LOWER.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—The bond market slipped lower today under moderate selling in secondary rails. Investment corporates resisted, altho gains were small. A sizable group of medium priced carrier bonds gave up fractions to a point against scattered favorites that were well supported. Prices of industrial and utility issues were mixed. United States government obligations were firm.

CHICAGO LIST LOWER.

Prices were lower yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange, with turnover at 40,000 shares. Among the volume leaders were Peabody Coal, up ⅛; Commonwealth Edison, unchanged; and Chicago corporation, Admiral, and Middle West, each down ⅛. Three new highs for 1944-'45 were reached.

THIS STUDY is perhaps the most important analysis of the future of investments in our time.

If you own stocks, or plan to be active in the market during 1945 . . . if you wish to place your funds in stocks that offer the brightest opportunities for income and price appreciation . . . do not fail to read this important study, which discusses the outlook for all important industries and recommends 86 stocks outstandingly attractive.

As far back as the early stages of the war, we began our study of the national postwar economy.

We have made thousands of field studies—interviewed leading corporation executives—studied legislative trends and the march of bureaucracy.

This study represents our considered opinion. It forecasts the upward or downward trend of industries. It selects 86 companies and stocks that are most likely to prosper . . . and to lead in the biggest peacetime boom this country has ever seen.

86 STOCKS
OUTSTANDINGLY ATTRACTIVE

The 86 stocks in this list are in industries which should maintain their fine income after the war. On the basis of prospective earnings and dividends, many of these stocks are definitely undervalued and, in the long term, should climb to substantially higher levels.

This study comes close to being the complete investor's guide to the postwar world. Certainly, nothing like it is elsewhere available.

NEW FIRM BUYS BIG FACTORY FOR PAPER PRODUCTS

Sale of the Marlin-Rockwell corporation's former roller bearing plant at 4535 W. Palmer st. yesterday disclosed plans for the establishment of a new manufacturing concern involving more than a million dollar investment in land, building, new construction, and machinery.

Straus & Co. negotiated the sale of the one story plant, with 91,000 square feet of floor space, occupying part of a seven acre site, to an undisclosed buyer for $275,000. A new corporation has been formed by three men, now identified with three separate manufacturing concerns, for making paper and cardboard.

The new owner is having plans drawn for a $250,000 one story addition which will double the floor space of the present plant. Machinery costing $500,000 will be installed.

The plant has been occupied by Mills Industries, Inc., under lease for the last 10 years.

LIVE STOCK RUN AT 3½ YEAR LOW ON NEW HOG DIP

The aggregate supply of meat animals at the nation's 20 biggest stock yards yesterday was the smallest for any Monday since August, 1940. In addition to further tapering off in the recent cattle selling wave, hog receipts slumped far below even their recent low levels.

The hog run at the 20 markets yesterday was 30 per cent below a week earlier, 72 per cent less than a year ago, and 54 per cent below two years ago. Pressure against ceiling prices increased again as demand and supply worked farther apart. Only a small part of the orders were filled, altho buyers paid ceiling prices for nearly all hogs they bought.

Demand also increased for other meat animals, and strong to higher prices were paid for most offerings.

GRAIN FUTURES LOWER, LED BY MAY RYE SALES

Good war news, weakness in the securities market, and a let-up in aggressive buying of May wheat futures by mills contributed to lower prices of grain futures yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Scattered liquidation developed in rye, and the May delivery dipped 2 cents a bushel to a new low on the current movement before the decline was checked.

Closing trades on rye were at losses of ⅜ to 1 cent, May leading. Wheat finished ⅛ to ⅜ lower, corn ¼ to ½ lower, oats unchanged to ⅜ lower, and barley off ⅝ to ½.
